No blanket pardon for all defendants, says Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford said today he will review individual requests for clemency from Watergate defendants, but is not considering the possibility of blanket pardon which his aides announced just 24 hours earlier.

Ford's statement was read to reporters by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott following a one hour, 45 minute meeting between the President and congressional leaders.

It directly contradicted a highly controversial announcement by Deputy Press Secretary Jack W. Hushen Tuesday that Ford had the idea of a mass pardon "under study."

There is "no study going on," Scott said, apparently paraphrasing the President's own words.

Ford's brief statement said Hushen's announcement was prompted by questions about a plea for clemency from the wife of John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel who was jailed last week for his part in the Watergate coverup.

The President did not dispute Hushen's claim that he had been authorized to announce the possibility of a blanket pardon. But the statement said that any study of clemency will be made only on individual requests from Watergate defendants.

"However," Ford added, "no inference should be drawn as to the outcome of such studies in any case. Nor is my pardon of the former president under the unique circumstances stated by me in granting it, related to any other case which is or may be under study."

Scott said no actual requests for clemency have reached Ford's desk. But when they come, he said, "they will not be thrown in the wastebasket; they will be considered."

Hushen's statement compounded the public outrage which followed Ford's decision Sunday to pardon former President Nixon from all crimes he may have committed in office. Scott conceded that his mail was critical of the Nixon pardon, but he quipped: "Even justice is sometimes unjust."

Scott was accompanied by GOP leader John J. Rhodes when he briefed reporters after their meeting with Ford.

Ford, in his formal statement today, said that a study will be made "for any request concerning pardon of an individual."

"However," he added, "no inference should be drawn as to the outcome of such study in any case. Nor is my pardon of the former President under unique circumstances stated by me in granting it, related to any other case that is or may be under study.

"The announcement yesterday by Mr. Hushen concerning study of the entire matter of presidential clemency and pardons was prompted by inquiries to the White House press office concerning Mrs. John Dean's reported statement in reference to pardoning of her husband and similar public statements in behalf of others."

69 die in DC9 crash; 13 survivors

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — An Eastern Air Lines DC-9 jet skimming through fog patches and heading for a landing at Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport crashed and burned today, killing 69 of the 82 persons aboard.

Most of the 13 survivors suffered burns.

The flight was Eastern 212, which originated at Charleston, S.C., and was bound for Chicago's O'Hare Airport, via Charlotte.

"We have received 13 victims from the crash and we have been notified that this is the total number of survivors," Harold Green, administrator at Charlotte Memorial Hospital, told UPI.

The crash occurred at 7:33 a.m. EDT in an open field 2½ miles south of the airport.

A Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) spokesman, Jack Barker, said that moments before the crash the flight had just been "handed off," or turned over to the local tower controller by radar control.

"Nothing in any conversations with the local controller or the radar controller indicated any trouble," Barker said.

The flight was on a radar approach to the airport because of patches of ground fog, but Barker said the sky was only partially obscured and visibility was officially listed at 1½ — with a cloud layer at 4,000 feet, and broken clouds at 12,000.

"Weather was not a problem," Barker said. "I'm not going to say it was not a factor, because I don't know.

Several other flights had landed on Runway 36 shortly before the mishap, Barker said.

All the crewmen were from Atlanta. They were identified as Capt. J. E. Reeves, 48, the pilot, James Miller Daniels Jr., 36, the copilot, and stewardesses Judy Watson, 26, and Eugenia Kerth, 24.

Witnesses said most of those who survived were thrown free from the plane into a clump of trees.

The plane cut a 200-yard wide swath as it came down, exploding in flames and sending debris and bodies flying in all directions.

Calvin Kenley, 20, who lives just 600 yards from the crash site, said he saw one of the survivors "just walking around in the field in a daze. He looked like he had run through a fire. Skin was just hanging all over him. It made me sick."

Jim Stanley, 19, who was driving near the airport, said he raced to the scene after hearing the low approach of the jet, then an explosion.

"I saw a girl lying beside the fuselage screaming. There wasn't anything we could do for her. I got sick watching that girl," he said.

Stanley said "one of the stewardesses didn't seem to be hurt at all. She was trying to comfort the copilot, who had injuries to both legs. He was screaming for a guy named Jim. I think that was the pilot."

Stanley said the stewardess asked him to search for more survivors, "but all I saw was bodies. It was bad."

A reporter said bodies were stacked outside what once was the main fuselage of the plane. "They looked like charred pieces of wood," he said.

A temporary morgue was set up near the crash site to sort out the victims.

Rescue efforts were hampered by traffic jams as police cars and ambulances attempted to thread their way through the morning traffic.

The mishap was the second worst airliner crash in North Carolina history. A crash near Hendersonville in 1967 killed 82 persons, and in 1960 34 persons died when an airliner was ripped apart by a bomb over Wilmington.

Ford promises labor:

Funds for jobless areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stating "we certainly can't be complacent about any American lacking work," President Ford today announced that communities hard hit by unemployment will be granted federal funds to finance 85,000 public service jobs.

"I recognize the concern of many that unemployment might rise because of the policies we must follow to fight inflation," he said. "The present situation calls for full use of available tools and dollars.

"We will not permit the burden of necessary economic restraint to fall on those members of society least able to bear the cost."

Ford's announcement came as he opened the second in a series of 12 conferences on various sectors of the economy leading up to the "inflation summit" Sept. 27-28 in Washington. Today's session was with organized labor and participants included AFL-CIO President George Meany and 27 other union leaders.

Ford said that he had instructed the Labor Department to accelerate the obligation of currently available funds under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

"The secretary of labor will disperse $65 million to those communities in which unemployment is highest," he said. "By the end of the month he will make available another $350 million under the CETA title two. This $415 million will finance some 85,000 public sector jobs in state and local governments."

terHorst's successor to follow his candor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The man who is temporarily filling the job of resigned White House press secretary J.F. terHorst says he will follow his predecessor's policy of candor.

But acting secretary John W. Hushen also said Tuesday he has a different view than terHorst about the role of the President's chief spokesman.

Ocean air mass brings cooler temps, but fog

An air mass from the ocean brought a shift to cooler temperatures and dense fog to some areas of the valley this morning.

The cooling trend will remain for the next few days with the possibility of more fog and drizzles Thursday morning, according to the National Weather Service.

The heavy fog caused problems at Ontario International Airport, where visibility at times was down to one-quarter mile and operations closed down at 3:48 a.m. No planes were diverted to other airports, but planes ready to take off and land waited until periods during the morning when the heavy fog lifted.

An airport spokesman said this holding procedure was used until 9 a.m., when the fog condition cleared.

Forecaster Wilbur Shigihara said afternoon temperatures will drop by about five degrees through Friday, but should start warming up again by Saturday.

He said the cooling air mass brought fog to most Southern California areas this morning.

The cooler temperatures will give relief from the heavy smog in valley areas today. The San Bernardino County Air Pollution Control District revised its forecast for today from heavy smog to moderate conditions. Upland reported an ozone count of .39 parts per million Tuesday. Pomona's ozone level was .22 ppm.

Casino worker arrested in slaying of mother, tot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A 28-year-old casino worker suspected of strangling a young mother, slitting the throat of her 3-year-old son and attacking her two daughters was found early today hiding under cardboard boxes near the trailer park where the woman lived.

The suspect, George Andrew "Andy" Gates, an employe at the Sahara Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip, was found by two officers making a search of the area near the crime scene.

Gates offered no resistance when he was taken into custody. He was taken to Clark County jail where he was to be booked on two counts of murder and two counts of attempted murder.

The dead were Alma Burnett, 28, who had just moved to this gambling resort to be near her parents, and her young son, Jimmy, who died when the killer cut his throat.

Police said the mother and son were both lying on a bloodsoaked bed in a back bedroom in their mobile home when they were attacked.

Mrs. Burnett's two daughters, Virginia, 5, and Shirley, 8, apparently were attacked later when they returned from the trailer park swimming pool.

Virginia was listed in critical condition at North Las Vegas Hospital, while Shirley was released from the hospital after treatment.

Gates was a next-door neighbor to the slain woman's parents and had purchased a car from them several weeks ago, police said.

"The bedroom was a shambles," an investigator said. "The back bedroom where we found the bodies were torn up, apparently from a violent struggle. Blood was all around, on the walls and everything."

The dead woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Morton, discovered the grisly scene when they went to visit their daughter Tuesday afternoon.

Police said Mrs. Burnett's body was found wrapped in a blanket that was tied with a cord, lying partially on a double bed. At the head of the bed was the body of her son, dressed in a blue play jumper.

A bloodied butcher knife was found five feet away from the bed in the bathroom of the 50-foot trailer.

An autopsy on the woman, who was strangled and severely beaten, was pending.

L.A., San Diego among raid sites

International drug ring broken; 120 held

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United States, Mexican and Canadian police today arrested more than 120 suspects, including several "drug millionaires," in a series of raids that one official said broke the back of illegal pep pill trafficking in this country.

The arrests followed an eight-month investigation in the three countries and Europe into the smuggling of more than 3 billion "mini-bennies" —small Benzedrine tablets — worth about $1.6 billion into the United States annually from Mexico.

"There is no question about it. We have broken the back of the illegal amphetamine operation in this country," said Doug Chandler of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration.

"We got a couple of people in Mexico who are described as drug millionaires —they are drug rich," said Chandler. "They have also gotten rich from traffic in other drugs."

Most of the 124 persons in custody at mid-morning were in the United States. They included 98 in this country, 25 in Canada and one Mexican national in Canada.

The DEA spokesman said he expected the arrests would total about 140.

"The operation has gone smoothly and there have been no injuries reported so far in the arrests," said Chandler, who coordinated the raids.

Stuart Stromfield of the DEA said raiding parties were armed with sealed indictments, opened just before they struck.

Arrests were made in Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Phoenix, Tucson, Dallas, New York, Pittsburgh, and Charleston, W.Va., as well as in Mexico City, Tijuana and Guadalajara.

The raids were to have begun at midnight, EDT, but Stromfeld said premature publication of the story by the New York Times and the Washington Post caused the arrests to start two hours earlier than planned.

In recent days, agents in Los Angeles, San Diego, Minneapolis and Dallas seized at least 500,000 "mini-bennies," Stromfeld said.

Also this week, four Mexican factories believed to have been the source of all the smuggled pills were raided. Six others were targeted for raids today.

U.S. officials said the entry point for the pills, now illegal except for certain limited purposes, was San Ysidro, Calif., on the Mexican border.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Vancouver also helped in the investigation, the DEA said.

"The raw materials used to manufacture these pills are being imported illegally from Europe," from some of the "biggest chemical companies," according to Stromfeld. He declined to name the countries or the firms.

The nighttime raids also netted large quantities of pills in the process of being made, he said, along with amounts of cocaine and heroin.

2 smog measures okayed on government pressure

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — Pressures from the state and federal governments Tuesday forced the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors to approve two questionable and controversial measures relating to the smog problem.

The first action was an order to the Air Pollution Control District to adjust smog-measuring devices by a factor of 0.8 in order to bring the devices into line with the smog-measuring devices used by Los Angeles County.

Supervisor Robert O. Townsend objected vigorously to this proposal, saying it would only deceive the people in the county about the actual smog levels.

He noted that in the past the smog-measuring devices in Los Angeles County indicated smog-alert conditions long after such conditions existed in San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties.

"I resent being forced to perpetrate this hoax on the people of this county. This adjustment will just tell us that a smog-alert condition exists long after the time when it actually began," Townsend said.

He noted, however, that the move was being forced on the county by the State Air Resources Board, and said, "If the Board was really interested in presenting a true picture of the smog problem it would force Los Angeles County to adjust its monitoring devices to conform with ours."

Supervisor Dennis Hansberger disagreed with Townsend saying that experts from both the state and federal government had approved of this setting on the measuring devices.

This brought Hansberger into another sharp disagreement with Supervisor James L. Mayfield, who was angered at the pressure from the state agency.

"All we're doing is backing down to satisfy Los Angeles County and I don't like it. It's been conceded that our devices give the correct measurements and we should not be forced to make the adjustment. We're being forced to lie to the public and that makes me mad," Mayfield said.

The other matter, the so-called Vapor Recovery System, was less controversial among the board members, but was strongly opposed by representatives of the gasoline industry, mostly owner and operators of local service stations.

The system is supposedly designed to prevent the escape of hydrocarbons into the air, from fuel pumps used to pump gas in automobile gas tanks as well as to contain the hydrocarbons while gas is being pumped from tanker trucks into service station storage tanks.

Opponents of the proposal said the expensive equipment necessary would only force the service stations to pass the additional cost on to the consumer. They also argued that there is no proof that the system is effective.

Townsend agreed with this argument. "I believe that the amount of prevention is worth the cost. This rule has already been approved in San Diego and the results there have been at least questionable. I have yet to see any proof that the amount of pollution prevention justifies the cost," he added.

Three students beaten up in robbery attempts

Three students were beaten up Tuesday in separate strong-arm robbery attempts at Pomona High School after refusing a group's demand for money.

Tuesday was the first day of school.

The most seriously injured was Randy P. Kalke, 15, whose lip was split by his own teeth when he was hit in the mouth. Three stitches were used to close the wound at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Also attacked were Thomas S. Roccapalumbo, 15, and Dwayne C. Davis, 15. Roccapalumbo said he would seek medical attention later and Davis did not require treatment, officers reported.

The robbery attempts occurred between 12:05 p.m. and 12:15 at the south end of the school's main hallway near the administration office. The victims were white and their attackers were black. Police termed them "possible racial incidents."

The victims told essentially the same stories: They were confronted singly by a group of five youths ranging from 15 to 17. Money was demanded under threats that they would be "laid out" if they refused. When they tried to walk away they were attacked and beaten in the face and head by group members who then walked away.

The leader appeared to be about 16, 6 feet tall and thin. He wore a medium afro hairdo, blue shirt and dark trousers, police reported.

Man falls asleep; auto slams into utility pole

A young Riverside man escaped serious injury early today when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and his car hit a utility pole at Regis Avenue and Foothill Boulevard, Claremont police said.

The driver, Ronald Barker, said he would see a doctor later. He had a head injury.

Police said Barker told them he got out of his car and lay down in a field nearby after the crash. Officers conducted a search for him but could not locate him at the accident scene. Shortly after 6 a.m. Barker arrived at the police station with his parents and explained the accident.

Final summer concerts for city's band

The final concert in the summer season of the Pomona Concert Band will be presented Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Ganesha Park bandshell.

Under the direction of Stanton Selby the band will present a program of marches and popular selections. Included will be "One Beautiful Day," "When You Wish upon a Star," "Rain Medley," "Rumbalero" and selections from "Roberta."

Marches featured during the performance of the band will be "King Cane," "The Gladiator," "The Voice of the Guns," "The Rifle Regiment" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Pomona Concert Band will also present concerts on Friday at Ruth Hardy Park in Palm Springs at 8:30 p.m. and on Sept. 22 at 5 p.m. at the Los Angeles County Fair, Pomona.

Hundreds flee riots in Mozambique capital

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Hundreds of blacks and whites fled into South Africa today from riotous Mozambique. Portugal flew army reinforcements and a new high commissioner to the colony's capital of Lourenco Marques to signal its determination to turn Mozambique over to a black majority government.

Lourenco Marques radio said today nearly 100 persons were killed Tuesday in racial violence centered on the Mozambique capital of Lourenco Marques in Mozambique.

The radio claimed Lourenco Marquess had quieted down today. But refugees crossing the South African frontier a dozen miles from the Mozambique capital said shooting was still going on.

Whites remaining in Lourenco Marques were reported to be barricading their homes against fresh violence. Food was reported running short because shops were closed and fresh provisions were no longer arriving from the countryside.

Some refugees arriving in South Africa were housed in tents. Many of them told of abandoning their cars and making their way to the frontier on foot to escape black roadblocks and roaming gangs.

Mozambique was virtualiy cut off from the outside world. Aircraft were grounded and most telephone and telex links severed.

Just before the telephone lines were cut, a Portuguese police officer told South African journalists, "This is another Vietnam. We don't know how to stop them."

Portugal announced that Admiral Vitor Crespe arrived in Mozambique today to take up his post as Portuguese high commissioner, in cooperation with a black majority government to be elected shortly.

Portugal also flew a company of commandos and two junglefighter units from northern Mozambique to the capital —a total of roughly 200 men.

It was Lisbon's decision to turn power in the colony over to the black guerrilla movement, the Mozambique Liberation Front (usually shortened to Frelimo) which sparked a white revolt Saturday. This in turn led to widespread racial violence in Lourenco Marquea.

Teachers given okay on Washington project

Three teachers at Pioneer Junior High School won the approval of the Upland school board Tuesday evening for a project to take 35 eighth graders, selected at random, to Washington, D.C.

The project would be modeled on previous projects which sent eighth graders from Pioneer Junior High to Sacramento. The cost per student will be $350, and the total cost of the trip will be close to $13,000, much of which will be earned by the 35 students themselves.

Ross Bloom, a teacher at Pioneer, outlined the project for the board, and Bruce Breitler, also on the faculty of the junior high school, explained its general purposes. Sharyl Reynolds, the third teacher involved in the project, spoke briefly in its behalf.

According to Breitler, the trip to Washington has four objectives: to learn more about government, to enhance social studies, to teach leadership, and to encourage the students' "conscious awareness of life styles."

William S. Rugg, a member of the school board, said he approves of the plan, but he added a note of disappointment that Upland's other junior high school, Upland Junior High, does not have a similar project.

Supt. Bill Plaster said that the project was initiated by teachers at Pioneer and indicated that without similar initiative at Upland a second travel project would not have good prospects for success.

The trustees not only approved of the proposal presented by the three teachers from Pioneer but they also urged Plaster to suggest to the teachers at Upland Junior High School that an educational field trip be initiated there, too.

Every eighth-grade student at Pioneer will be eligible for the trip. The 35 who will go will be chosen by a method described by Bloo mas "educationally sound, scientifically accurate": drawing their applications at random from a box.

There are approximatrely 450 eighth graders at Pioneer Junior High School.

Glenn M. Hardy, business manager for the district, reported to the board that his department has spent $1,200 on glass to replace broken windows at elementary and junior high schools in Upland this summer. Vandalism is increasing at such a rate, Hardy said, that he has begun to investigate the cost of installing electronic surveillance equipment to protect schools.

General Dynamics wins $2.3 million systems contract

The Naval Sea Systems Command has awarded a $2.3 million contract to the General Dynamics plant here for supplies and services to produce three Phalanx close-in weapon systems.

This is a modification to an existing contract, said Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist. The work will be done at the Pomona facility.

Woman is held after accident

A 21-year-old Mira Loma woman was arrested by Ontario police on suspicion of driving while under the influence of drugs and possession of marijuana after her car rammed head on into another car parked at the dead end of De Anza Circle in Ontario Tuesday night.

Janice Renee Drop of 3361 Eve Circle, Mira Loma, was arrested by police after being treated at Chino General Hospital for minor injuries suffered in the accident. Police said Miss Drop's vehicle crossed over into th eastbound lane of De Anza Circle about 9 p.m. and crashed into a parked car headon. The impact of the collision pushed the parked car back into another parked car.

Officers investigating the accident said they found a small quantity of marijuana in the Mira Loma woman's car.

Woman is found unconscious at home; succumbs

A 29-year-old Pomona woman was pronounced dead on arrival early Tuesday afternoon at Pomona Valley Community Hospital after being found unconscious in her home.

The victim was Nancy Phelps, who was found with hardly a pulse in the living room of her home at 1625 S. Reservoir St. Firemen attempted artificial resuscitation but the victim was dead when they reached the hospital.

Police said they found seven empty medication containers and one partially empty nearby. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death and the body was taken to Todd Memorial Chapel.

Girl's face cut, arrest youth, 20

A 20-year-old Pomona man was arrested and booked in the West End Jail this morning after allegedly using a hunting knife to slash the face of his 17-year-old girlfriend at 10775 Vernon St., Pomona, Tuesday morning.

Darlene Erwin of Pomona was given medical treatment for face lacerations suffered in the altercation, West End sheriff's deputies reported.

The girl, according to deputies, was cut several times in the face by her boyfriend Albert Arviczo Marrujo, 20, of the Vernon Street address about 11:30 a.m. Deputies said they received an anonymous call earlier, from a man who claimed that he had "cut up" a woman in the Vernon Street area.

Later deputies arrested Marrujo, on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after locating the victim.

Councilmen opposing RTD tax proposition

The Pomona City Council voted Tuesday night to oppose the Southern California Rapid Transit District's one-cent sales tax proposition on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The proposal, Proposition A on the ballot in Los Angeles County, would raise between $8 and $10 billion for the improvement of existing bus service and the construction of a 240-mile rapid transit system in the county.

In voting to oppose the proposition, the council approved Mayor Ray Lepire's suggestion that a Mayor's Action Committee, made up of mayors from this area be formed to help lead the fight against the proposal.

"It would be a financial disaster for Pomona and other outlying areas of the county," said Lepire.

The mayor stated that the proposition, if approved, would drive shoppers out of Pomona and across the county line into San Bernardino County, especially for the purchase of automobiles and other high-cost items.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce noted that the proposition is under fire in the South Bay and Western areas of the county as well.

Councilman Adrian Wright, who opposed the RTD takeover of the Pomona bus service, blasted the RTD's service to the local area and its county-wide service.

"They're centered on downtown Los Angeles, not looking at the total need of Los Angeles County," said Wright.

The council approved Wright's participation with the Pomona Chamber of Commerce's Transportation Committee concerning the matter. The group plans to study the proposition and publicize its potential impact on the community.

Earlier in the day the Chamber of Commerce approved a resolution opposing the proposition.

The chamber's resolution attacks the proposal on the grounds that the proposition "is extremely vague in its descriptions of transportation modes priorities for construction and operation, and the availability of federal state and local funds which will be required to complete the system."

County Supervisor Peter Schabarum has previously stated his opposition to the proposal for the same lack of detailed information about how the money would be used.

Free-standing sign request under study

A request to erect a free-standing sign at the new Pomona Financial Center will be considered tonight by the Pomona Planning Commission.

Heath and Company, the applicant, seeks to construct a 12-foot-high pole sign at the southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets to direct traffic into a driveway and to identify the Bank of California.

"The need is to eliminate any confusion by patrons in entering the facilities to the Bank of California and to eliminate any possible traffic hazards," said E. Breismeister, reprsenting the applicant.

In a second item, planners will conduct a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the city code regarding City Council action when a Planning Commission decision is appealed to the City Council.

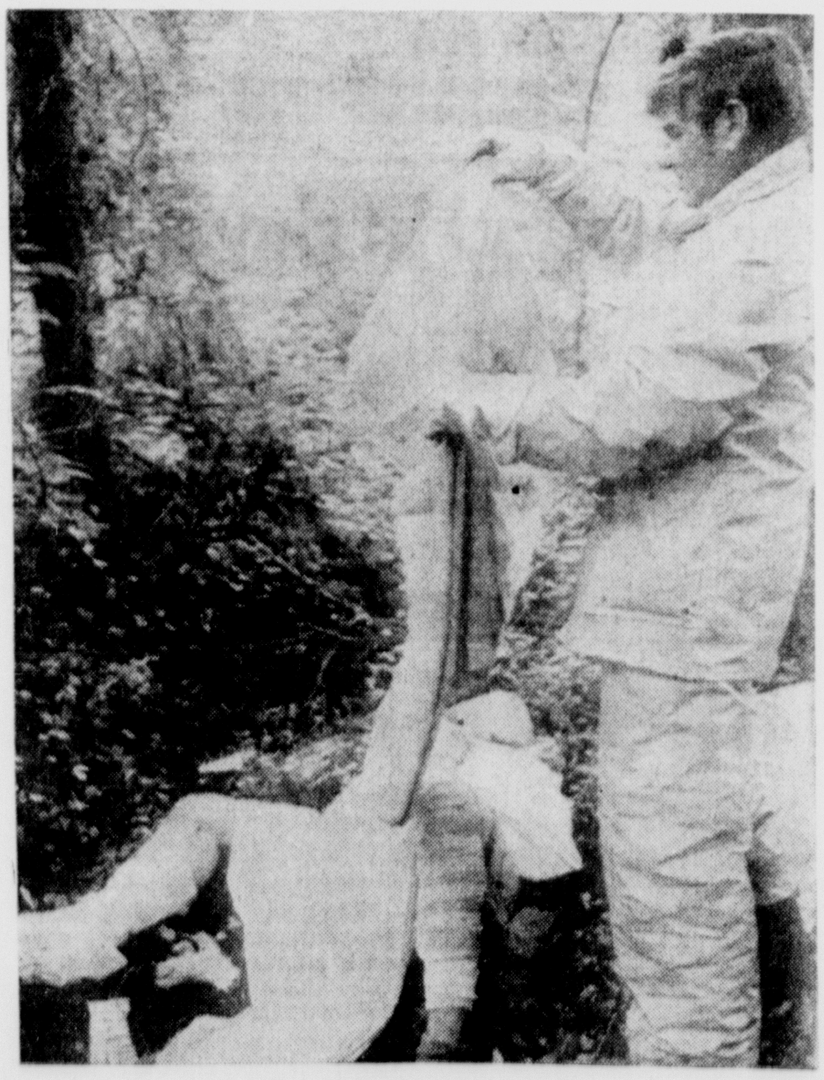
"A number of situations have developed in recent months which were either not covered in the provisions of the ordinance or caused significant and possibly unjustified delays in reaching a final decision," wrote Sanford Sorensen, city planner.

"Of particular concern is the provision that council action must be by resolution. A council resolution requires three votes to pass and is normally drawn by the city attorney following the council hearing and action and must be approved by a separate vote taken a week after the initial action."

The proposed amendment states that the council shall, within 40 days after the closing of the hearing, sustain, reverse or modify the commission's decision. However, at any time prior to its decision and within 40 days of the closing of the public hearing, the council may either reopen the hearing to receive further evidence and argument upon notice given as required for the original council hearing, or it may remand the matter back to the Planning Commission for further study, hearings and recommendations under directions of the council.

And in the event that no decision is made by the council within 40 days after the closing of the public hearing, the Planning Commission action shall be final.

The commission meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the City Council chambers.



AIR CRASH VICTIM

Toddlers session

The Pomona Valley YMCA has begun a new session in its Y-Toddler program, which offers a variety of swim, gym and craft activites for preschool-aged children.

The class meets each Tuesday and Thursday from 9 to 11 a.m. for a period of four weeks. The cost of the program is $15 per child.

Terrorist bomb goes off at Oakland plant

Damage is heavy; no injuries

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A terrorist group's bomb, timed to mark the first anniversary of a military coup in Chile, ripped through offices in an Oakland industrial park Tuesday night.

Even before the blast, the Weather Underground claimed responsibility and said the target was Anaconda American Brass Co.

Claims were made by means of a communique and in telephone calls to a newspaper and to a firm.

Police described the damage as heavy, but reported that no one was injured.

The Weather Underground, originally called the Weatherman, has reported setting off 20 bombs since its formation in 1969.

In a note to the San Francisco Chronicle, the group said the latest bomb demonstrated its "solidarity with the Chilean people and their revolutionary struggle."

A military junta in Chile deposed the Marxist government of President Salvador Allende exactly a year ago.

The note was titled "Weather Underground Organization Bombs Anaconda."

Offices damaged included those of Anaconda, Robbins and Co. and the American Data Corp. Robbins is a real estate agency and American Data is a microfilm firm.

In July, the junta-controlled government of Chile agreed to pay Anaconda $255 million as compensation for the nationalization of the firm's copper mining subsidiaries during the Allende regime.

Weather Underground, in its message to the newspaper, asserted the money represented a payoff for Anaconda's "decisive role in the U.S.-sponsored fascist coup in Chile."

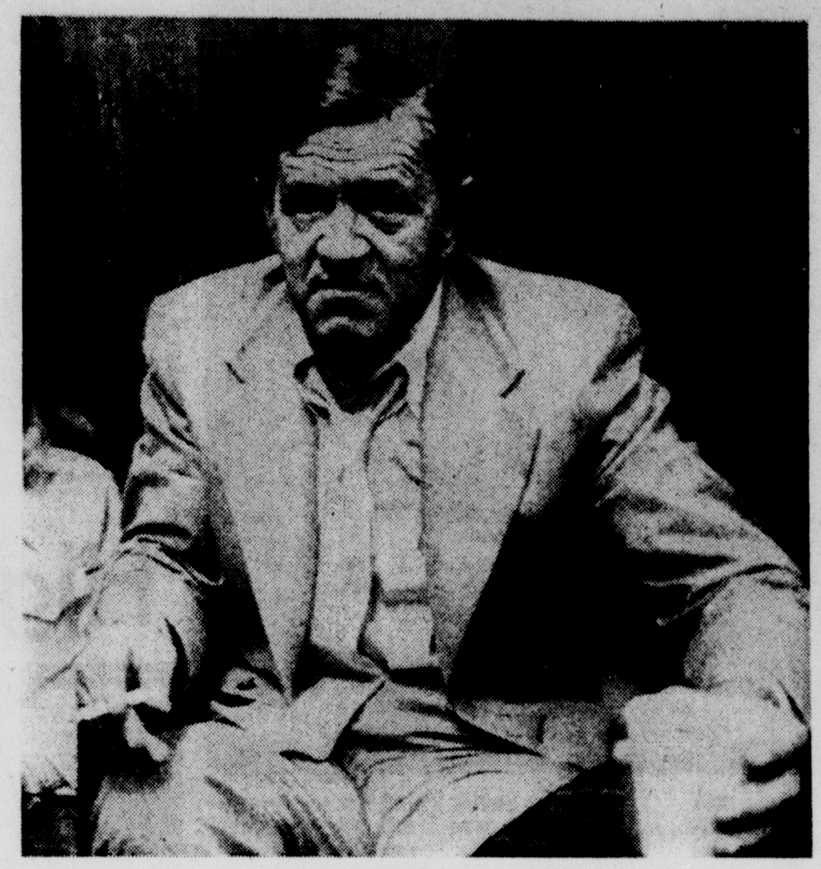
At the time of the nationalization, the Allende government held the American firm had made excessive profits during the 40 years it controlled the mines in Chile. Anaconda had complained the Allende government in effect offered no compensation.

Just before the 11 p.m. explosion, a male voice informed the newspaper by telephone that there would be a blast and gave instructions where the message could be found taped under a ledge in an outdoor telephone booth.

Apparently unable to reach Anaconda by telephone, a male dialed a nearby company's answering service and said: "We don't want any innocent people to get hurt, so, call any emergency services you have to clear the building."

Of the Weather Underground bombings, the one previous to the Oakland blast was in June at the Los Angeles office of California Attorney General Evelle Younger.

Weather Underground messages said that blast was to demonstrate solidarity with the six Symbionese Liberation Army members killed in a shootout with Los Angeles police.



A LOSER . . .

Results of election are apparent in face of Bill Daniels as he watches returns in Denver's Republican gubernatorial race Tuesday. Daniels lost to GOP Gov. John Vanderhoof.

. . . A WINNER

Mayor Walter Washington is jubilant as he appears at his election headquarters Tuesday to declare himself the winner of the Democratic primary in the nation's capital. It was the first opportunity for voters in the District of Columbia to select municipal candidates in 103 years.

Most incumbents, favorites win primaries

United Press International

Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Rep. Hugh Carey defeated party regulars to capture New York's Democratic nominations for senator and governor Tuesday, when primary ballots were cast in 13 states and the nation's capital.

Incumbents and favorites generally won most of the other races across the nation. It was the biggest round of balloting so far in anticipation of the Nov. 5 general elections.

National issues appeared to figure in two races. Rep. Larry Hogan, who was accused by some party leaders of "grandstanding" when he became the first GOP member of the House Judiciary Committee to support impeachment of Richard Nixon, lost a bid for the Maryland gubernatorial nomination to Louise Gore.

And in Wisconsin, Rep. Glenn Davis, who touted his friendship with President Ford in a campaign for re-election, also lost —an apparent casualty of Ford's decision to pardon Nixon.

Neither Clark, a transplanted Texan, nor Carey, a Brooklyn congressman, was supported by the party regulars in New York but both won easily. Both will have a tougher time in November when Clark takes on popular Sen. Jacob Javits and Carey tries to take the state house which Republicans have held since 1959.

Mrs. Gore and New York State Sen. Mary Ann Krupsak became the first women ever nominated to a state-wide office in their states. Ms. Krupsak won the Democratc nomination for lieutenant governor. Baltimore city councilwoman Barbara Mikulski won the Democratic nomination for the Senate from Maryland.

Despite a messy marital breakup and a rash of investigations into his administration, Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel easily won the Democratic nomination to seek a second full term.

So did Democratic governors Reubin Askew in Florida, Pat Lucey in Wisconsin and Wendell Anderson in Minnesota and Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent in Massachusetts.

In the District of Columbia, Mayor Walter E. Washington claimed victory over challenger Clifford Alexander as the nation's capital held its first municipal elections in 103 years.

In Colorado, a new face emerged —Gary Hart, Sen. George S. McGovern's 1972 campaign manager, won the Democratic nomination for senator.

Davis was one of three incument House members who lost. The others were Democrats Robert Tiernan of Rhode Island and Betram L. Podell of New York. These losses brought to nine the number of defeated congressional incumbets in the primaires so far this year.

Bertram L. Podell lost to State Assemblyman Stephen J. Solarz. Podell was indicted last year for bribery and campaigned on the claim he had been framed by the Nixon administration.

Two New England Republican congressmen —Richard Mallary in Vermont and Louis Wyman in New Hampshire — won nomination to seek the seats of two GOP fixtures in the Senate, George Aiken and Norris Cotton. Both are retiring.

In New York, the Democratic endorsements had gone to Syracuse Mayor Lee Alexander for the Senate; and for governor, to industrialist Howard Samuels, who became known as "Howie the Horse" when he set up New York City's Off-Track Betting system.

But Clark, a lean Texan who put down new roots in Greenwich Village after his Washington service as attorney general, and Carey, the picture of a big city Irish politician, beat the regulars.

They will oppose veteran Republican Sen. Jacob Javits and GOP Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who came to office last winter after serving 15 years as Nelson A. Rockefeller's lieutenant governor.

Clark was a favorite target of Republican law-and-order campaigners in 1968 and 1972. He made a highly publicized trip to Hanoi with actress Jane Fonda to visit American prisoners of war.

Carey represented a Brooklyn congressional district for 14 years but was little-known in the rest of the state.

The other primaries:

Maryland —Mandel easily beat conservative former state judge Wilson Barnes and will face Louise Gore, a Maryland GOP national committeewoman who defeated Hogan. Sen. Charles McC. Mathias won the GOP nomination and will have Democratic opposition from Baltimore City Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski.

Florida —Askew, who celebrates his 46th birthday today, got a record 74 per cent and became the second governor in Florida history to win nomination without a runoff. He is favored to beat Republican Jerry Thomas, a former state senator. In the Senate race to succeed Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., who withdrew under a bribery indictment, drugstore magnate Jack Eckerd won the GOP nomination and Rep. Bill Gunter faced a Democratic runoff with former Secretary of State Dick Stone despite a strong lead in an 11-man race.

Vermont—Mallary, a one-term House member, will face a county prosecutor, Democrat Patrick Leahy for Aiken's seat. Gov. Thomas Salmon won the Democratic nomination and will be opposed by Walter "Peanut" Kennedy, the GOP nominee.

Massachusetts —Sargent, who had highly voal conseative opposition, will be opposed in November by former state Rep. Michael Dukakis, a pioneer of no-fault auto insurance. Dukakis beat state Attorney General Robert Quinn, an opponent of school busing.

New Hampshire —Wyman breezed to the GOP senate nomination and will face Democrat John Durkin in November. Gov. Meldrim Thomson also won his GOP primary and will face lawyer Richard Leonard, who defeated two Democratic state legislators.

Wisconsin —Gov. Patrick Lucey easily turned back Democratic primary opposition from a supporter of Gov. George Wallace, and will be opposed by William Dyke, the former mayor of Madison. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, unopposed Democrat, will meet GOP State Sen. James Petri.

Colorado —Hart, making his debut as a candidate, beat two other Democrats for the right to oppose Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., who had no opposition. Republican Gov. John Vanderhoof, who took office when John Love resigned to become federal energy administrator, won nomination for a full term against Democratic state legislator Dick Lamm.

Arizona: Jonathan Marshall, publisher of a Scottsdale newspaper, won the Democratic nomination to run against Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who was unopposed. Raul Castro, former ambassador to El Salvador and Bolivia, won the Democratic nomination for governor and will face Phoenix businessman Russell Williams, who scored a substantial victory in a five-man field.

Minnesota —Gov. Wendell Anderson easily won the Democratic nomination for reelection and will be opposed by Republican John Johnson, who had no opposition.

AMC to boost car prices $300

ROCHESTER, Mich. (UPI) — American Motors today announced that tentative prices for its 1975 models will average $300 more than comparable 1974 models, the smallest price increases in the industry.

The 7.7 per cent increase is more than $100 below those already announced by General Motors and Ford. Chrysler has said its prices will be in the same ballpark as GM and Ford.

AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. said the increases, which will be made firm when 1975 autos are introduced in mid-November, are "the minimum we can see because the pressures are, in fact, tremendous."

Broadway among stores named in FTC complaint

Five dept. stores charged with keeping refunds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today alleged that five major department store chains —including Gimbels and Neiman Marcus —failed to refund more than $2.8 million that was due customers.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said in a proposed complaint that the stores kept unclaimed funds credited to customer charge accounts.

The FTC complaint requires the stores to refund the money.

"Customers with outstanding credit balances on their accounts in time tend to lose these balances when they are unclaimed by the customers or no offsetting purchase is made, and that substantial dollar amounts of credit balances belong to customers are thereafter kept by the companies," the FTC complaint said.

Named in the complaint were: Gimbel Brothers, Inc., New York; Lerner Stores, New York; Bonwit Teller and its parent company, Genesco, Nashville, Tenn.; Lord & Taylor, New York; Carter Hawley Hale Stores, Los Angeles, and its divisions; Nieman Marcus, Dallas; Broadway Department Stores, Los Angeles; Emporium Capwell Co., San Francisco; Bergdorf Goodman, New York, and Weinstock's, Sacramento, Calif.

A spokesman for the FTC said Gimbels kept more than $1 million in unclaimed credits between 1969 and 1974; between 1968 and 1973, the Carter Hawley Stores kept $500,000; Lerner stores withheld $75,000 between 1970 and 1973; Associated Dry Goods, the parent company for Lord & Taylor, withheld $405,000 between 1969 and 1973, and Bonwit Teller withheld $740,000 between 1969 and 1973.

The FTC complaint alleged that the stores:

—Failed to refund the "amounts of unclaimed credit balances unless the customer specifically requests a refund."

—Failed to notify each customer of his right to a cash refund rather than a credit to his account.

—Failed to refund the unclaimed balances "after there has been a period of inactivity on the customer's account."

The FTC issues a complaint when it has "reason to believe" that the law has been violated. The firms are then given an opportunity to have the charges disposed of by the entry of a consent order.

"In addition to requiring the companies to correct these alleged acts and practices, the commission's proposed orders would require them to refund the amounts of unclaimed credit balances to all customers who within the five years preceding the date of issuance of the complaints had outstanding charge account credit balances," the FTC said.

Sirica denies Haldeman trial delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today rejected a request by H.R. Haldeman that the Watergate coverup trial be delayed while the Supreme Court decides if his indictment is valid.

Sirica also refused to dismiss "without prejudice" charges against a second defendent, Gordan C. Strachan, meaning Strachan can make the same request at any time during the trial.

Sirica's brief orders were issued without opinion.

Haldeman and Strachan are among the six defendants due to go on trial Sept. 30 on charges connected with the Watergate cover-up.

Defense attorneys reportedly agreed at a strategy session Tuesday to ask Sirica to dismiss all charges since President Ford has granted former President Nixon a full pardon. But they are holding off because pardons for all Watergate figures may be considered by Ford.

First Brown-Flournoy debate is rated a 'toss up'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican Houston I. Flournoy and Democrat Edmund Brown Jr. emerged today from a "toss up" gubernatorial debate with Flournoy calling for expanded television coverage of future encounters.

He urged Brown to agree to statewide broadcast coverage "wherever possible" of the five upcoming encounters, all but one of which will be broadcast by local or regional television stations.

At their first face-to-face debate Tuesday, the 36-year-old Brown and 44-year-old Flournoy, both flushed and perspiring slightly, verbally slugged it out for nearly one hour, intermittently trading barbed humor with partisan jabs.

The consensus of newsmen covering the first gubernatorial debate since 1962 held it to be a "toss up." Brown called himself the "clear victor" while Flournoy withheld rating himself as the winner or loser, saying he was "too involved in it."

Both adopted aggressive postures from the start and disagreed on such issues as the death penalty, a presidential pardon for convicted perjurer Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, lessening marijuana penalties, and support of a proposed ballot initiative to make prison terms mandatory for gun-toting criminals.

They agreed that Vietnam war resisters should be granted a conditional amnesty and both said President Ford should not have granted a pardon to Richard M. Nixon for his role in Watergate. Flournoy included an "at this time" caveat to his opposition to the Nixon pardon.

The Nov. 5 election rivals, who deftly answered questions from the audience of approximately 600 newsmen, campaign troops, state Capitol aides and top Reagan administration officials, broke virtually no new ground on issues but provided a shoulder-to-shoulder opportunity to examine their styles.

Flournoy, the state controller, won a coin toss and elected to make his opening presentation first. Brown, son of the former two-term governor defeated by Ronald Reagan in 1966, had the final concluding statement.

"My case is as different from Gov. Reagan's as my opponent's is from his father's," Flournoy said. "The important question is what kind of leadership will it be. Will it be partisan, shrill, impulsive, seeking headlines instead of solutions? Or, will it be enthusiasm tempered with experience, innovation with judgment, promises with performance?"

Brown, the secretary of state who has sought to link his opponent with "Nixon-Agnew-Reagan-Reinecke," insisted he represented a "new spirit" of politics.

"There is a choice of whether we are going to break away from the Republican administrations in the last eight years in Sacramento and the last six years in Washington," he declared.

At one point, Brown took note of Flournoy's invitation to President Ford to campaign for him in California and labeled the proposed trip a "rescue squad from the East Coast."

Flournoy pointed out that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will be campaigning for Democrats in California this weekend, and shot back: "Is that why Teddy Kennedy is going to be in the state?"

Brown retorted, "He's a guest of the Democratic party."

Sponsored by the Sacramento Press Club, the first debate was not telecast live statewide. Both candidates previously signed an agreement calling for six joint appearances, with one debate to be telecast statewide by public television and the others to be broadcast regionally or locally.

Flournoy said today Brown should "consider opening up the campaign" and allowing statewide broadcast of future scheduled debates "wherever possible."

On marijuana, Flournoy said he opposed "decriminalizing" its possession and use while Brown said he favored legislation on Reagan's desk that would make possession of small amounts of marijuana a misdemeanor instead of a possible felony.

Brown said he opposed any presidential pardon of Reinecke, convicted of perjury in the ITT antitrust affair. Flournoy said it would be "premature" to even consider a pardon before Reinecke was sentenced.

Flournoy said any pardon for Watergate participants should be handled by President Ford on a case-by-case" basis. Brown said he opposed pardons of the Watergate figures.

On the death penalty, Flournoy noted he supported new California legislation reinstituting the supreme punishment and expressed hope the courts would act swiftly in deciding its constitutionality.

Brown, a former seminary student and long-time foe of the death penalty, said if it was upheld by the courts, "I would enforce my oath of office with compassion and with clemency where I believe it to be appropriate."

Escapee goes back after 4 days hiding

SOMERS, Conn. (UPI) — Convicted bank robber Robert Koch, the first person to escape from the maximum security Somers prison since its construction 11 years ago, today walked back to the prison complex and surrendered, state police said.

Koch, 29, whose escape was termed an almost inhuman feat, walked into the officers' quarters at 10:15 a.m. his shirt torn and his body scratched apparently from hiding out in the woods.

Koch, a Baltimore, Md., native, Tuesday vaulted three fences, one of them 28-feet high, during a recreation period at the fog-bound penitentiary.

An alarm was sounded when he passed through a magnetic field at 8:30 a.m. but the heavy fog masked his flight. A guard grabbed Koch's foot as he climbed the first fence, but the prisoner kicked free.

"The fog was so thick the guards in the tower couldn't even see him," a guard said.

Police mounted one of the largest manhunts in state history, including National Guard helicopters and bloodhounds.

Koch, serving a 20 year federal term for the robbery of a bank near Glen Burney, Md., was assigned last April temporarily to the maximum security prison built in this rural northern Connecticut community near the Massachusetts border in 1963.

Until Koch's escape, it had been considered escape-proof.

RTD, unions to meet with city council

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Southern California Rapid Transit District officials and leaders of the two striking unions said they would attend today's City Council meeting to discuss their positions, but both sides cautioned they would not negotiate at the meeting.

"We will be pleased to meet with the council to present facts relating to the dispute," an RTD spokesman said. "But we do not believe a public forum is a proper place to conduct serious contract negotiations.

"We will not be drawn into negotiating or debating the issues in public."

The strike, meanwhile, entering its 32nd day today, was expected to affect an estimated 100,000 Los Angeles city school children who had taken out RTD passes for transportation to classes.

Leaders from the bus drivers Amalgamated Transit Union and the mechanics United Transportation Union both said they would attend the meeting, but an ATU spokesman emphasized that "the main reason we would go would be to answer questions the council might have, and not to negotiate a contract."

Nixon treatment given prisoners

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (UPI) — Grand Forks County Judge Kirk Smith decided that two county jail prisoners serving time for traffic offenses should get the same treatment as former President Nixon, so he let them go.

"The connection is that I felt that these people sitting in jail would appreciate getting the same sort of treatment that President Nixon got, so I gave them that treatment," Smith said Tuesday.

IN A FREE COUNTRY — "I still can't get used to the idea," Silva Zalmanson said between sobs. Here she is carried by her uncle upon arriving at Ben Gurion Airport in Tel Aviv from the Soviet Union Tuesday. Mrs. Zalmanson was freed after serving four years of a 10-year sentence for the 1970 attempt to hijack a Russian plane to the West.

Amtrak wants $1.7 billion to increase train speed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Amtrak has proposed a $1.7 billion five-year improvement plan that would boost average train speeds between some large cities to 90 or 110 miles per hour.

The plan includes purchase of 435 new, long-distance passenger cars —some doubledecked —and 25 new diesel locomotives.

If Congress and the administration go along, service similar to but even faster than the present Washington-New York corridor would be extended to some other East Coast lines, to several lines radiating out of Chicago and to two short West Coast lines.

Amtrak released some details of the plan, which went to Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and key members of Congress. UPI obtained a full copy of the plan from congressional sources.

It was approved by Amtrak's new board of directors, appointed earlier this year at the direction of Congress.

The board also took steps to overcome mounting criticism of Amtrak's dismal mechanical record by announcing plans to negotiate the takeover of many railroad maintenance facilities and place employes directly under Amtrak control.

Currently, most Amtrak maintenance is done on a contract basis with the railroads which operate Amtrak trains.

The most ambitious portion of the plan, however, is the track upgrading program, totaling $1 billion for the five fiscal years 1975-1979.

Until now, Amtrak's rather modest efforts at track upgrading have been limited to the New York-Boston line.

Under the new upgrading plan, the average speed of Washington-Boston service, for example, would increase from 65 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

The speed increase would be more dramatic in other lines, such as the rundown Penn Central line from Chicago to Cincinnati, which would be upgraded from an average 30 m.p.h. speed to 90 m.p.h.

Here are the 12 lines that Amtrak wants to upgrade, listed in order of priority, with proposed expenditures, present average speed and proposed average speed. In each case top speed would have to be higher than these averages:

—Chicago-Detroit, $85 million, from the present average of 49 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

— Washington-Boston, $290 million, from 65 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

— New York-Buffalo, $90 million, rfom 51 m.p.h. to 90 m.p.h.

—Chicago-St. Louis, $135 million, from 57 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

—Los Angeles-San Diego, $90 million, from 50 m.p.h. to 90 m.p.h.

— Chicago-Cincinnati, $135 million, from 30 m.p.h. to 90 m.p.h.

— Washington-Richmond, $55 million, from 50 m.p.h. to 65 m.p.h.

— Chicago-Milwaukee, $85 million, from 55.5 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

— Chicago-Carbondale, Ill., $85 million, from 58 m.p.h. to 90 m.p.h.

— Philadelphia-Harrisburg, $45 million, from 59 m.p.h. to 80 m.p.h.

Court won't rehear Alioto fee-splitting

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — The Washington state Supreme Court today refused to rehear the fee-splitting case involving San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and former Washington attorney general John J. O'Connell.

An order denying the request from Attorney General Slade Gorton was signed by Chief Justice Frank Hale.

Gorton said earlier that if the court denied his request, an appeal to the federal courts would be impossible.

In the 6-3 decision handed down in June, the high court said there was nothing illegal in the more than $800,000 fee-sharing arrangement between O'Connell and Alioto during the antitrust case brought by the state against electrical equipment manufacturers.

Dentist claims skull, teeth were Bormann's

LONDON (UPI) — The dental detective who helped identify the charred remains of Nazi leader Adolf Hitler said today he has located the skull and teeth of Martin Bormann, the fuehrer's top aide.

Dr. Reidar Sognnaes said the skeletal remains indicate Bormann committed suicide by biting down on one of the potassium cyanide poison capsules Hitler gave his top lieutenants.

Sognnaes, a professor of oral biology and anatomy at the University of California at Los Angeles, said his findings relegated the periodic reports of Bormann sightings in Latin America to "figments of imagination."

The educator and investigator reported his findings at the Forensic Science meeting of the International Dental Federation conference.

Bormann, Hitler's deputy, was last seen trying to escape from beleaguered Berlin while Russian troops fought their way into the city in 1945.

"The forensic identification of Martin Bormann can be considered established," Sognnaes said. "Bormann, in fact, did die without being able to flee Berlin when the Russian forces entered the city in 1945."

He said his work on Bormann's remains began with the discovery of a partial skull in Berlin on March 12, 1973. A dental bridge belonging to the skull was found nearby three months later.

He said scientific tests showed the remains matched in every important detail a dental description of Bormann's actual teeth by the Nazi's dentist.

The dental investigator said the skull, which had "Bormann-like" contours, was found near the spot in Berlin where Bormann was last reported seen by witnesses.

He also examined the remains of a "woman" found near Hitler and believed to be Eva Braun, the fuehrer's wife of a few hours.

He said, however, a bridge found in the teeth failed to match a description by Miss Braun's dentist and her fate "requires further research but at this time appears to be a forensic enigma."

I.Q. of 145 And A Poor Memory?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Memory Studies, 555 E. Lange St., Dept. 510-73, Mundelein, Ill. 60060. A postcard will do.

Cosmic Evolution and Life in the Universe

At UCLA and Claremont

Is there life among the stars? If Someone Out There put us here, are they deliberately avoiding us?

The universe is vast, wondrous and awesome—and now for the first time we are becoming aware that we're a part of it. And—in this UCLA Extension series, you and your family can participate in an adventure into the solar system with internationally-famous astronomers and scientists as your "tour" leaders.

Join us either at UCLA or in Claremont.

Bearding the lion

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

At irregular intervals on my slow trudge from puberty to senility I have had a shot at what is known as "growing a beard." It's not hard — you just quit shaving for a few weeks.

I have been working (or not working) on one now for a few weeks, and the result is never going to make the Museum of Art. One of the fringe benefits: women can't do it. I have a standing agreement with my wife: I won't have babies and she won't grow a beard.

A beard is an interesting crop, because you never know what, if anything, is going to come up. As a young man I grew a flourishing one, and it came in a charming reddish gold. With the accompanying mustache, it made me look like Leif Ericson. My latest venture into hirsutitude looks like a cross between cattle fodder and crab grass.

"Hey, Firman, you look like that movie actor," said a fellow worker.

"Really?" I smiled, modestly stroking my grizzled beard. "Who?"

"Gabby Hayes!"

If a woman tries a new hairdo, it's just a new hairdo, briefly admired or ignored by family and friends. Her girl chums all gush "I like it! It makes you look so much younger!" and her husband says "Is that a new dress you're wearing?" Other than that, there is little reaction.

But a beard is an endless challenge to the "wits" of home and office, a continuing target for hilarious remarks, heavy sarcasm and repetitive smart cracks.

"My gawd!" gasps a female. "What is that ghastly growth!"

"Hey, Firman," jibes a former friend, "forget to shave this morning?"

"Goin' to enter the Whiskerino contest at Calico Town?"

"Joe wants to be Santa Claus at the Christmas party."

"I've seen goats with a better crop."

Nobody poked fun at Abraham Lincoln or Henry Wadsworth Longfellow or the Smith Brothers, but if you try to grow a beard today, you attract as much attention as King Kong marching down Broadway with Alice Faye in his fist.

Nobody says, "Hey, you look like Abraham Lincoln." They say, "You look like King Kong." You're without profit in your own home town.

When faced with the quips and cranks of your beardless critics, the only thing to do is take out your razor and go for the throat — yours or theirs.

Bicycle race scheduled

BUENA PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Hundreds of pedal-powered kids ranging in age from 7 to 16 will show up at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday to take part in the largest bicycle motocross race ever held.

The Invitational Yamaha Bicycle Gold Cup will see the best riders in the state compete for first place honors and the coveted Yamaha Gold Cup.

The course consists of rugged jumps, twisting haybale slaloms and a water hazard.

Shop centers

BOSTON (UPI) — New shopping center construction this year may top $4 billion, Durand A. Holladay, managing trustee of Continental Mortgage Investors, predicts. He said demand is strong throughout the entire country.

Losing team bids properly

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In the first Culbertson systems the jump raise to three of partner's suit was not quite forcing. Oswald Jacoby was one of a group of young experts who decided to play it as forcing. Culbertson followed along and today the jump raise is forcing in standard American.

The experts have gone back to using it as almost forcing and the chances are that within a few years the standard bidders will have changed back also.

Today's hand decided an important team match in a most unusual way.

The bidding in the box is that of the losing team. South decided to use Blackwood and settled for six when North showed just one king. Six is the right contract and South made it.

At the other table, South went into a series of complicated bids after the three-heart response. Eventually he landed in seven.

South won the club lead; ruffed a club; led a trump; ruffed his last club and ran all his trumps to wind up with one spade and three diamonds while dummy hung on to the ace of spades and three diamonds.

West had never thrown a diamond and East came to the mistaken conclusion that South had started with two spades and the ace-king of diamonds. He unguarded his queen of diamonds and the grand slam made.

The doctor comments

Tennis popularity hard on the elbows

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor is an orthopedic surgeon. He told me I have "tennis elbow," technically called tenosynovitis. I want to know if he is right. The outer knuckle or knob on my elbow hurts when I grip with my arm completely extended straight. If I strike this knob against anything it hurts so bad that I almost cry. In a position such as the one I put my arm in to write, my arm goes to sleep. Of course, there are other positions that do the same thing. There is a continuous ache in my elbow joint.

My doctor gives me an injection of corticosteroids about every three months. I'm a pipefitter. He tells me that an operation may not help because manual labor such as my work would probably produce a recurrence.

DEAR READER — No doubt your doctor is correct. Tennis elbow can occur whenever the elbow joint is subjected to repeated strain and jarring. With the boom in tennis this condition is being seen with far greater frequency.

Your arm has three main bones: the humerus, between the elbow and the shoulder, and the radius and ulna between the elbow and the hand. The two lower bones are held in place at the elbow hinge joint by a partial capsule of ligaments. These ligaments are attached directly to rough surfaces and knobs on the bones. This joint was not made for excessive jarring. As with other joints, if it is used in an unnatural way, it can become injured, setting up an inflammation. A baseball pitcher may develop a "pitcher's elbow" or a ballet dancer damage to her ankles.

The hand can be rotated back and forth by the twisting of the two lower bones. When striking an object if the elbow joint, bones, and liagments are not in the right position, it will be more injurious. You know that if you pick up a club and hold one end while hitting something with the other end you won't feel much of a jar. BUT, hit something about half way along the length of the club and you will feel it. I suspect your occupation has been a factor in putting a strain on your elbow joint. In the tennis player it is often that backhand. ..It is important to know if there is any underlying problem that contributes to the disorder. Both gout and arthritis are sometimes a factor. Getting older, apparently with bone changes, is a factor. In fact tennis elbow occurs often in the older athlete, particularly those who play once a week.

Treatment ideas vary. Surgery seldom helps. Medicines to relieve pain are often used, that includes cortisone injections, aspirin and other measures. Rest, heat, massage, ultrasound and whirlpool baths are all useful in some cases.

The best approach is to prevent the recurrent injury. Tennis players may rest the arm. Most don't like that solution. For tennis it is important to learn to do it right. Professional seldom have this problem, but some do (including both Arthur Ashe and Tony Roche). It often means a poorly controlled backhand. Excercises to strengthen the forearm muscles, learning the proper grip, and hitting the ball correctly remove the abnormal jar to the elbow joint. Then happily, in some instances, the tennis elbow disappears for no good reason but to the satisfaction of everyone involved.

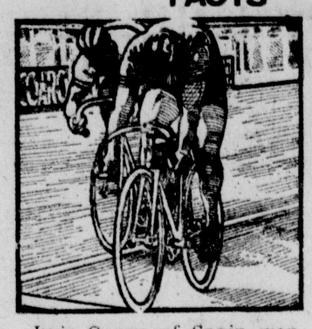
WORLD ALMANAC FACTS



Luis Ocana of Spain won the 1973 Tour de France bicycle race by finishing ahead of Bernard Thevenet of France by 15 minutes and 51 seconds. The World Almanac says. The 3,840 kilometer (about 2,100 miles) race lasted 23 days, and was completed in Paris on July 22. Eddy Merck of Belgium, who had won the race the past four years, did not compete.

A mile for every year

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — To Sgt. Maj. William Vann, 46, it's almost like blowing out candles.

Annually on the anniversary of his joining the Marine Corps, he runs a mile for each year he had been in the Marines. This year, instead of running the necessary 28 miles, he ran 32 miles for good measure.

Vann, who conducted his feat at the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base near here, says he stages his annual run to show he's still physically fit.

After Vann's long-distance run, he did the 100-yard dash in 13 seconds and said he hopes to run a 30-mile marathon the day he retires.

Vann is from the Marine Corps Air Station at Yuma, Ariz.

Modern decor tries patience

By ERMA BOMBECK

For the last few years neighborhood businesses have been going out of their way to aesthetically fit into a neighborhood.

Our bank blends so well into the surroundings that I expect any day to see a bread card in the window. And we have a service station so homey I feel guilty if I pull in after dinner when he is trying to get his grass cut before dark.

When a beautiful two-story colonial was going up, we took our Welcome Wagon lady aside and said, "Be sure and find out if she works, if they like music, if he has a riding lawn mower and if they are over 30."

She came out of the house in shock.

"Well?" we asked.

"They have two fire trucks," she said.

"Then they have children," I said excitedly, "probably boys with a whole fleet of Tonkas."

"You don't understand," she said slowly. "They have two full-scale fire trucks. It's the Fire Department."

We were quite prepared for a restaurant in Hawaii called Plantation Gardens because the tourist brochure said it once belonged to a plantation owner who converted it to a restaurant.

"Look for a place that looks like an old mansion," instructed my husband.

"Will there be a sign on it?" asked one of the kids.

"There won't have to be a sign," said my husband, "after all, how many old plantations could there be?"

About half an hour later as we all hung out of the window checking each house, we began to notice an abundance of cars. They lined the highway on either side and my husband said, "I'm glad we got reservations. I think we're here."

He slowed down the car and there it was to our left—a spacious white two-story mansion with rocking chairs on the porch for diners to await their turn and gardens to tour for those with cameras.

We parked the car and walked across the beautiful lawn to the entrance where a line was formed. When we got inside the door my husband leaned over to the maitre d' and said, "We're the Bombecks."

"So nice of you to come," he said softly.

"You came so highly recommended," said my husband.

"I suppose you get a lot of your business from AAA," I smiled.

The man looked at us blankly.

"There are five of us and we have reservations," boomed my husband.

It wasn't until we were being escorted to the larger room that we saw the sign, "Rest Haven Funeral Home."

Economist doesn't foresee depression of '1929 type'

BOSTON (UPI) — Economist Paul Samuelson says the United States is in a recession now, but that he does not foresee a depression of the magnitude of 1929 because of federal safeguards.

Samuelson, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor and former presidential advisor, told the Boston Society of Security Analysts his outlook on the future of the nation's economy was "pessimistic because the illness is so deep."

He said the country's economy had been "going downhill for half a year."

But he also said "this country is not headed for a 1929-type depression." He said the federal government has the federal government has the capacity to bail out any banks in trouble because of economic problems. Bank failures were in the thousands in 1929 and in the following years.

Lifting ban hikes traffic in opium

PARIS (UPI) — Turkey's decision to lift its ban on opium production has already led to a resurgence of activity by narcotics dealers, the United States' top anti-drug official said Monday.

"There is greater trafficking in white heroin now that the ban is to be lifted," said John Bartels, administrator of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

"People who were stockpiling drugs to await a higher price are now moving the stuff out. There is every prospect the old dealers who were out of business...will come back or others will take over," he said.

Bartels said Turkey's decision could result in a Turkish Connection moving heroin to the United States and Western Europe to replace the French Connection smashed by U.S. and French authorities.

He said that following the dismantling of the French operation which routed heroin from Turkey and the East to the United States after refining in Marseille laboratories, the number of heroin addicts in the United States dropped from more than half a million in 1970 to 200,000 in 1971.

The Turkish move probably will lead to an increase in heroin addiction in the United States and an increase of drug use in West Germany, Denmark, Sweden and other European countries, Bartels said.

"If the diversion (of opium) from Turkey is anything like the late 1960s, there is every indication the addicts figure will go up again," Bartels said.

For Thursday, Sept. 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Over the next few days you'll find yourself much in demand socially. It should be fun. There is one arrangement, though, you'll have to be careful of.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good time to give serious consideration to making creative changes around the house. They'll add both warmth and beauty.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Use today to get in touch with people who figure in your future plans. It will be easier to reach them now than later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You can handle money-related matters or business situations more capably today than tomorrow. Give them your attention now.

Vienna says it will move Jewish camp

VIENNA (UPI) — City authorities said today they would relocate a Red Cross transit camp for Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel following protests from residents of Simmering, a suburb of Vienna.

"We will definitely continue to give aid and shelter to Jewish emigrants, but we will move the transit camp to a safer place to minimize the risk for the population," Mayor Leopold Gratz said.

Residents of Simmering expressed fears that Arab guerrillas might attack the camp and endanger neighboring families.

In September last year, Arab gunmen forced the Austrian government to close down a Jewish-run transit camp for Soviet Jews at Schoenau Castle, near Vienna, in exchange for the release of four hostages.

The Schoenau Castle camp was replaced by a Red Cross transit center at Woellersdorf, 40 miles south of Vienna. It was then moved last week to Simmering in Vienna's 11th district.

Cigarette packages deal nothing but a pipe dream

This may appear to be an odd request.

I was told that cigarette manufacturers donate certain amounts of money to various hospitals for free kidney machine treatment according to the number of empty cigarette packages sent in.

Three local hospitals I contacted stated they had not heard of such a program.

Is there one?—H.S.

We don't think your question is odd. It's one we have been asking.

Several smokers have asked where they could contribute their empty packs.

Most thought there was a campaign for kidney machine treatment. Some thought it was for an iron lung. One had heard of a campaign for the gift of a seeing eye dog.

When we investigated locations where packs were being accepted, we were told each time that the person initiating the drive locally had heard about it from someone else.

He would call back as soon as he found out the facts. No one ever called back.

We wrote to the Kidney Foundation of Southern California. Leonard Gottlieb, executive director, said he had no information on such a campaign although he had checked several other sources.

Then a subscriber told us he had heard of a definite destination for the empties, the City of Hope.

But Gerald Ruben, administrator of the City of Hope, knew nothing about the drive. He suggested we call the UCLA Medical Center. The people there couldn't enlighten us.

He said the collectors may be recycling the foil in the packages. It occurred to us that they may be salvaging those with gift coupons and ditching the rest.

Until someone can give us definite information to the contrary, we must brand such campaigns a hoax.

When I concluded my vacation and prepared in Mexico City to fly back to Los Angeles I was informed that a $4 per person tax was required to board the plane.

I paid $12 for the three persons in our party.

Since the tour company which made the arrangements had stated that full air transportation was included in our tour, I am seeking reimbursement of the $12.

The regional manager of the tour company has turned me down. Can you help me?—H.D, La Verne.

We couldn't move the regional manager from his original position.

When you called him to report you had to pay the additional amount, that was news to the tour company.

The manager checked by phone with the airline but was unable to get official information.

On July 29 the tour company was notified that effective July 15, an airport duty tax was being collected from everyone boarding a flight at Mexico City or Acapulco airports.

The effective date was two days after you left for Mexico.

The company, according to the manager, prepared a notice to clients that a charge would be made on their return and that it was not included in the tour cost.

Since you already were in Mexico, you apparently didn't receive it. To date, says the manager, you are the only one to mention the extra cost.

Pleasant surprise for taxpayers

School tax boost cut by 16½ cents

That whopping tax increase in the Chino School District won't be quite as high as expected.

The tax boost will be 74 cents per $100 assessed valuation for 1974-75 instead of 90½ cents, Supt. Royce Lapp told the school board Tuesday night.

County officials formally set the tax at $5.1883, 16 cents less than estimated by trustees when they approved an $11.5 million budget last month. Last year's rate was $4.4272.

Lapp explained that, "We never know the exact tax rate when we submit it. The county figures it out."

He pointed out that the $5.6575 rate of 1972-73 was 47 cents higher than this year.

Reason for the 16-cent difference between the district estimate and the county's final rate was some "shuffling" the county did, Lapp indicated.

Several taxes such those levied for state bond repayment and community service were estimated higher by the district then the final rate.

Lapp said the over-all tax boost was necessary this year to offset money lost by the district in average daily attendance, as well as to keep up with rising costs.

In other business, the board gave final approval to drawings and specifications for completion of Magnolia Junior High School and authorized going to bid for the $2,008,504 second building increment.

Lapp estimated construction on the new classroom and media center building and kitchen, should begin by December.

Trustees cut the total cost down by about $140,000, by eliminating proposed tennis and handball courts at the school, an atrium, service yard, and some landscaping, paving and furniture and equipment costs.

Jack Anderson, the city's recreation director, objected by letter to elimination of the handball and tennis courts. Speaking for the Chino Recreation Commission, he indicated courts should be retained "to provide community recreational facilities in a portion of the city that presently has no such facilities—east of Benson Avenue."

The board also denied a claim filed on behalf of Chino Federation of Teachers, Local 2086, which contends the district delays payment of monies deducted from employe paychecks to annuity companies and the credit union.

Payment has been delayed for 45 days from the time paychecks are issued, the claim says. Teachers are asking for "reasonable interest" on all annuity monies withheld during a three-year period.

Sen. Richardson wants no blanket pardons; asks crime crack down

It would be wrong for President Ford to pardon all persons involved in the Watergate scandals, State Sen. H. L. "Bill" Richardson, R-19th Dist., said Tuesday.

His pardon of former President Nixon gives the impression of a deal, and any further pardons, of anyone, would tend to confirm that opinion on the part of many, Richardson charged on a swing through the valley.

Richardson, Republican nominee, will challenge Sen. Alan Cranston for one of California's two seats in the U.S. Senate on Nov. 5.

He said he believes Ford "operated well within his constitutional boundaries" in pardoning Nixon, but "several assumptions are to be drawn.

"The first of these is implied guilt," said Richardson. "If President Ford believes the pardon will resolve any doubt of guilt and get the matter over with, the contrary will happen. Actually, the presidential pardon infers guilt," said Richardson.

He agreed with Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe's statement that vigilante groups may organize and take the law into their own hands because of the increase of violent crime.

"The thing starts," Richardson explained," when people feel they are not getting sufficient protection from their police departments."

"The people set up walled communities, with private, armed security guards. In neighborhoods where people cannot afford this, men organize to protect their homes. All of these things are coming to pass," he added.

"In addition, when citizens catch criminals and turn them over to law enforcement agencies, there is no punishment, and soon the individual is back on the streets," he said.

"The final act is when the citizens no longer turn those individuals over to law enforcement, but act on the spot," Richardson said. "This is street justice. This is vigilante activity."

"We're more than half way there right now," said Richardon.

"The timetable," he said," is dependent upon the government's attitude towards punishment, and towards the economy, because the economy, and crime are directly related."

H. L. RICHARDSON

"Government," Richardson said, "has failed to meet its obligations to protect lives and property, and to protect the economic solvency of the citizens."

"This is not an irreversible thing. The men in office have not performed their duties. If the public chooses to change this pattern, they must change the men in office," he stressed.

Richardson said most men in government today know how to spend and tax but have no concept of economics.

"For that reason, the federal government haas been expanding the money supply, inflating the amount of paper money. This has caused the rise in prices. More dollars are chasing the same business services," he added.

"The problem lies with government, with the politician. American people are tough and very forgiving, but they will only take so much," he said.

Richardson said that he expects to see some very strong political changes in November, and they will come through the prevailing philosophy of "throw the rascals out."

"Real leadership will have to come from federal legislators willing to cut back at home," he said. "They're going to have to be willing to take a 10 per cent cut out of their own pockets and put their money where their mouths are," he said.

Richardson, a man who became disenchanted with Richard Nixon in 1962, and in 1972 was the only Republican officials in California who didn't endorse the former president, first was elected to the State Senate in 1966.

He feels he has a good chance to defeat Cranston in November if people will study the differences between the two candidates.

"I am very stong on defense for the U.S. Cranston is very weak," he said. "Cranston believes in inflation. He has voted consistently for deficit spending. I do not. Cranston is outspoken against the death penalty. I've supported the death penalty all along."

Richardson, 46, is an advertising businessman. He and his wife, Barbara, and three teen-age children live in Arcadia.

Known as a strong law-and-order man, he grins and says, "The only thing being recycled in our communities these days is the criminal element."

Truck business wins request for zone change

The Pomona City Council Tuesday night approved a zone change request for property at 1070 to 1110 S. Reservoir St., where a new trucking business is planned.

The request, from T3 (transitional) to M1 (light industrial), was made by Pomona Realtor Sanford Newton, representing the unnamed developer.

The property totals slightly less than one acre and is located on the southeast corner of Reservoir Street and Transit Avenue.

The area is master planned for industrial use.

In other business, the council approved the filing of a grant request for $264,560 in funds from the 1974 State Bonds Park Act.

When received, the monies will be used for a variety of projects at Lincoln, Garfield, Kennedy, Weber and Harrison Parks and at Palomares Junior High School.

The council also approved a $100,000 allocation from revenue sharing funds for people-related programs within the city. Specific allocations to various agencies within the city will not be made by the council until the Community Life Commission makes its recommendations to the council in about 60 days.

The council also approved a zoning code amendment that defines conditions under which variances may be granted, and gave second reading to an ordinance dealing with truck routes within the city.

Hours extended on registration

Mt. San Antonio College has extended registration for the fall semester until 4 p.m. Friday.

Students in both the day and evening divisions are urged to register early, because many classes are filling up and are being closed, college officials said.

More than 1,400 class sections in over 100 major fields are being offered both day and night. Students who wish additional information should contact the office of admissions and records at the college.

Subject of meeting is office technique

Helpful office hints will be the subject of Thursday's meeting of the Tri-County Dental Hygiene Society scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at 5507 Wentworth Drive, Riverside.

The social hour is 6:30 p.m. Reservations for dinner may be made by calling Kathy Edson at 687-6249.

New contestants from Pomona include Mary and Jennifer Buchanan, 133 Penfield St., Penny Singleton, 849 Somerset Ave., David and Michael Lopez, 1274 Val Vista St.; Mike Waldron, 3109 Florinda St.; and Willam Harding, 1738 Elaine St.

Entering the competition from Claremont are Sharon Gray, 868 Kent Drive and Tony Locicero of 1162 Briarcroft Road.

Karen Harris, 1676 La Mesa Drive, La Verne, and Pat Fagan, 505 N. Fernshaw Drive, La Verne, will also participate.

City considers new clubhouse for golfers

There is a possibility that San Dimas may drop plans to remodel the existing clubhouse at the San Dimas Golf Course and instead build a new clubhouse.

City Manager Robert Poff said bids to have the present cramped clubhouse revamped are more than it would cost to construct a new building.

Poff said the City Council had anticipated the remodeling estimates to be $180,000 but instead the lowest bid was $240,000.

"We feel we can construct a new facility for $200,000 with a slightly smaller clubhouse," Poff said.

Poff said plans to build an underground storage garage for the golf carts would also be dropped and instead the carts will be kept in a metal storage shed.

He said the city is not trying to construct a public facility to hold large parties but just a clubhouse for golfers to use. He said the new design for the clubhouse would include banquet facilities to accommodate 100 persons.

The present clubhouse would be torn down, Poff said.

Everett Tozier of Claremont is the architect for the project.

The city manager said he will take the plan to the golf course review committee next week and the City Council will vote on the plan at the Sept. 23 meeting.

Environmental report recommendation tabled

The Claremont City Council Tuesday night tabled a recommendation calling for a procedure in which an impartial party other than a developer would be responsible for preparing an environmental impact report for a specific project.

The recommendation had come from the city Environmental Quality Board, which also suggested that the city hire the impartial party, and then bill the developer.

City Atty. William Bergman said that a developer can save a lot of money by preparing the environmental impact report himself.

The city's present procedure is for a developer to prepare a draft EIR, but the Environmental Quality Board to make the final report.

Councilwoman Eleanor Cohen said that she is not ready to "kill nor to support" the EQB recommendation. She said she feels the EQB should do more work on the recommendation. She suggested tabling the matter.

City Planning Director Don King explained that the EQB recommendation stemmed from the proposed Carl Karcher Enterprises drive-in restaurant project in which standards for auto emissions and air quality were discussed.

At its Aug. 28 meeting, the board had agreed that such information could or could not be accurate depending on numerous variables involved.

Board member Ron Quinn had indicated at that meeting that an air pollution study should be done by a public agency and not a private firm.

Board Chairman Sally Vogel said she would like the city to contract for preparation of an EIR rather than allow a developer to contract for such work.

Mrs. Cohen suggested the city compile a list of firms having expertise in environmental fields who could prepare an EIR.

Deputy City Manager Paul Brotzman said that if the city recommended experts to a developer, the consultant could be working for the contractor and not the city.

He suggested that the city staff work up guidelines for the Environmental Quality Board. Such guidelines should be available for council consideration at the next meeting.

The council set the Sept. 24 meeting as the time to consider an appeal by Karcher Enterprises to an EQB decision that the firm must prepare an EIR for its development on Foothill Boulevard.

Accountants meeting is open to everyone

Richard E. Lewis, president of Accountants Overload, Los Angeles, will discuss "Personal Development in the Accounting Profession" at the 6 p.m. meeting Thursday of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Club 66 on Foothill Boulevard in Cucamonga. Anyone interested in accounting is welcome.

Board confirms $2.6 million deficit

In compliance with a request from county school officials, the Pomona school board Tuesday agreed to confirm in writing its awareness of the $2.6 million income deficit in the 1974-75 budget adopted Aug. 1.

"This is a very serious matter," said board vice president Don Donnelly, who chaired the meeting in the absence of president Ken Pine.

Donnelly asked Dr. Garrett C. Nichols, assistant superintendent of business services, to read aloud his memo to the board informing it of the county's request.

"Our $25.7 million adopted budget for 1974-75 is based upon deficit financing in the amount of $2,654,707," read Nichols. Reserve funds were used to bring it into balance and avoid staff or program cuts.

"Projecting ahead to 1975-76 will create a problem which we hope to resolve by passage of Proposition QQ on the Nov. 5 ballot," Nichols continued.

The letter requesting the written statement of the board's awareness of the income deficit came from William B. Haley, director of the division of business advisory services with Los Angeles County Schools.

Haley said data in his office often is not adequate to detect financial management problems. "If for any reason you think the district reserves will be reduced to an amount that would place the district in a precarious financial position, the staff of this office will assist you in the analysis of the problem," he continued.

Nichols pointed out that passage by voters of Proposition QQ, a $1.44 increase per $100 of assessed vaulation in the general purpose tax rate, would eliminate the economic disaster the district faces in 1975-76 unless it gets additional income.

"At this time it is estimated that our revenue limit will increase to $965 per average daily attendance (ADA) for the 1975-76 school year," said district community information officer Douglas Robertson.

"But it will take another $136 per ADA—or a revised limit of about $1,101 per ADA—to enable us to merely maintain our current level of service next year."

Robertson pointed out that the 1974-75 tax rate of $4.5185 is the lowest in 10 years. The 1974-75 revenue limit per pupil, imposed under the tax reform measure Senate Bill 90, is $912 per ADA.

In other actions, the school board:

—Authorized attendance for board members at a National School Boards Association workshop on Institutional Racism to be held Oct. 11-13 in San Francisco.

—Authorized administrators to expand the Individually Guided Education (IGE) program into the secondary schools and to send four secondary educators to workshops in Missouri and Georgia later this year. The educators represent the Ganesha Cluster and will serve as a pilot operation for the comprehensive IGE program, which has functioned successfully the past three years in district elementary schools. The workshops will be conducted by Kettering Foundation's Institute for Developement of Educational Activities (IDEA).

—Authorized a follow-up study of graduates from Pomona, Garey and Ganesha high schools with Human Factors Research financed by Vocational Education Act funds.

—Extended its lease agreement on a no-change basis with Clark Brothers of Pomona to provide 14 driver training cars for the regular school year and 12 for the summer school program. This agency has provided the driver training cars for the district for seven years.

Opinion

ZPG could dry up S.S. well

Today, for each person drawing Social Security benefits there are 3.2 contributing workers. In a generation, because of slowing population growth, there will be only 2.2 workers for every beneficiary.

Beginning next year, automatic increases in benefits will be determined by quarterly changes in the Consumer Price Index in an attempt to make Social Security inflation-proof. This will place even greater burdens on the system.

It is becoming increasingly clear that unless basic changes are made in the Social Security system, in coming years a proportionately smaller work force will be called upon to finance greater and greater benefits for more and more retirees.

For this reason, the Advisory Council on Social Security, appointed last April, has launched a major study of the future financial requirements of the system. It is expected to make recommendations to Congress before the end of the year.

One alternative to higher and higher payroll taxes that is gaining support from legislative leaders is the use of general federal revenues for specific purposes, such as cost-of-living increases. The idea is also championed by the nation's chief spokesman for senior citizens, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

In a recent editorial in its news bulletin, the AARP points out that for years, the American public has been led to believe that Social Security is a fiscally sound "contributory" system of "Insurance" for old age and has not subjected the program to the thorough examination it deserves. In order to avoid bankruptcy, says AARP, the time has come for serious reappraisal and corrective action. It is also "high time that a number of myths about Social Security are put to rest once and for all.

—Social Security is NOT an annuity program. Retirement benefits are not necessarily related to contributions made. For example, a family in which both the husband and wife worked and paid Social Security taxes usually receives the same benefits as a family in which the wife did not work.

—Social Security taxes are NOT paid into a trust fund ear-marked for an individual's future retirement benefits. Today's Social Security taxes are used to provide benefits for today's retirees. The Social Security "trust fund" now contains approximately $68 billion, while the actual benefits owed participants is valued at more than $500 billion.

—Social Security payments are NOT "contributions." They are compulsory taxes.

—Employers do NOT share the burden of Social Security taxes equally with employes. Their share is treated like any other business cost. It can be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices or to the worker as a long-range reduction in his potential salary. It is also deductible for income tax purposes as a business expense.

—Although Social Security is based upon a moral commitment between generations, there is no legal guarantee that benefits will be paid to future generations, particularly if the "trust fund" does not remain solvent.

"No pious platitudes about the system's 'fiscal integrity' or sermons about how well it has worked in the past (and it has worked well for many years) can change the fact that the demands on the system in 1975, 1985, 1995 and beyond are going to be far greater and far different than they were when Social Security began nearly 40 years ago," says the editorial.

Today's working Americans provide for the nation's present retirees through their Social Security taxes. Older Americans, AARP believes, have an equal obligation to insure that today's workers find some measure of security in their later years.

The Constitution

For close to two centuries the Constitution of the United States has stood as the socio-political marvel of history, the bastion of the hopes of all men who seek the freedom to find happiness and dignity and to live in amity with their neighbors.

It has been bent and buffeted, bypassed and misinterpreted, but it has stood firm because it embodies the basics of human relationships: justice, domestic tranquility, the common defense, the general welfare, and the blessings of liberty.

Some of the amendments offered and passed presumably to broaden its scope have been misguided and have failed. Others have indeed, extended its basic premise beneficially. None have effectively altered the essential, God-inspired magnificence of its message to mankind, its guidelines for all generations if only they will recognize them.

Citizenship Day, September 17, commemorates the adoption of the Constitution by the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787, and launches the observance of Constitution Week. Having just seen great evidence that our constitutional procedures still stand through severe crisis, we can well make this year's observance a little more meaningful than ever before in our lifetimes.

Withhold criticism on Pres. Ford

Re your editorial Sunday Aug. 16, "Is there a Saint". It is a pity that you are not open minded enough to withhold your belittling of our new President Jerry Ford until he has a chance to make a change in our domestic affairs, and find out if he will be successful, before using your axe.

When FDR went into office, most everyone withheld any criticism and gave him a chance to try out some of the ideas President Hoover had ready (bank closures for one), but being saddled with a Democrat Congress, Hoover could do nothing and FDR would not work with him. FDR said that he wanted the economy to be at rock bottom when he took over so there would be no way for it to go but up. You may remember the depression was still with us until FDR was able to get us into World War II.

It seems the decent and prudent thing to do would be to give President Ford a chance without trying to poison the minds of everyone by dragging up every derogatory remark or rumor by people who may not be or have been very reliable or wise themselves, to try to prove that he is not a saint. Who is? Maybe you think you could quality. Most people do not expect any man to be a saint, so let's hold down the snide remarks. — R. L. Freeland, Claremont.

Alley needs asphalt

I was aware of the dirt and rocks that fly when cars go down the alley behind our houses, but wasn't ashamed of it until guests from Ontario mentioned having "alleys like this in Pomona."

Can this be one small reason people are moving from our nice city? We have to use the alleys to get to our garages—or park on the street and have our gas tanks drained.

Couldn't the city put down a layer of asphalt? The dust this time of year, and mud later on are really a hazard. Our alley is between Wilson and Randolph—east of Hamilton.— Norma Readel, Pomona.

Sealing the coverup

"Pardon" me Mr. Ford, but your slip is showing. The old "slip it to the American people" is back on the scene.

For a while I thought the American people had finally gotten a man with guts enough to stand by the "Constitution" and see that everyone received "Equal Justice." But instead, "The Carcass" wins again.

For two years, "The Carcass" blatantly lied to the American people and smiled while doing it. Now, "The Carcass" is laughing at us and our system of justice: (Justice? What is freedom of speech, freedom of religion, EQUAL JUSTICE under the law, and all that.)

Yes sir, Mr. Ford, everyone should have a "Pardon" up his sleeve, and this "Pardon" was part of the deal "The Carcass" and you cooked up in order to seal the coverup. "Pardon" me, Mr. Ford, but your carcass is showing too. — Richard M. Vasquez, Chino.

Ford warns Turkey on opium

WASHINGTON — President Ford has secretly instructed U.S. Ambassador William Macomber to warn the Turkish government that the United States may withhold economic aid if Turkey refuses to cooperate on opium controls.

The revival of the Turkish opium trade could be a serious blow to U.S. efforts to curtail heroin smuggling, which has helped aggravate the crime wave in American cities. For most of the heroin, sold on the streets by drug pushers, used to come from Turkish opium.

Under a 1972 agreement, the United States paid Turkey $35.7 million to ban opium production. This has reduced the availability of heroin in the United States.

But last June, the Turks announced they would resume opium production. Former President Nixon ignored repeated requests from Congress that he pressure the Turks to uphold the opium ban. Not long after President Ford moved into the White House, however, he sent the first blunt signal to Ankara.

On August 30, he fired off a secret cable to Macomber, directing him to tell the Turks that the United States would help them monitor their opium crop but might shut off economic aid if they didn't cooperate in controlling the heroin traffic.

Three days later, Macomber sent back a pessimistic report on the progress of a United Nations narcotics team in Turkey. His "discussions with team," he cabled, "reveal gloomy picture . . .

"Turkish officials say they intend concentrate acreage as far as possible to facilitate control but plans they have in mind do not appear consistent such approach," Macomber reported tersely.

His confident cable noted "that head of narcotics police is developing arrangements for patrolling fields during critical period and that these proposed arrangements seem encouraging on paper." But the cable questioned "how these measures will work out in practice."

International Narcotics Control Board Chairman Sir Harry Greenfield, who met with U.S. officials in Turkey last week, "is not optimistic that Turks can be persuaded reduce acreage . . .

"Turks claim they have already sold 30 tons of opium from first harvest," added Macomber, "and have to date received inquiries from other prospective buyers for up to 100 tons."

Greenfield has sought a meeting, meanwhile, with Turkey's President Bulent Ecevit. "But foreign ministry officials have made clear," according to the cable, "this request unlikely to be granted."

It looks as if the Turks intend to call President Ford's bluff. If he backs down, the flow of heroin into the United States surely will rise and will bring with it a new surge of crime. But if the United States cuts off economic aid to Turkey, the Turks may follow the Greek example and pull out of NATO, leaving the Western alliance dangerously exposed in the Mediterranean.

Footnote: In fairness to the Turks, they have tried in vain to persuade the United States to sign a U.N. agreement controlling the distribution of pep pills, goof balls and hallucinogens. Drug enforcement officials estimate that half of the 16 billion drug pills that the United States produces each year wind up in the underworld. The United States cannot sign the U.N. agreement without enabling legislation, which the drug industry has opposed.

Haig exits with best of both worlds

WASHINGTON — There's this simplistic devil theory held by some conservatives that the national news media's double standard applies only across ideological lines. Not so. Being a liberal may be a big factor in smoothing a political figure's press relations. But it isn't the only factor.

Our current Secretary of State, for one, is permitted by a favorable press to get away with gaffes for which his predecessors, William Rogers and Dean Rusk, would have been editorially flogged. Yet Rogers and Rusk were both accredited Eastern establishmentarians. What's the difference? Something in Henry Kissinger's style.

It seems we have a style-conscious national capital press corps. Some public figures have it. Some don't. Which raises an interesting point. Pre-Watergate, how much of Richard Nixon's continuing travail with the press was the result of his not having the style of, say, his latest White House chief of staff?

Smooth Alec. By the time these words reach print, Gen. Haig's new Commander-in-Chief will have reassigned him from White House duty. Or, if that hasn't happened yet, it will very shortly. Which is good news for the operation of the Ford White House. The sooner Alexander Haig takes the civvies off and puts the uniform back on, the better.

Let me differ, however, from the usual writ followed by the obstreperous, style-unconscious cabal in the press corps left unsoothed by the general's public relations talents.

My own objection to Haig's tenure as White House chief of staff, you see, isn't so much that he served Richard Nixon. So did Ron Ziegler. But while Rough Ron left Washington with the obloquy of media critics ringing in his ears, Smooth Alec has managed to care and feed his own personal image very well. Very well, indeed.

Style the general certainly has. If nothing else, let the record be straight on that facet of the Nixon years. Haig was one of the most accomplished self-promoters ever to pad the carpeted corridors around the Oval Office.

Consider: as chief executioner during the so-called Saturday night massacre, Smooth Alec carried out his duties with ruthless efficiency. Yet afterward, the word was sent along the media grapevine that Haig wasn't really responsible for his actions the night of the Cox-Ruckelshaus-Richardson purge. Like a good soldier, he was just carrying out orders.

This was the line which invariably went out whenever the general handled a political hatchet assignment.

It worked, too. Oh, Haig took a little editorial heat. But it always passed over. Style crushed to earth will rise again. Just doing a soldier's job, you know.

That, at least, was Smooth Alec's self-promotional line until the last, gasping hours of the old regime. For when Richard Nixon's cause was finally beyond salvage, impeachment imminent and power slipping from his hands, there came a new Haig image.

No longer was the President's chief of staff simply a soldier following orders. The curtain lifted to reveal the general as a man with so much influence in the Oval Office that he alone had saved the Republic from constitutional crisis. Why, if it hadn't been for Haig's handling the scenario and cueing the performers during those agonizing hours, Nixon's resignation might not have come off!

That was Smooth Alec's last line. There are people in this town who'll swear by it, too. Ironic, isn't it? That Ron Ziegler, the supposed p.r. man, served his boss's interests and left town looking like a military martinet, while Smooth Alec Haig, a military martinet, looked after his own p.r. and came away with the best of both worlds.

Just in jest

School days, school days, dear old golden rule days—once again they're under way! And so, in addition to the 3-Rs (Reveling, Revolting and Rioting) what's new this year in modern education?

Well, in Tacoma, Washington, and in several other cities throughout the country, the teachers went on strike the minute school opened.

At Portland, Oregon, school coaches of the girls' track and field teams joined together and instituted a court suit, claiming that they were being discriminated against because they were being paid less than the coaches of boys' track teams.

And in Australia, Queensland University is conducting a study to determine whether wearing halter-neck brassieres makes young women round shouldered.

Throughout the United States 29 percent of the population is involved in some phase of education—either as students or teachers. And even at that, enrollments in our schools and colleges is now at 4-year low. But never fear! In spite of fewer enrollments, the cost of education is now at an all time high.

Taxpayers finance industry risks

WASHINGTON — The economic mess this nation is now in cannot be blamed solely on the blunders of Congress and the executive, as serious as these have consistently been over the past 15 years or so.

The problem rests, too, with the changing nature of the 1,000 leading businesses of this nation.

By and large, management is now in the hands of professional managers. These men, many of whom come from the same dozen colleges, think in like patterns. Numbers act, think and talk like big-government bureaucrats. Some are in and out of government and, while in Washington are almost indistinguishable from the careerists.

Many of these new-type managers are not wedded to their jobs but rather to personal advancement. A sizable number hop from one concern to another, gaining advancement with each move. They are interested, in large measure, in setting a quick track record.

Over the long run, say a decade or two, impressive growth depends on taking intelligent chances, well-considered risks in pushing into new fields or new industrial methods which may take long years to show profit. If a manager aims at quick profits in two to four years, he will avoid risks and ventures which only promise payoffs far in the future. He may organize mergers and concentrate on areas where he can pass rising costs on to the customer without serious complications.

Productivity will rise slowly. Expansion will be slow and cautious. New inventions and new concepts will be adopted at a snail's pace if at all. Patents will be bought and pigeonholed. Many sound ideas will be carefully buried.

Witness the slow pace at which the $20 billion a year in government research and development is adapted and translated into new or improved industrial projects. And witness the speed with which Japanese and West German businessmen utilize new American discoveries.

American industrialists invited in by the government, and these have included the chiefs or high representatives of some of the major corporations in this country, have asked the federal establishment to take over such normal private business functions as running marketing tests for new products, setting up government-financed pilot plants and even, in some cases, requested full-scale model operations at taxpayer expense. Only if the government proves the ventures to be safe, some of these men say, will their firms be interested in investing.

This reaction is not unusual. In instance after instance, executives of major enterprises have told the government they are not receptive to taking risks in developing new products. This contrasts sharply with the attitude of executives of these same companies this reporter talked to regularly 10 and 20 years ago. The emphasis then was on new ideas. Risks were minimized by careful planning. Successes more than compensated for failures.

There is a limit, of course, to the present "hold-down." American industry is progressing but certainly its progress does not match that of Japan or West Germany in recent years. Our technological lead is disappearing, gradually but surely.

New materials and products are developed and marketed of course and products do get improved. But these advances are not taking place at the pace necessary to make possible the industrial expansion required to absorb our growing population, to stimulate the output necessary to hold inflation within reasonable limits and to provide for the regularly improving standards of living all of us aim for.

The political arena

Democratic National Commiteewoman ROSALIND WYMAN will be speaker at a fund-raising luncheon for JIM LLOYD Sept. 23 at the Pomona National Golf Course in Walnut.

The speaker, a former Los Angeles City Council member and now an adviser on governmental consolidation for Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, will be honored at a reception prior to the 12:30 p.m. program.

Lloyd, a member of the West Covina City Council, is the Democratic candidate in the newly created 35th Congressional District.

Co-chairmen for the luncheon are attorneys Sam Crowe of Ontario, Bill Shernoff of Claremont and Howard Weiner of Covina.

Tickets are $25 each and reservations can be made by contacting Larry Wade or Lola Fox at (213) 331-0844 or (714) 599-7677.

Republican candidates for state and national offices are expected to attend the opening Thursday of the new Pomona Republican headquarters at 175 W. Holt Ave.

They include BRIAN VAN CAMP: secretary of state; JOHN MARCUS, state Senate; PETE VANDER POEL, state Assembly; and Rep. VICTOR VEYSEY, U.S. House of Representatives.

"Pomona is united for the first time in many years into one district for each of our regional offices—Congress, state Senate and state Assembly," said Ray Lepire, chairman of the new 65th Assembly District Republican Central Committee.

"Pomona will play a major role in the choice of our representatives. And this grand opening provides an excellent opportunity for the public to meet local Republican candidates and for Republicans throughout Pomona to get together and see their new Central Committee in operation."

In addition, Van Camp will visit the Republican headquarters in Claremont on Thursday from 3 to 3:30 p.m. The headquarters is located at 985 W. Foothill Blvd., Suite E.

RAY SWANSON, certified public accountant, has been appointed treasurer of the Pomona campaign committee of Houston Flournoy, Republican candidate for governor.

Other committee members include John Catron, chairman, Charles Richardson, Clyde Warren and Clem Neibel, members.

Rep. VICTOR VEYSEY, R-43rd Dist., expressed surprise over President Ford's granting a full pardon to former President Richard M. Nixon.

I'm afraid that being forced from office under a cloud of suspicion is a heavy punishment for the deeds that have been alleged against Nixon. Both Nixon and his immediate family have suffered a tremendous loss, and no practical purpose would be served by continuing to pursue the matter in court.

"While a pardon to Nixon will make it easier to obtain testimony in other Watergate-related matters, it also raises serious questions about the fairness of a judicial system which excuses some and prosecutes others.

"It has been my hope that the Watergate matter will be quickly put behind us so we can take effective action on some of the other problems such as inflation. I'm sure President Ford believes his decision will signal an end to the Watergate episode."

★ ★ ★

State Sen. RUBEN AYALA, D-20th Dist., described Ford's action in granting Nixon a "full, free and absolute" pardon as "most unfortunate and regrettable."

"We are now telling the American public to forget Watergate and to re-establish faith in their elected officials," he added.

"How do we justify this action to our young people? Last week President Ford suggested that young men seeking amnesty from draft violations be given an opportunity to work their way back. But Mr. Nixon doesn't have to do this, apparently."

World food sufficient for 10 years

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The world will be able to feed itself at least for the next 10 years, according to a new report published Monday by the University of California.

The study, carried out by a task force of university scientists, concludes that "barring some unexpected catastrophe" the expanding world population can be fed and there will be no widespread famine, at least through 1985.

But the scientists said there may be starvation in some regions unless a distribution system is worked out to move food from well-off areas to hungry areas.

The study said shortages would occur in some parts of Asia, Africa and Latin America, and that surpluses may occur in North America, Australia and New Zealand.

"These potential surpluses could be big enough to provide the entire world with an adequate level of diet in 1985," the report said.

Mayor, council at breakfast

Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire and the Pomona City Council will be the guests of honor Thursday at a "Meet Your Mayor and City Council" breakfast sponsored by the Pomona Jaycees.

The 7:30 a.m. breakfast, in the Palomares Room at Buffums, will be followed by brief comments from the mayor and council members and a question and answer session open to the public.

The theme of the program is "Unity in Action."

Cost of the breakfast is $2.75 per person.

Officer didn't get the word

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — It was all planned, but somewhere, somehow, there was a snag in the operation.

A spokesman for the Police Department said all but one of the 52 officers scheduled for duty on the night shift Monday called in sick. The problem was solved by holding over the day shift officers.

An officer said the sick calls were an organized protest by officers to demonstrate their demands for a 10.8 per cent pay hike.

He said he did not know why the one officer who did show up came to work and would not identify him.

Car strikes, kills circus performer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Circus performer George Kristev, 32, of Bolivia, was struck and killed by a car today as he stood on a street corner.

Kristev's wife, Betty, 30, whom he married two months ago, was hospitalized in serious condition at Hennepin County General.

Air travel gets safer

You know those insurance companies that sell short-term travel policies out at the airports? Understand they're only having to pay out a nickel on every dollar they get now. Some return, what? Ten years ago, claims took more than 60 per cent of the premium income. Credit recent air safety.

WOMEN in Saudi Arabia to this day aren't permitted to drive cars.

STATISTICALLY, the man with the tattoo is said to drink considerably more than average. Or did you guess as much?

THOSE SIX FIELDS, wherein the most scholars get master's degrees are education, engineering, social sciences, business, English literature and journalism. In that order.

LOVE AND WAR

WOMEN secrete both male and female hormones, that's widely known. Now the claim is made that brunettes secrete more male hormones than do blondes, and therefore, it's averred, brunettes are more aggressive than blondes. This masculine-type aggressiveness of brunettes in turn is said to put men on the defensive. And such is thought to explain why gentlemen do indeed generally prefer blondes. Our Love and War man reports the foregoing without much conviction.

Q. "YEARS AGO you said Noah Webster, the of Webster's Dictionary, only coined one word. What word?"
A. "Demoralize."

YOU CAN FIGURE it would take 81 moons to make one earth.

TRAVEL TIPS

TRAVEL EXPERTS IN Tokyo have put out a booklet of tips to Japanese air tourists. Among other recommendations, it suggests passengers do not change into their pajamas in the airplane aisle. Maybe you recall hearing about that booklet. It's the one that also advises those passengers to face outward, not toward the wall, when seated in an American bathroom.

ACTOR CHARLES BRONSON reports that his family was so poor he started school in dresses outgrown by his sister.

AMONG Thomas Jefferson's numerous reasons for renown was the first president to wear long trousers.

THE SUICIDE RATE is said to be higher among ladies of the night than among any other professionals.

It's too late now to thin a dog's coat

By Dr. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is it a good idea to shave a long-haired dog that's been badly bothered by the heat.—A.L.

Dear A.L.: No. It's not a good idea to shave one—even a haircut is not a good idea this time of year because the hair wouldn't have time to grow out before cold weather could cause chilling problems. The time to clip the coat (or, with many breeds, to thin it is preferable) is early summer, and then at least a little hair must be left to prevent embarrassment and, of equal importance, sunburn.

DEAR DR. MILLER: My pet Cleopatra, a true-blue American cockroach, has been feeling out of sorts lately with a digestive upset. I think she may have worms but nobody I've talked to knows whether cockroaches have them. As a matter of fact, it's been intimated that I'm out of my head for asking such a question. Could you please enlighten me about this? I know you'll be sympathetic. — L. L.

Dear L.L.: Certainlyp my sypathy extends to both you and Cleo. Worms? Yes, cockroaches can have roundworms, though even if Cleopatra does have them, it's unlikely they're the cause of her G.I. (gastrointestinal) upset. This is because roundworms in cockroaches rarely cause them any particular problems. If Cleopatra's infirmity continues, you can try to change in diet, water, and even environment in the event a toxin is the culprit. There are several antidiarrheal mixtures on the market which might be effective, though admittedly getting Cleo to cooperate with medication could be a problem.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Will a cat who's been eating lizards all summer quit getting sick on them have any after-effects? Perkins seem to feed fine, but she's pretty skinny and I know it's from the lizards because the same thing happened to her last summer. By winter last year, she'd picked up her weight again. Do you think she will this year? — S. K.

Dear S.K.: Some lizards, "blue bellies" for example, do contain toxins which could account for a weight loss. It would be prudent to pack Perkins in to her doctor, though, and let him check her over, not only to be sure that's actually the problem, but, if it is, to provide her with supportive supplementation to help her regain the SPICED RED CABBAGE — Melt ¼ cup margarine in large pan. Add 3 pared, cored and cubed cooking apples and ¼ cup chopped onion. Cook over low heat, stirring until onion is lightly browned. Add 1 medium head finely shredded red cabbage, toss lightly and cook until cabbage looks wilted. Combine 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 whole cloves, 2 bay leaves, dash of cinnamon, 1½ cups water and ½ cup vinegar and stir into cabbage mixture. Cover and simmer until cabbage is tender, about 1 or 2 hours. Makes 1½ quarts, enough for 6 people.

Dry mix club soda

Make your own bubbly

NEW YORK (UPI) — An Italian firm has come up with the ultimate convenience product in the fancy food and beverage line: a dry mix for club soda.

The mix is a blend of baking soda and tartaric acid, a grape product. Unlike most items exhibited at the 20th annual National Fancy Food & Confection Show here, the soda mix is inexpensive. Its retail price is expected to be about 80 cents a box, to make approximately eight quarts.

Some 15,000 buyers from specialty food shops and departments in 42 states and 30 foreign countries attended the 1974 trade show which attracted a record 205 exhibitors representing 1,176 companies.

If inflation has hurt business, it's hard to tell. Some exhibitors said it was slow. They blamed the economy in general and anticipated price increases following another jump in ocean freight rates Aug. 1.

But a poll by the sponsor, the National Association for the Specialty Food Trade, Inc., indicated generally good business. There was widespread feeling that many consumers who ordinarily entertain in restaurants have switched to home parties.

New products included many ethnic and national foods.

From England, they included partially cooked marmalade mixes in two flavors. Only water and sugar need be added at home.

A Japanese exhibitor showed a wonton soup mix. Swiss products included all natural mushroom soup mix containing, among other things, sea salt, cold pressed sunflower oil and wheat germ. A Canadian manufacturer showed dried soup mixes in jars, a spicy hot wine mix for red table wines.

Otto E. Rieder, a Swiss born mechanical engineer turned distiller, introduced a line of classic European fruit brandies and liqueurs and some Canadian originals from his Ontario plant. Rieder said the European style drinks would retail in the United States for substantially less than their overseas counterparts. The Canadian beverages are a maple brandy liqueur and an aperitif made with wine, bitter oranges, scotch and vermouth.

The growing market for Caribbean and Latin American food and beverages was reflected in such products as dulce de leche, an Argentine style milk pudding; mauby and guava concentrates for soft drinks (mauby is tree bark and guava, a tropical fruit); West Indian pepper sauces;

Palm oil, a staple in Brazilian cookery; an extensive line of Mexican herbs and spices, including several different varieties of ground chiles; and even dried sorrel.

Sorrel is the West Indian name for blossoms of a variety of hibiscus. One British tea merchant puts it in his rose hip blend but in the Caribbean it is used principally for desserts, jelly and syrup for making soft drinks and rum drinks.

The official Colombian government exhibit included unsweetened canned mango puree suitable for desserts or baby foods; an extensive line of dried fruit including such rare ones as cashew fruit (which the nuts grow from), guavas, mangos and passion fruit; and frozen tropical blackberries and strawberries.

There's even a new salad oil, a distinctively flavored dark green product made from peelless pumpkin seeds grown in Austria.

Impulse buying

Supermarket sales and display techniques generally aim at getting the maximum out of impulse buying, and housewives who understand this have a better chance of staying within the budget, say family management specialists.

Entertainer had double pneumonia

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Entertainer Elvis Presley was suffering from double pneumonia during the final week of his recent Las Vegas engagement, according to his doctor.

Presley missed one night of work on stage at the Las Vegas Hilton during the two-week show.

"He really sang for a whole week after that with it (double pneumonia). He was doing two shows a night," said Dr. Elias Ghanem, Presley's personal physician.

Marketing costs can double prices on grocery shelves

If a 2½-size can of whole, peeled tomatoes packed in juice and valued at 39 cents contains about 6.7 cents worth of tomatoes, and the train that carries it to the warehouse is traveling at 60 miles per hour — where is the other 32.3 cents?

Whatever your answer, it's certain the train and other marketing costs make up almost half the price of the can of tomatoes.

Consumers, sometimes appaled by today's peaking prices, are often surprised that returns to farmers and middlemen are only minor portions of the costs of many food items.

Since a 2½ can contains 1.8 pounds of tomatoes and it requires 1.3 pounds of raw product to produce each pound of cooked, peeled tomatoes in the can, simple arithmetic reveals that the farmer receives only 5.2 cents for the amount of tomatoes in the can at the 1974 contracted farm-gate price of 55 dollars per ton.

In fact, according to the Council of California Growers, the profits of the processor, wholesaler, and retailer total only 2.4 cents per can, while the bulk of the cost is involved in making the product more convenient for buyers.

Processing, as well as the label, and shopping carton that carries the canned tomatoes from cannery to kitchen cost approximately 16.5 cents. Certainly this year's rise in cannery and container costs have had a significant impact on the price of processed foods. Notably, the tomatoes themselves cost far less than the basic production in the plant.

Further distribution expenses of the processer (including the 60 m.p.h. train, trucking and other shopping facilities, warehousing, sales and advertising) account for a sum of 4.4 cents per can. From there wholesaler and retailer costs amount to 9 cents of the cost of the finished can.

A price for storage

Although prices vary among different products because of availability and demand, conditions are much the same for many other processed foods. Produce canned in early summer has a long wait till it is picked off the shelves in late January. This forces handlers to tack their cost of storage onto the retail tab.

In reality, however, prices of processed foods are not very high. To produce a similar amount at home would cost about 50 cents for the tomatoes alone — without the cost of the canning ingredients, such as jars and other necessities.

And when the homemakers consider the time and work involved in turning out a pound of canned tomatoes, and the alternate activities they can enjoy in that time, they probably will continue to choose canned goods at their grocers'. And if it turns out to be a dollar savings as well, so much the better.

The Great Lakes are bigger in area than Pennsylvania and New York combined.

A new product will please oyster lovers

New delicacies to please the palatries of Southern California gourmets—Long Island oysters on the half shell—will be arriving late this month in supermarket freezers throughout the area.

Available in the Santa Barbara—Los Angeles—San Diego region and in cities in between, the famous East Coast shellfish with the tangy flavor are being introduced for the first time at retail to Califoria, after test marketing in limited outlets.

The oysters are offered by Long Island Oyster Farms in two versions: frozen Oysters Rockefeller, topped with a rich spinach sauce, laced with imported Pernod; and frozen plain without topping. Both types are nitrogen-frozen on the half shell, ready for quick-and-easy serving at home, and each kind is packaged four oysters to a box, inside special individual plastic pouches.

The Oysters Rockefeller, prepared for serving hot on the half shell, require only 20 minutes of baking in a preheated 450-degree oven to be ready for eating. The plain oysters need only quick thawing to be just right to serve chilled with a favorite cocktail souce.

Long Island Oyster Farms, a pioneer in the science of aquaculture—modern oyster farming conducted under controlled breeding, feeding and harvesting procedures, to insure top quality and purity, and consistently excellent flavor—supplies these same oysters to leading restaurants and clubs throughout the United States and to many such establishments in Canda and in Europe.

Among the familiar "name" eating places where the oysters are served are the "21" Club, the Plaza Hotel Oyster Bar and the Sky Club in New York City; the Scandia and the Brown Derby in Los Angeles; and Anthony's Seafood Grottoes in San Diego.

Food chains sell either the frozen Rockefeller or frozen plain variety, or both, in the Southern California area. The oysters are also available to military and naval personnel through several post exchanges in the area.

Cod enhanced by a zesty Creole sauce

This savory Cod Creole is borrowed from the New Orleans style of cooking.

The word "creole" refers to the combined customs and language of the French and Spanish colonists who first settled in southern Louisiana and the African, German, Italian and English settlers who followed. Modern creole cooking reflects nearly all of these ethnic influences plus the West Indian herbs and vegetables and native ingredients of what now is the State of Louisiana.

Why not include this delicious fish dish among your favorites? The mild flavor of the fish is enhanced by a zesty creole sauce made with peanut oil.

COD CREOLE

½ cup chopped onion
¾ cup sliced celery
2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup peanut oil
¼ cup unsifted flour
2 cans (16-ounces each) tomatoes
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1-½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed
1 bay leaf
1 piece (about 3 pounds) fresh codfish
Hot cooked rice

In a Dutch oven, saute onion, celery and garlic in peanut oil until tender. Remove from heat; blend in flour. Stir in tomatoes, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and bay leaf. Add cod. Bring mixture to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer for 1 hour, or until fish is done. Serve with rice. Makes 6 servings.

OLD-FASHIONED DISH

Modern families like stewed tomatoes as well as grandmother's family did. They are easy to make, and today's cooks use their imaginations when it comes to adding seasonings. Chopped onion, chopped celery tops or crumbled bay leaf may be used. Peel and quarter ripe tomatoes and put into saucepan. Add the desired combination of seasonings, and for each pound of tomatoes, add 1 teaspoon sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. Without adding any water, cover and simmer tomatoes 5 to 15 minutes over low heat. If tomatoes are extremely juicy, mix 2 teaspoons cornstarch with 2 tablespoons water and stir into tomatoes. Bring to a boil and reduce heat. Simmer until tomatoes are thick, stirring occasionally.

Try soup on the menu to ease pinch on the budget

"Soup of the evening, beautiful soup!"

This tribute to soup from "Alice in Wonderland" pinpoints the feeling many people have about this fine dish, especially at this time of year when fall is approaching and the budget pinches.

Spicy Sausage Soup uses only one-half pound of pork sausage to satisfy the taste for meat while milk and vegetables make the body of this excellent liquid food. Served with strips of bread which have been covered with a butter-cheese mixture and then baked until puffy, the main course will be savory to taste and satisfying to the appetite. Add a crisp, vegetable salad, fruit and cookies for dessert and the menu is well balanced.

Cheese, milk and salmon are the sources for protein in another cheese soup which can be used as a budget-stretching main dish. Pink salmon is more economical than red, so it can be a boon to the homemaker watching food costs closely.

Some soups need hours of simmering but cheese soups are relatively quick since most contain a white sauce base. When vegetables are used, they can be diced small so as to shorten cooking time and save fuel.

SPICY SAUSAGE SOUP

½ pound bulk pork sausage
2½ cups ¼-inch potato cubes
½ cup ¼-inch carrot cubes
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup water
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 quart milk
1 large bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme leaves OR ¼ teaspoon ground thyme
2 cloves
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg, slightly beaten
Parmesan cheese

Using about 1 teaspoon for each, shape sausage meat into tiny balls, (about size of marble). Set aside. Place potatoes, carrots, celery and water in 3-quart saucepan. Cover, bring to a boil, turn to simmer and cook for 5 minutes. Add green pepper and onion; continue cooking for 5 additional minutes.

Meanwhile cook meat in skillet until well browned on all sides. Pour off fat; reserve. Add sausage to vegetables. Return 2 tablespoons fat to skillet; blend in flour. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; stir in 2 cups milk. Add bay leaf, thyme and cloves. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Strain into saucepan. Add remaining milk, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Bring to a boil. Add a small amount of liquid to egg; return all to saucepan and cook for 1 minute. Ladle into soup bowls; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Serve at once.

CHEESE PUFFS

1 pound loaf unsliced bread
2 cups (8 ounce) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature
½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika

Remove crust from bread. Cut into eighteen 3½x1 x 1-inch blocks. In mixing bowl blend cheese, butter, mustard, salt and paprika. Yield: approx. 1½ cups. Spread generously on all sides except bottom. Place on baking sheet. Cover with plastic wrap and keep chilled or freeze until ready to use. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven, 10 minutes or until lightly browned and puffed. Allow extra baking time if frozen.

HALE AND HEARTY CHEESE SOUP

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 cups milk
2 cups peeled, diced, cooked potatoes
1 package (10 ounce) frozen peas
1 can (1 pound) salmon, drained boned and flaked
2 cups (8 ounce) shredded Cheddar cheese

Melt butter in saucepan; add celery and saute until tender. Stir in flour. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Stir in potatoes, peas and salmon. Heat to serving temperature. Stir in cheese just until melted. Garnish with dill weed, if desired.

Colorful dish to fete Rosh Hashanah

With the advent of fall we have several holidays to look forward to. Rosh Hashanah is an autumn holiday just as Passover is a spring celebration. This is a perfect time to utilize fall vegetables and flowers—both as table decoration and recipe ingredients—and to play up the autumnal color scheme of orange, gold and brown.

The High Holy Days, opening with Rosh Hashanah, will begin this year on Sept., 17 and end 10 days later with Yom Kippur. During this ten-day period of profound religious observance families will be gathered together for feasting and quiet celebration.

Include a colorful vegetable dish on your menu for the eve of Rosh Hashanah this year. Zucchini Skillet is a delicious melange of brightly colored vegetables—green pepper and zucchini, yellow corn and red pimento. This flavorful dish is laced with onion and garlic and cooked in peanut oil which is favored by cooks for its light, delicate flavor. In fact, peanut oil actually brings out the best in other ingredients.

ZUCCHINI SKILLET

½ cup chopped green pepper
⅓rd cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup peanut oil
4 cups sliced zucchini
1 can (7-ounce) vacuum-packed whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Pimiento strips

In large skillet, saute green pepper, onion and garlic in peanut oil until onion is tender. Stir in zucchini, corn, salt and pepper. Cover and cook over medium heat for 15 minutes, or until zucchini is tender. Serve garnished with pimiento strips. Makes 6 servings.

Acrobatics kill biplane pilot

EDGEMONT (UPI) — The body of amateur stunt pilot Gilbert Severens, 29, Highgrove, was discovered in the wreckage of his biplane in the Box Springs Mountains near here.

Severens, an engineer for the state Division of Forestry, apparently failed to come out of a dive while performing aerial acrobatics over the mountains.

Not quite enough

The British luxury passenger liner Titanic was considered unsinkable because four of its 16 watertight compartments could be flooded without endangering the ship's buoyancy. Shortly before midnight on April 14, 1912, on its maiden voyage, the ship collided with an iceberg that ruptured five of the watertight compartments and caused it to sink.

How to eat a whole lot better for a whole lot less.

Menus by Graham Kerr, The Galloping Gourmet: Prices by Alpha Beta.

Alpha Beta believes there just has to be a way to eat better for less. So we asked Graham Kerr to help us out. And did he ever.

The Galloping Gourmet came back to us with a series of complete dinner menus.

All incredibly good (we sampled everything). And incredibly priced (we priced everything). This week's menu, for instance, features Beef Stroganov for about $1.11 per serving. Dessert is included. Sure beats hamburger.

Free "Creative Menus" come complete with Graham Kerr's original recipes. And all ingredients are Alpha Beta priced and available in our stores.

A creative dinner menu will be featured every week. They'll be on TV, radio, and in Alpha Beta stores. Look for them. Collect them all. You'll be eating a lot better for less.

Set up a production line for preparing sandwiches

NEW YORK (UPI) — No need to go out of your mind packing lunches five days a week all through the school year.

The way to keep sane: Eliminate the daily routine. Margaret Spader, home economist with the Aluminum Association, suggests setting up a production line and making two to three weeks' supply of sandwiches at one time.

When properly wrapped, they can be stored in the freezer with no deterioration in quality.

Frozen sandwiches thaw in about an hour at room temperature, so are ready to eat at lunch time. The quality of the sandwich depends on the quality of ingredients that go into it and the expertise of wrapping.

All food should be of top quality —freezing preserves quality, it does not improve it. Foods in less than peak condition deteriorate more noticeably when frozen.

When wrapped in an air tight foil package, sandwiches will stay fresh several hours after thawing.

Besides eliminating a job that is repeated 180 days a year, the production line, freezing approach to making sandwiches results in greater variety and money saving, too, when leftovers are wisely used. For example, instead of ham sandwiches for two or three consecutive days when you want to use up leftovers, freeze some of the sandwiches and alternate their use with different varieties on hand in the freezer.

The following tips from the Aluminum Association will help in making frozen sandwiches that are palatable and acceptable:

—Wrap each day's sandwiches in one package and make it air tight. Aluminum foil is recommended as a wrap because it s moisture, air and vapor proof. (Frozen foods discolor, dry out and lose flavor if air gets into the package.)

—Vary breads from day to day. Use pumpernickel, raisin, rye, fruit and nut breads, buns, hard rolls or frankfurter rolls as well as white and whole wheat sandwich breads.

—Prevent filling from soaking into bread by using butter or margarine on both slices of bread.

—Following are some filling ingredients that freeze well: hard cooked egg yolk, canned or cooked chicken, turkey, fish, deviled ham, dried beef, bologna, salami, boiled ham, raisins, peanut butter, mustard, chili sauce.

—Following are ingredients that do not freeze well. Avoid using these in sandwiches to be frozen: hard cooked egg white, cottage cheese, cooked bacon, fresh vegetables, preserves, jellies and jams, mayonnaise, salad dressing, onions, tomato slices, lettuce.

—Nutrition is an important, consideration. Lunch should furnish one-third of the body's daily requirement. Sandwiches with low protein fillings should be supplemented by cubes of cheese, hard cooked eggs, cottage cheese salads, sliced cold cuts, beans, peas, nuts.

—Seasonings may change in strength during freezing: they should be used sparingly and added at serving time if necessary.

—Try to keep a 5-day cycle of different sandwiches on hand.

—Use leftover meats judiciously. Change their appearance by shredding, grinding or mincing. Use sauces like steak, mustard or chili sauce or chutney to perk up flavor. Freshly ground pepper over sliced pork, beef or turkey gives a pleasant accent.

—Arrange the production line in this order: sliced bread, butter or margarine (at room temperature), filling, aluminum foil cut in squares that will allow a fold over tuck to shut out air. A sandwich spreader helps speed up the job.

—Plan to use the sandwiches within 2 to 3 weeks.

WHAT'S IN STORE...

PRICE PER SERVING

Through the years, Alpha Beta has tried to help the consumer by providing shopping aids. Our unit pricing program, which we call "Price Per," was started in 1971 and has been very well accepted by our customers. The shelf labels allow price comparisons between sizes and brands. We do all the calculations for you on how much a product costs per unit (pound, ounce, pint, etc.)

Now, a new helpful service is being added. Entire menus, which are nutritionally balanced and "color coordinated" for additional appeal, have been prepared for Alpha Beta shoppers. The cost per serving, including all the necessary ingredients for the whole meal, has been figured, so you will know exactly how much you will spend for the total.

Even though you know how much meat and produce cost per pound, often it is confusing how much it is going to cost to put the complete meal on the table. Our "Creative Menus" should be a real consumer help. Plan to collect all of this series of well-planned free recipes to help you know how much to budget for these very special dinners.

We hope these aids will help you start thinking about how much food costs per serving whenever you are marketing. You'll soon discover you're becoming a smarter shopper if you do.

Correction: The copy for the Sunkist-created recipe of Orange Glaze for barbecued ham printed last week should have read:

grated rind from 2 oranges
½ cup orange juice
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tsp. dry mustard
2 tbsp. prepared mustard

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Broil hard 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool to room temperature. Brush on ham while barbecuing. (Glaze may also be used on chicken or sweet potatoes.)

Nutrition awareness on increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — "A lot of the health food craze on college and university campuses is giving way to a new and general awareness of good nutrition," says Albert R. Dobie.

Dobie is director of Yale University's 21 dining halls, which serve about 3.5 million meals annually. He also is immediate past president of the National Association of College and University Food Services, a post that took him onto dozens of campuses last summer. In a telephone interview, Dobie said Adelle Davis was part of the reason for young people's awareness of good nutrition. Mrs. Davis, who died recently, was a controversial figure who advocated not just fresh, unprocessed food and beverages but also heavy usage of vitamin supplements and other dietary aids.

Vegetarian and health food diets are popular on both coasts, Dobie said, but there's very little interest on campuses in the center of the United States and none in the south.

"As food becomes scarcer and more expensive, students are becoming more aware of their nutritional needs," Dobie said.

They also are weight conscious.

"Almost every college I go to has one diet meal on the menu, and low calorie dressings."

The starchy diets that generations of collegians complained about are no more, and there's not a lot of obesity on campus, he said.

He has noticed a real decrease in dessert consumption and a corresponding increase in demand for fresh fruit instead of cake and pie.

"One of the biggest successes on our campus is fresh vegetables. Skim milk consumption is also up tremendously."

People today want to help make their own meals, Dobie said. Large condiment bars that include wheat germ, among other things, are popular. So are make your own salad bars.

Students are eating more often. They also take more meals in dining halls. The reasons, Dobie thinks, are the increasing interest in balanced meals and good nutrition and the tight money situation.

"A student who pays for a board contract is less likely to skip meals and go out for a pizza," he said.

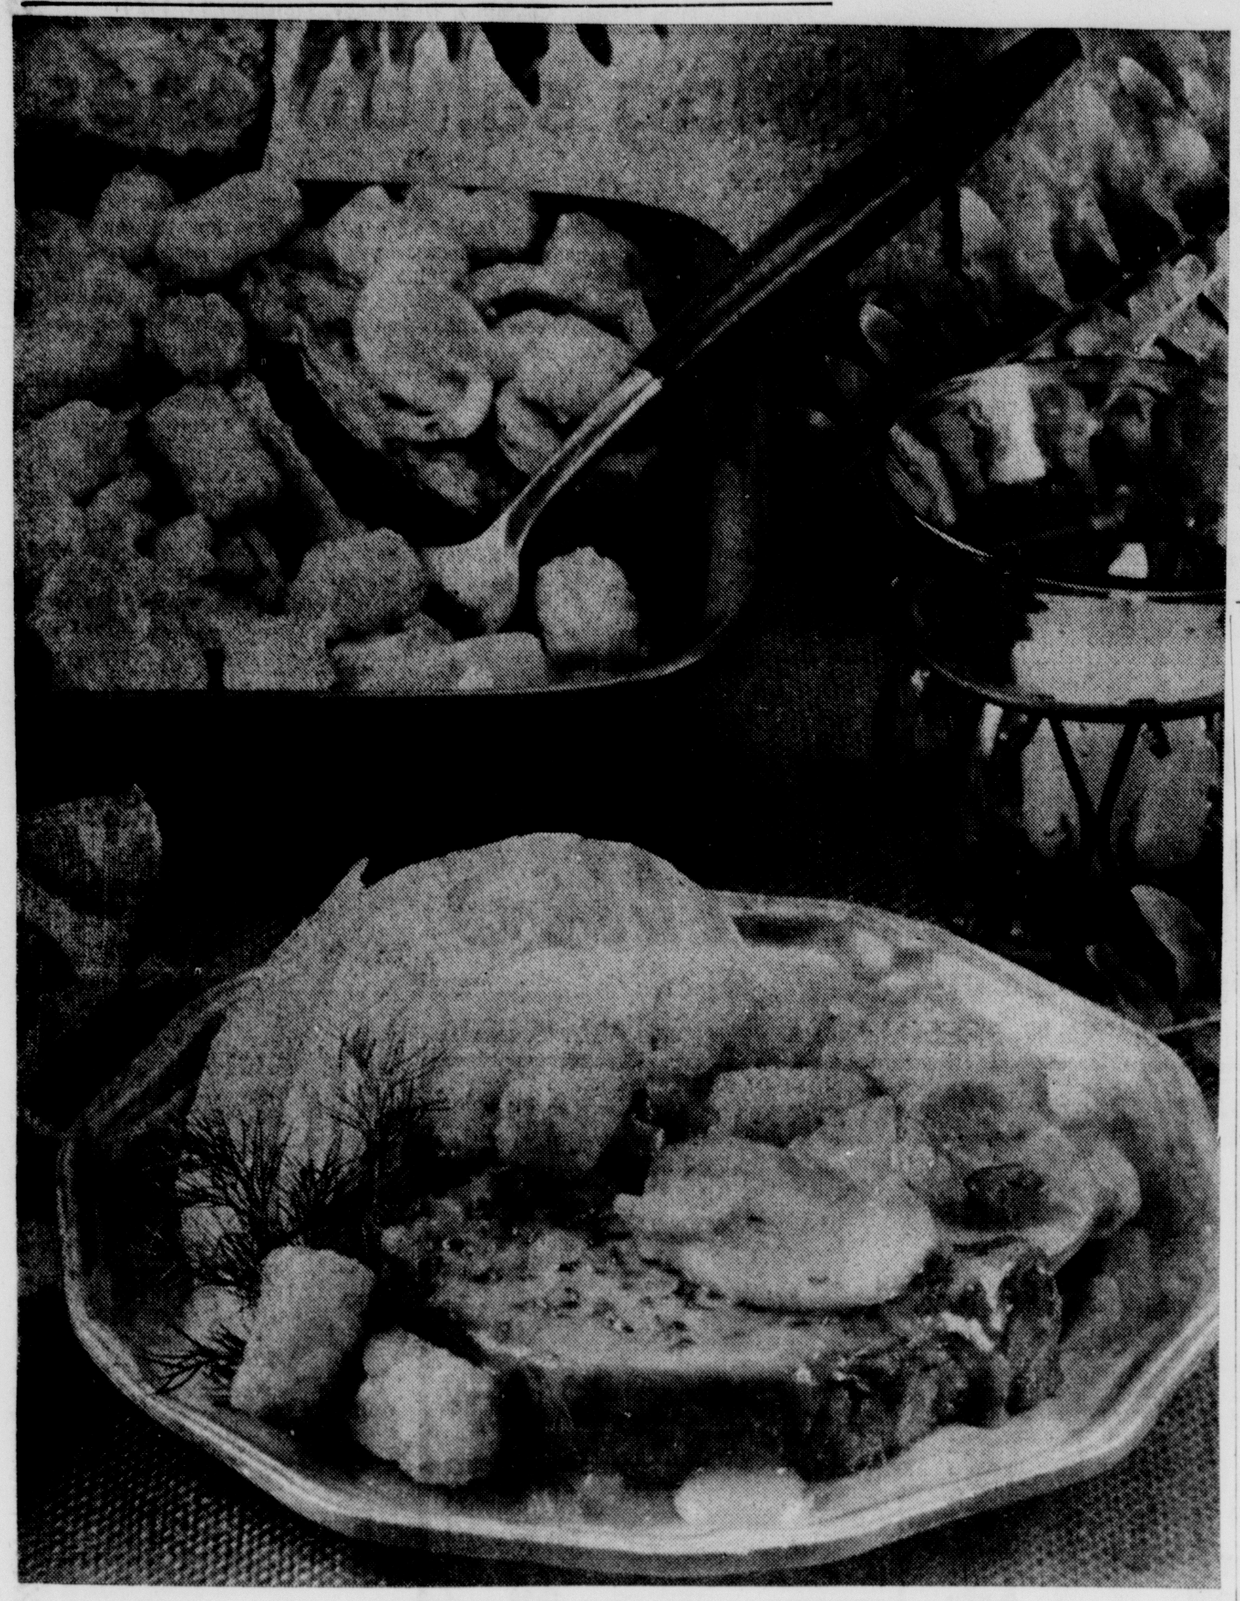
Variety is a key word in meal plans these days. Some schools offer eight to 10 variations, such as five dinners, any 10 meals or 21, 17 or 12 meals per week.

Some schools are going to the point system. It permits a student to eat where and when he wants to in a college's dining halls and snack bars.

One college in upstate New York has even started an exchange system. It allows students to eat either in their own dining hall or that of another college in the area.

Italian trains

ROME (UPI) — A total of 361,080,000 passengers traveled on Italian State Railways in 1973, according to recently released figures. At the same time, it was announced that a new "electronic brain" in Rome's Prenestina Station now permits daily bookings for the 10,000 first and second class sleeping berths on 140 trains of the railway network.



GERMAN PORK CHOP BAKE

Season 6 half-inch pork chops with salt and pepper. Use 1½ tablespoons of caraway seeds, and press them into both sides of the chops. Dip chops in 1-3rd cup of flour to coat. Brown in a large skillet in cooking oil. Put chops in a large baking dish. Remove skillet from heat. Stir 1 tablespoon flour into drippings until it makes a smooth mixture. Gradually add 1 cup water. Top the chops with 1 small sliced onion, ½ cup sliced celery, ¼ cup chopped sweet pickles and ½ pound knockwurst, cut into ¼-inch slices. Pour liquid from skillet over chops. Cover and bake at 400 degrees for 45 minutes or until chops are tender. Uncover and top with two medium tomatoes, cut into wedges and seeded, and 1 pound frozen french fried potato rounds. Serve with wedges of boiled cabbage and pumpernickel bread.

Ancient apricot is modern treat

Drupes usually make good desserts. This is especially true if the drupe is an apricot, or a fruit with a hard woody pit. Eaten fresh or dried, the ancient apricot (it can trace its ancestry back to some 3,000 years ago in China) is appreciated thoroughly in today's eating schemes. If not eaten out of hand, the apricot makes a delicious cooked dessert such as an Apricot Cream Meringue Pie.

APRICOT CREAM MERINGUE PIE

¾ cup dried apricots
½ cup water
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
3 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup diced almonds, roasted
1 baked, cooled 9-inch pie shell

Cut apricots into small pieces. Combine with water in saucepan. Cover and simmer 10 minutes or until fruit is soft. Meanwhile, combine 2-3rds cup of sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; add milk and cook, stirring, over medium heat until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Lightly beat egg yolks; stir in a little milk mixture; combine with remaining mixture in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, 1 or 2 minutes. Do not boil. Remove from heat and stir in apricots, butter, vanilla and all but 2 tablespoons almonds. Turn into pie shell. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining sugar and continue beating until stiff. Spread meringue over pie and bake at 425 degrees 5 minutes or until lightly bornwed. Sprinkle pie with remaining almonds. Cool before cutting. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Source of veal

Veal comes from young calves less than three months old and fed on milk or milk products to obtain its fine-grained, high pink meat.

Why isn't every canned dog food government inspected?

And why is Ken-L Ration the only leading one that is? Here's important information about the foods your dog eats.

You may be surprised to learn that most dog foods are not government inspected. But the fact is, government inspection of dog foods is not mandatory.

Actually, it's hard to get. Because to get government inspection, you've got to meet U.S. Department of Agriculture standards. That takes time and effort. So, no leading canned dog food does it. Except Ken-L Ration. Here's what that means to you and your dog.

Government inspection assures you of wholesome ingredients.

The very same suppliers who provide your butcher with government-inspected beef for your table supply Ken-L Ration with meat by-products.

The grains we use to give your dog balanced nutrition are approved by government inspectors.

In fact, every ingredient we use in making Ken-L Ration canned dog food is U.S.D.A. approved. Finally, every step in preparation and canning must meet the most rigid standards of cleanliness and hygiene before we can earn the government seal.

Do higher standards mean higher prices? No!

The government seal is your priceless assurance of wholesomeness. Yet Ken-L Ration actually is lower priced than the other leading canned dog foods. About 30% lower. That means you can save about 20¢ a day feeding your dog Ken-L Ration, rather than Alpo, for example. And that adds up to about $70.00 a year.

And what you get is the nutritional formula that veterinarians overwhelmingly prefer.

What vets say about Ken-L Ration nutrition.

Ken-L Ration is a balanced blend of meat and grain ingredients. In a national survey of 500 veterinarians, balanced meat-and-grain formulas were preferred 3 to 1 over all-meat diets. Those expressing a brand preference chose Ken-L Ration 10 to 1 over all-meat Alpo.

U.S. Government Inspected Ken-L Ration. Doesn't it deserve your inspection? And doesn't your dog deserve its goodness?

Ken-L Ration:

The only leading canned dog food government inspected for wholesomeness.

Vitamin E doesn't live up to publicity

Vitamin E has been represented by health food advocates, food faddists and seif-styled experts as a cure for almost every known noninfectious disease as well as an enhancer of sexuality and a protection against the aging process. But what is the real story of this "wonder worker of the century?"

Most of the miraculous powers attributed to vitamin E are the result of misinterpretation of research studies done on animals. "The Journal of the American Dietetic Association" recently commented on several of these studies. In studies where various kinds of animals were fed diets as devoid of vitamin E as possible, muscular atrophy (or wasting) occurred. When these same animals were later fed normal diets (containing vitamin E), the muscle tissue returned to normal.

Hoping for a cure for muscular dystrophy, scientists were elated. However, the muscle cells of persons with muscular dystrophy were found to contain normal amounts of the vitamin before treatment began. Massive doses of the vitamin neither caused increased accumulation in the muscle cells nor lessened the symptoms of the disease. The benefit for humans with atrophied muscles — None!

In some vitamin E deficient animals, heart muscle abnormalities were found. Sheep and cattle had extremely severe heart involvement, but monkeys showed no cardiac abnormalities. Extensive testing in humans has, to date, uncovered no benefit or detriment to the heart muscle from therapeutic vitamin E suppolements.

Vitamin testing on rats unleashed the "sexy vitamin" propaganda. Male rats who were fed diets deficient in vitamin E became sterile very quickly, but regained normal potency when the vitamin was returned to their feed. In pregnant female rats, a lack of vitamin E led to increased miscarriages and abnormal births.

It's impossible to duplicate these tests in humans because laboratory conditions cannot be enforced. However, in over 35 years of study, there has been no scientific or medical support for any beneficial effects of supplemental vitamin E in either human male potency or human female pregnancy.

Advocates of supplemental vitamin E overlook the fact that beneficial results of large doses in animals can ONLY be achieved AFTER the animals have been fed diets totally lacking in the vitamin for long periods. A dietary deficiency of vitamin E has never been observed in humans eating anything resembling a reasonably normal diet, unless that human was well on his way to death by starvation.

Claims of vitamin E's power to cure cancer or ulcers, clear up skin eruptions, or prevent the formation of scar tissue are simply not substantiated by clinical observation or sound experimentation.

Vitamin E is available in substantial amounts in vegetable oils. Significant inputs are made by many vegetables and whole grain cereals. Meats, fish, poultry, milk, eggs, legumes, fruits and nuts also contribute. It is interesting to note that the Recommended Dietary Allowance for vitamin E has been decreased from 30 International Units (1968) to 15 I.U. (1973) for an adult male.

Because vitamin E is stored in the fat cells of the body and is a fat-soluble vitamin, there are some humans who may benefit from vitamin E supplementation. These include premature babies who have not built up the fat layer present in full-term infants, persons who have conditions which prevent the normal digestion of foods; and persons who have abnormalities which affect the absorption of fats. All of these people should be under a physician's care.

For all other humans, supplementation is unnecessary and possibly dangerous. Self-medication of any kind can mask potentially serious conditions. It has also been noted that some anemic children who received large doses of vitamin E were unable to utilize any iron in their blood streams. When the vitamin E supplementation was halted they were able to absorb and utilize iron normally and were cured of the anemia.

Party spirit adds to fun of good food

One of the most important ingredients of a cookout meal is never shown in the recipes, but it is always present.

It's the built-in joy of being together, eating together so that the meal is a family and social event. Good food eaten alone lacks that certain something.

That's why cookouts carry on the family spirit, especially those picnic outings where families and close friends join together to sepnd a day in the country or at the beach. Everyone contributes to the meal and the final cooking over the open fire is a highlight of the festivities.

Creating a tender, tasty specialty out of an economical cut of meat and combining this with other favorites such as corn on the cob, peppers and onions makes good economic sense and deliciously hearty informal fare. That's the foundation for these beef kabobs which are marinated long beforehand in the favorite cookout beverage—beer!

The bite size cubes of meat are carried in tightly sealed plastic bags. The beer marinade pentrates the meat fibers, tenderizing and flavoring the morsels that will later be threaded on skewers with assorted vegetables and barbecued on the glowing coals. And the beverage to go with the beef kabobs, of course, is cold, sparkling beer, poured from cans or bottles which have been firmly packed in iced coolers.

KOOKOUT KABOBS

2 pounds chuck, round, rump or hip steak
1 cup beer (about)
¼ cup salad oil
1 medium onion, diced
2 teaspoons curry powder
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon salt

Cut steak into bite size cubes about 2 inches square. Place in a heavy duty plastic bag. Mix beer with oil and seasonings and pour over meat in bag. Shake to distribute marinade and if meat is not entirely covered, add more beer. Seal bag and carry in ice chest. Meat should marinate at least four hours. At cooking time, drain off marinade and reserve as basting sauce. Thread meat on skewers alternately with selected vegetables. Grill over hot coals, turning to cook on all sides and basting with reserved marinade.

Good vegetables to use are fresh or frozen corn on the cob, cut into 2-inch lengths, whole sweet frying peppers or 2-inch pieces of green or red bell peppers, whole canned or parboiled onions, whole fresh or frozen mushrooms or parboiled okra pods.

Pipe bomb blast hurts 3 youths

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Three teen-aged youths were injured when a pipe bomb made by two of the boys from toy rocket propellant exploded.

Rory Miller, 14, lost parts of several fingers while his brother, Darol, 15, and a friend, Richard Poster, 14, suffered wounds from pieces of the bomb.

Authorities said the bomb was made by the Miller boys. The younger brother lit the bomb and was just about to throw it when it exploded in his hand.

Philippine tourism

MANILA (UPI) — Philippine Tourism Secretary Jose D. Aspiras has urged construction of more hotels in Manila to meet increased tourist demand.

Aspiras said the city will need at least 1,800 additional hotel rooms to accommodate delegates and staffs to the 1976 International Monetary Fund-World Bank conference to be held here. He said a special survey showed the Manila area now has 2,912 hotel rooms of which 1,394 are deluxe, 1,853 first class and 288 second class

Has the great California wine boom fizzed out?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The great California wine boom may have reached a plateau.

The most recent figures — for the month of May — show wine marketing in the United States down 6.1 per cent from the same month a year earlier.

Fopr the first five months of 1974, wine distribution was down .2 per cent from the first five months of 1973.

This decline in the wine market comes at a time when California is about to harvest one of the largest grape crops on record.

The situation may spell trouble, if only temporarily, for growers and speculators. But it may bring lower prices eventually for the consumer.

Hardest hit have been imported wines, which were down 14.6 per cent in sales in May, according to figures of the Wine Advisory Board. To get this wine moving, some stores are offering bargains on imports, and good California wines may drop in price.

It was only a few years ago that experts were predicting steady, strong growth for a long tiome in the wine industry. Americans were ready to change their drinking habits, with wine at every dinner table, they said.

Many in the industry believe this long-term analysis is still correct and the present decline is a temporary pause on the way to new heights.

"I think the slowdown is temporary," said Bank of America agriculture economist Ronald Schuelke, who wrote a glowing economic forecast for the industry two years ago.

"I just don't see a permanent slow down in the demand for wine in the United States. On the contrary, I feel it is going to increase at least through 1980," said Schuelke.

According to Schuelke and others who remain optimistic, the current "leveling off" of wine demand is explained by such things as the squeeze on consumer pocketbooks and price increases on wine which went up a little too fast.

These factors are temporary, according to Schuelke.

"I see wine consumption in the United States continuing to grow. The long-term factors which influence wine consumption are there — the composition of the population, wine distribution laws across the United States, and the quality of wine California wineries have to offer. This entire shift in taste, change in fashion, appears to be durable."

But even the most enthusiastic agriculture economists cautioned from the beginning of the boom five or six years ago against planting too many vines.

California has added more than 200,000 new acres of vineyards since 1967, 30,000 of them last year.

Vineyards in the San Joaquin Valley that were cotton fields a few years ago are now heavy with grapes.

This year's harvest is expected to be around 3.8 million tons, just a shade under last year's which was a big one.

Anticipating that wineries may not need so many grapes, the California North Coast Grape Growers Association, in the fine-wine country around Napa, has already offered to sell some of its grapes at prices half what the wineries paid last year.

For example, cabernet sauvignon grapes, which were selling for as much as $1,200 a ton two years ago, are now at $685 a ton. Even then, the wineries are cautious.

"We are rather tight on space and will take only grapes from our own growers," said Louis Martini Jr., a prominent wine maker.

Meatless cooking stressed in book

In a time when the American cook has to call upon a reserve of economical ideas to combat the inflationary spiral of food costs, William Kaufman has come up with one such idea for every day of the year! He has managed to do this by eliminating one of the costliest items in the food budget — meat — from 365 main dishes.

Kaufman recognizes the difficulty of planning meals, without meat, that have proper nutritional value and don't cut down on over-all health. Yet, he solves this problem by utilizing a wide repertiore of high-protein, moderate-cost food available in the average larder. Kaufman also offers food-shopping hints that take advantage of "on special" items that doubly enhance his cost-cutting recipes.

"365 Meatless Main Dishes" does not expect a cook to spend many hours on meal preparation. It is written for the busy person, who aside from planning meals, has other responsibilities as well. As Kaufman describes it, "This volume will be a heaven-sent gift that permits you to whip up a quick repast only minutes after you have hit the door."

Kaufman, the world's most published cookbook writer, has published 80 other cookbooks. A television executive for 16 years, he now devotes his time to writing cookbooks and lecturing on cuisine and entertaining.

Two sample recipes from Kaufman's latest cookbook follow:

BAKED CHEESE FONDUE

3 eggs, separated
1 can, (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of chicken or mushroom soup
1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups small bread cubes

Beat egg yolks until thick. Blend in soup, cheese and mustard; stir in bread cubes. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold into cheese mixture. Spoon into 1½ quart casserole. Bake in 325-degree oven for 1 hour. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BUBBLING FISH BAKE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (10 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
½ cup milk
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese, divided
2 cups cooked macaroni or noodles
1 can (8 ounces) salmon, drained
4 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs

Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and cook until tender. Stir in soup, milk, ¾ cup cheese, macaroni (or noodles) and salmon. Turn into a 1½ quart casserole. Top with bread crumbs and remaining cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

County beach swap continuing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — City Attorney Burt pines ruled Monday that the proposed transfer of city and state-owned beaches to county jurisdiction legally does not have to be approved by the city Recreation and Parks Commission.

Pines said, however, the commission's approval would be sought. The commission opposes both proposals.

In the case of city-owned beaches, the transfer may be accomplished through a joint powers agreement signed by the city and county, Pines said. Title to the city-owned beaches, however, would remain with the city.

The city council has the power to negotiate termination or assignment of state contracts, he said.

HOLT AND INDIAN HILL, POMONA

Economical meals are still possible with simple foods

Prices for staple food items like dried beans and grains soaring like everything else but they are still, pound-for-pound the cheapest source of protein.

Their dry-weight prices may be cut at least in half for comparison with other, wet-weight foods because they double in weight when soaked and cooked.

Can these simple, basic foods be used to create tasteful, nutritionally balanced meals at low cost?

Yes, says Edyth Young Cottrell, author of the unusual, new "Oats, Peas, Beans & Barley Cookbook" (Woodbridge Press, Santa Barbara, CA 93111, 6.95 cloth; 3.95 paper).

The author believes not only that the simple, primary foods—like grains, legumes, fruits, nuts, and vegetables—are equal to other so-called "secondary" foods like animal products but are, in fact, superior when properly combined and tastefully prepared.

Her new book of some 450 full-course recipes also contains much up-to-date nutritional tables showing the one-serving food values of each recipe.

Her nutritional analysis of the recipe for Soy-Oat Waffles, for example, shows that one nine-inch waffle contains approximately the same amount and quality of protein as a three-ounce serving of T-bone steak, or six slices of bacon with two medium eggs—at about one-eighth the cost!

This is not just another vegetarian cookbook; it is one with academic and professional credentials. The author is a research nutritionist at Loma Linda University School of Health in California, a center for medical, nutritional, and public health education. She has been publicly cited for her innovative contributions to nutrition through the use of low-cost foods.

Her title is derived from the old-time children's song, "Oats, Peas, Beans, and Barley Grow," and symbolizes the simplicity and directness of the foods she suggests for pennies-per-serving meals.

In addition to a wide range of recipes, Mrs. Cottrell also provides a wealth of home making information: coordination of packed lunches with at-home menus, home freezing and canning, use of herbs and much more.

Many of her unusual vegetarian, low-sugar, low-fat recipes are illustrated in color so that the homemaker venturing for the first time into this field of cookery may have an authentic guide toward a successful result.

A separate section on home preparation of soybean products of various kinds provides some of the ingredients specified in some recipes to replace milk, eggs, cheese, and other products typically used in vegetarian cookbooks.

Here are some examples of Mrs. Cottrell's simple, economical and nutritious recipes:

PEANUT-CARROT ROAST

1 cup peanuts
1 cup soaked garbanzos
2 cups cooked rice
2 cups shredded carots, raw
1 cup sauteed onions
1 teaspoon salt
Speck garlic powder

Place peanuts, garbanzos, and water in blender and chop fine. Combine all ingredients. Mix well.

Bake in greased dish, 8"x12", at 350 degrees, 45 minutes (covered first 30 minutes, uncovered last 15 minutes), garnish with parsley.

HURRY-UP HEARTY HASH

2 cups cooked brown rice
½ cup sauteed onions
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped Brazil nuts
¼ cup brewer's flake yeast (with B12)
2 tablespoons oil
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 cups shredded raw potatoes

Measure and combine all ingredients except potatoes. Wash potatoes, scrubbing off only part of skin with plastic or steel scouring pad. Cut out spots. Shred potatoes and add. Mix.

Spoon in thin layers into unoiled skillet or baking dish. Cover, let cook 10 minutes, at 350 degrees. Turn, stir, cover. Cook 10 or 15 minutes longer.

LEMON PIE DELUXE

1½ cups unsweetened pineapple juice
1-3rd cup cornstarch
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons lemon rind
1 tablespoon margarine
Few drops of natural yellow food coloring
1 cup whipped soy or other topping, chilled

Mix sugar and cornstarch and moisten with ¼ cup of pineapple juice. Put rest of pineapple juice into saucepan and bring to boil. Stir in cornstarch and sugar mixture and stir until thickened and clear. Reduce heat.

Add lemon juice, grated rind, and margarine. Stir until blended and let cook slowly an additional 10 minutes.

Chill. Spoon half of filling into baked pie shell. Chill other half of filling. Add chilled, whipped topping and mix just enough to get a marbleized effect. Spoon lightly on top of pie.

PIONEER BREAD

1⅛ cups unground high-protein wheat, water to cover
1 cup whole wheat flour, high protein, fine grind
½ cup water
1 tablespoon oil
1 tablespoon yeast, dry active, or
1 cake compressed yeast
1 tablespoon molasses or brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Look over wheat and wash. Soak in water to cover, 24 hours. Drain off water, use ½ cup for bread. Heat to 100 degrees.

Grind wheat through household food chopper, using the finest blade. When about half of the wheat is ground, put yeast to soak in small bowl with ½ cup warm water and ½ teaspoon sugar or molasses.

As soon as it is light, mix yeast with ground wheat in bowl to let rise, while finishing the grinding of the rest of the wheat.

Combine all ingredients. Knead until smooth and elastic. Let rise on board 10 minutes. Shape in loaf. Let rise until double in size.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Remove from pan. Oil if desired. Cool on side on rack.

SOY-OAT WAFFLES

2¼ cups water
1½ cups rolled oats
1 tablespoon oil
1 cup soaked soybeans (½ cup dry)
½ teaspoon salt.

Soak soybeans several hours or overnight in sufficient water to keep covered. Drain, discard water. (Soak, drained soybeans may be kept in the refrigerator for a week or stored for longer periods in the freezer for use on short notice.)

Combine all ingredients and blend until light and foamy, about half a minute. Let stand while waffle iron is heating. The batter thickens on standing. Blend briefly. Pour into a pitcher for convenience.

Grease iron with solid shortening for first waffle. (Do not use margarine.) Bake in hot waffle iron 8 minutes, or until nicely browned. Set timer for 8 minutes and do not open before time is up. If waffle iron is hard to open, leave a few seconds longer.

EGGPLANT WITH GARBANZO BATTER

8 slices eggplant
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup soaked garbanzos
½ cup water
1 teaspoon oil
¼ teaspoon salt

Wash, peel, and slice eggplant into ½" slices. Sprinkle slices lightly on both sides with salt.

Blend 1 cup garbanzos with ½ cup water and ¼ teaspoon salt until very fine. Spread garbanzo mixture on both sides of slices. Place in lightly oiled skilled at 350 degrees. Cover.

Cook 10 minutes. Turn, cover, and cook 10 minutes longer.

Boeing workers okay authority to call strike

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers voted overwhelmingly recently to authorize their negotiators to call a strike against the Boeing Co. if an acceptable contract offer is not made by Oct. 1.

The current contract covering more than 27,000 aeromechanics at plants across the country expires Oct. 1. About 22,000 of those workers are in the Seattle area.

The union reported strike sanction was granted by about 96 per cent of the members voting.

Approximately 14,000 workers attended a stop-work meeting here to vote on the strike issue.

William D. Walkama, president of the Aero Mechanics Union, told the Seattle meeting that Boeing workers were 38 to 40 cents behind wages paid by Lockheed and McDonnell Douglas.

He said that did not include inequities in pay among workers and increases the other aerospace employes will receive later this month.

"We're talking about 80 cents to a buck more the first year alone," Walkama said.

Nutrition picture is different today

Twenty years ago eating out was an event. Today more than 50 per cent of our population eats more than 50 per cent of its meals away from home. Twenty years ago if "blue plate specials" lacked calcium or vitamin A, the deficit was made up at the next family meal. Today the "blue plate special" or food franchise supper may be the family meal and the nutrient lack becomes very important.

The American Dietetic Association, through the publication of a new position paper on nutrition education and fast food service, is attempting to increase public and business awareness of the problem of nutrition in our "let's eat out" society. The ADA represents more than 25,000 dietitians trained in human nutrition.

The paper urges that restaurants offer nutritionally balanced meals, educational aids to assist patrons in food selection, and identification of menu items with the essential food groups and nutrients. It also urges training of employees in proper food handling to insure optimum nutrition. Many foods lose nutrients, as well as flavor and color, by overcooking or overexposure to light and air.

One way a restaurant or fast food service chain might help customers obtain better-balanced meals could be identification of each item on the menu with its basic four food group category. Thus, the patron would know his cheeseburger equaled ½ milk, 1 meat, and 2 bread servings; his milkshake equaled 1½ milk servings; and he had no fruit or vegetable servings. To meet the Basic Four, an adult needs each day: 2 servings of milk or milk products, 2 servings of meat, 4 servings of fruits or vegetables, and 4 servings of breads or cereals. Teens and pregnant or nursing women need 4 servings of milk.

Greater amounts of milk, fruits, deep green and yellow vegetables, and milk products should be included on menus and ordered by the public. Unfortunately, many adults and teens consider milk "kid's stuff" and consequently suffer a calcium shortage. Such foods as cheese sandwiches, fruit-flavored yogurt, and milk-based puddings, soups and sauces — if offered more often and ordered by customers — would help reduce the shortage. Milk itself should be an option with meals that include the beverage.

The drop in consumption of vegetables and fruits in recent decades might be partly due to more people eating out in restaurants where fruits and vegetables (except potatoes) are not as prevalent as at home. Interestingly, restaurant managers who began serving meals to fit low-calorie menus several years ago discovered that quite a few of these meals were being served to people who simply liked carrots, broccoli, and yes, even spinach. People wanted a good, balanced meal.

Perhaps we need a "truth in eating" law to accompany "truth in lending." A complete dinner" at a fried chicken franchise is not usually complete, nutritionally. There may be no source of vitamin A (usually a dark green or yellow vegetable or fruit) or no calcium (usually milk or cheese). You may be willing to pay more, but the restaurant may not offer these foods. If you want dessert and don't want the fats, sugar, and extra calories in the apple pie, there may not be fresh fruit available.

What can the public do now? How can the person who eats breakfast at the coffee shop, lunch from the cafeteria or expense-account restaurant, and dinner at the fast food franchise be assured of a balanced diet? Today it takes special nutrition knowledge and perserverance, but it is possible. For example, a person might choose a day's meal as follows. Size of servings, sauce, and sweets will have to be watched by those attempting to lose weight.

Coffeeshop breakfast: Orange juice, one scrambled egg, toast, coffee.

Restaurant lunch: Poached fillet of sole (sauce optional) crisp garnish, cooked carrots, rye roll, milk.

Franchise dinner: Sausage-cheese pizza, green salad, beverage, ice cream (optional) or fruit.

Hong Kong travel

HONG KONG (UPI) — The number of travelers entering or leaving Hong Kong during the first six months of 1974 rose by more than 200,000 or 4.58 per cent compared with the same period last year, says the Immigration Department.

The department also noted that although 4,863,783 persons traveled by land, sea and air the figure was much lower than the anticipated growth rate. The change undoubtedly reflects the effects of the fuel crisis, the general recession and the predicted cutback in tourism, the department added.

Park drowning at Hansen Dam

PACOIMA (UPI) —Rickey Dee Robbins, 10, drowned in Hansen Dam Park Monday, authorities reported today.

Investigators said the boy and his two cousins were outside the designated swimming area when Rickey began floundering in eight feet of water.

Fruited Tuna Salad takes off the heat

When the temperature climbs high on the thermometer and the humidity is termed by all as "certainly sticky," everyone looks for all things cool.

In our daily lives in summer, everything possible should be cool. Food, too, can be cooling—like a chilled salad that combines green grapes, mandarin oranges and pineapple chunks with tuna. When topped with Goldfish Crackers, this Fruited Tuna Salad is a lovely main dish that tastes and looks appealing to all ages.

If guests (or simply a too-hot family) are ready for a relaxing interlude and a cooling repast, this refreshing salad will be perfect despite the humidity.

Instead of too-heavy rolls on a too-hot day, the hostess serves additional Goldfish Crackers to be sprinkled on each salad serving. The Goldfish, as the name implies, are tiny fish-shaped crackers, flavored with Cheddar Cheese, Parmesan Cheese or lightly Salted. The latter are suggested for the already seasoned tuna salad.

FRUITED TUNA SALAD

2 cans (6½ ounces each) chunk-style tuna, drained
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped scallions
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups sliced celery
2 cups stemmed green grapes
2 cups fresh or canned pineapple chunks
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, drained
Boston lettuce leaves
1 package (6 ounces) Goldfish Crackers

In a bowl mix tuna, mayonnaise, scallions, lemon juice, celery, grapes, pineapple and orange. Chill. When ready to serve, line a salad bowl with lettuce leaves. Spoon in salad. Sprinkle with Goldfish Crackers. Sprinkle each serving with more Goldfish Crackers as salad is served. Makes 6 servings.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Safety Council says the 1973 accident death total in the United States was approximately 117,000, no change from 1972.

Disabling injuries numbered about 11.5 million, including 420,000 which resulted in some degree of permanent impairment.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by Office of Architecture and Construction, Department of General Services, Room 3016, 107 South Broadway, Los Angeles, California, until 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, October 9, 1974, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in Room 1101 at said address for:

AIR CONDITION WARDS, BUILDING MODIFICATION (SIXTEEN WARDS) AND DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM; AND FIRE SPRINKLER SYSTEMS, IMPROVEMENTS TO MEET ACCREDITATION STANDARDS (SIXTEEN WARDS) DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH PACIFIC STATE HOSPITAL, POMONA LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA (W.O. HPC 304 03; HPC 303 01) in accordance with plans and specifications therefor, and such addenda thereto as may be issued prior to bid opening date.

In general, this project comprises alterations and additions to 16 Ward Buildings, including constructing new Mechanical Rooms and furnishing and installing air conditioning equipment and fire sprinkler systems; and constructing an underground chilled water distribution system.

Construction includes concrete slabs and foundations, concrete piles in drilled holes, concrete block masonry, ribbed steel decking, structural and miscellaneous steel, built up roofing, clay tile roofing, sheet metal, metal doors and frames, acoustical tile, drywall, lath and plaster, sprayed on fireproofing and other related work.

Mechanical work includes multizone air conditioning units, return air fans, plenums, ducts, fire dampers, air supply and return registers, room thermostats and temperature controls, piping, valves, fittings and other miscellaneous work.

Electrical work includes lighting and wiring, panelboards, connections to air conditioning equipment and underground secondary distribution modifications.

The Contractors' State License Board has determined that contractors must be licensed in the following classification to bid on this project: B.

Bidders may see plans and specifications at area Builders' Exchange Offices and Contract Management Section, 1500 — 5th Street, Sacramento, and Office of Architecture and Construction, 107 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

Bidders can obtain plans and specifications, Proposal forms, and Bidder's Bond form by requesting them in writing from Contract Management Section (Post Office Box 1079, Sacramento, California 95805), or in person from Contract Management Section in Sacramento. Telephone (916) 322-2114.

A nonreturnable charge of $12.60, inclusive of sales tax (check made payable to Office of Architecture and Construction) will be made for each set of plans and specifications. Plans and specifications are not to be returned.

No bid will be considered unless it is made on a Proposal form furnished by Contract Management Section and is made in accordance with "Instructions to Bidders".

Each bidder must be prequalified under the State Contract Act.

Preference will be granted to bidders properly prequalified as "Small Business" in accordance with Section 1896 et. seq., Title 2, California Administrative Code.

Successful bidder shall furnish payment bond as required by law.

Department of General Services reserves right to reject any or all bids and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bids will be entertained on a combination unit price and lump sum basis as set forth in the Proposal.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the Department has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done, to be as listed in the Department of Transportation booklet entitled Equipment Rental Rates and General Prevailing Wage Rates, dated same as plans and specifications. Copies of this booklet are on file at 1500 — 5th Street, Sacramento, California, and are available to any interested party on request.

A sensous experience

Restaurants of the future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dining out in 1984 may be a cozy, sensuous experience Some new terms may also be invented to make the customer relax and give the waiter some status.

A patron in the eateries of the future will be known as a "host away from home" and "table counselors" will take the orders, predicts National Restaurant Association President Henry W. Bolling.

Bolling told delegates to the Western National Restaurant Convention Monday that current architectural trends are moving away from building private homes with separate dining rooms.

In the 10 ten years, he said, about one-half of all American meals will be eaten outside the home, compared with current Agriculture Department statistics showing that one-third of all meals are eaten out.

The trend toward "do-it-yourself" activities in restaurants will be spread from the currently popular self-service salad bar to "mix-your-own drinks," cook-your-own steaks" and "make-your-own pizza," Bolling said.

"In this environment, the restaurant will become a hospitality center.'

The restaurateur, who operates cafeterias in Chicago, pointed to a trend toward "sensuousness" as furthering the do-it-yourself trend.

"I am not suggesting that anyone start an X-rated restaurant," he said. "What is involved is that people are placing greater emphasis on the total sensory experience — touching, feeling and smelling."

Bolling predicted diners will be attracted to ethnic restaurants for their nights on the town.

"The change to be enjoyed from a visit to an ethic restaurant could be compared to the kind of change you enjoy with travel," he said.

Bolling expressed some fear about government encroachment on the restaurant business in the way nutritional labeling, possible national kitchen cleanliness standards, and "talk of licensing and certification of food service operators by the Food and Drug Administration."

Dodgers battle Giants

Sutton razor sharp

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — After playing in ultra-modern Riverfront and Atlanta stadiums, the Dodgers are back in California to meet the Giants in refurbished, but still rickety, Candlestick Park.

After beating the punchless Atlanta Braves, 1-0, Tuesday behind the four-hit pitching of Don Sutton (15-9), the Dodgers took the five-hour flight from Atlanta to San Francisco.

Andy Messersmith (16-6) faces John D'Aquisto (11-12) in tonight's opener against the Giants (7:30 KABC radio and Channel 11).

Manager Walter Alston is hedging somewhat on Thursday's pitcher. Doug • KTTV (11), 7:30 p.m.

Rau (13-7) is due and was the orginal nominee. But Alston now says it will be either Rau or Al Downing (4-6).

The Giants will counter with Jim Barr (12-8). D'Aquisto and Barr both hurled shutouts over Atlanta in their last appearances.

The Giants gave the Dodgers a big headache in the last series by winning two of three at Dodger Stadium. Barr was the victor over Messersmith, 5-3, and contributed a home run. Rookie John Montefusco topped Rau, 9-5. The Dodgers salvaged the final game, 6-3, in 11 innings with Charlie Hough getting the win.

For some reason each team has had better luck in the others park this year. The Giants have won only two of seven games at Candlestick. The Dodgers barely managed to edge their long-time foes 5-4 in the nine games at Dodger Stadium.

"We play well in Candlestick," admitted Steve Garvey. He added, "But the Giants always play good against us."

Garvey and Bill Buckner in particular are looking forward to the games with the Giants.

"I have always hit well against them," Garvey continued. "If I was ever traded to the Giants, my average would probably drop 20 points."

Tuesday night Garvey extended his hitting streak to nine games and now has hit in 14 of his last 15. The stocky first baseman lost possible hits in two other at-bats on good plays by Braves' Darrell Evans.

The Dodgers scored the only run of the game in the second inning on consecutive singles by Garvey, Willie Crawford and Ron Cey. It was Cey's 89th run batted in and Garvey's 86th run scored and 186th hit.

Sutton pitched a great game, scattering four singles while striking out seven and walking only one. "Little D" fanned pinch-hitter Henry Aaron for the last out of the game. It was the fourth time in the last five games that the Braves have gone without an earned run.

A happy Sutton told how he almost became a member of Charlie Finley's ballclub when the A's were in Kansas City.

"I was all set to sign, in fact had reached a verbal agreement with Whitey Herzog (currently an Angel coach) who was working for the A's then," Sutton related. Herzog called Finley and Finley asked me what my nickname was. I said I didn't have any other than Don.

"Finley said he just signed pitchers named Jumbo (Jim Nash), Catfish (Hunter) and Blue Moon (Odom)," Sutton continued. "He said he couldn't give me what I wanted if I couldn't come up with a name better than Don. So the deal fell through. Boy am I glad."

Buckner, sore ankle and all, probably saved the game for Sutton with a fine catch in the fifth inning.

With runners at first and third and two out, Rowland Office hit a shot into the left-center slot for what looked like a sure hit. Buckner raced over and gloved the ball with his back to the infield robbing Office of at least a double.

Buckner will get a chance to see his parents here in San Francisco. "Yeah, they come out to every game here," The Vallejo flash said. "It's the one good thing about playing at Candlestick."

Like most players, the Dodger leftfielder is not fond of the Giants' park. "I suppose it will be cold there, it usually is." Buckner sighed "Making it entirely closed in changed the wind currents, but it is still as tricky as ever. Instead of blowing toward rightfield, the wind now blows in circles."

Buckner has been playing with his right ankle tightly wrapped ever since running into the wall in Cincinnati while attempting a catch By the time the game ends, he is limping badly.

"I soak it in ice water after the game and use heat on it before a game," he said. "I can't puch off on it so I get a slow start running but once I get going, I'm okay."

DODGER DATA — If there is a tie for the Western Division pennant, the Dodgers will play it off at Dodger Stadium Thursday, Oct. 3, at 1 p.m. This was determined in a coin flip Tuesday between general managers Al Campanis of the Dodgers and Bob Howsam of the Reds, in a meeting presided over by N.L. president Chub Feeney.

The Dodgers have anounced that mail orders for the Western Division National League playoffs will be accepted. Games one and two will be played in the East. Games three, four and five will be played at Dodger stadium Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Oct. 8, 9 and 10.

The World Series, if the Dodgers get in it, will open at Dodger Stadium with games one and two slated for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 12 and 13. Games three, four and five with be in the A.L. champion's park, Oct. 15, 16 and 17 with games six and seven, if necessary, at Dodger Stadium Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20.

Attendance for Tuesday's games in Atlanta was 5,886 to bring the Braves season total to 951,237. They have four playing dates left to reach a million.

Outfielder Charlie Manual was purchased from Albuquerque Tuesday by the Dodgers. Manual hit. .329 with 30 homers and 102 RBIs.

Brock steals from 'The Godfather'

By United Press International

Lou Brock is the major leagues' new single-season stolen base record holder still regards the man whose mark he surpassed as "The Godfather" of the art of baseball thievery.

The 35-year old St. Louis Cardinal outfielder set the major league record Tuesday night when he stole bases No. 104 and 105 in an 8-2 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies. The 104th steal was the 739th of his career, surpassing the National League career mark of 738 held by Max Carey.

Brock also has a chance to top Ty Cobb's major league career total of 892 steals but he wasn't thinking of Cobb Tuesday night. He was thinking of Maury Wills, who set the previous single-season mark of 104 in 1962. Cobb's top season effort was 96 in 1915.

"I'm a good friend of Maury and often call him for advice," Brock said after the game. "What Maury did is history and what I did is news. Someday in the future what I did will be history and someone else might make the news.

"Maury is still the Godfather and one of the greatest base-runners I've ever seen."

Brock's steals were overcome by the power of Mike Schmidt, who drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles, and the Cardinal star conceded "it would have been 100 per cent better if he had won." The loss dropped the Cardinals 3 ½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates in the NL's Eastern race.

The Pirates walloped Chicago 12-4, Los Angeles shaded Atlanta 1-0, Cincinnati defeated San Diego 5-2, Montreal beat New York 6-4 and San Francisco nipped Houston 6-5 in other NL games.

American League results were New York 2 Boston 1, Cleveland 12 Detroit 6, Milwaukee 6 Baltimore 5, Minnesota 8 Chicago 7 and California 8 Kansas City 2.

Brock stole his 104th base in the first inning and No. 105 in the seventh. The crowd of 30,812 gave him an ovation after the record breaker and he was presented with both bases. Hall of Famer Cool Papa Bell took part in the 11-minute ceremonies alongside the Cardinal dugout during which Brock credited Ted Sizemore, Reggie Smith and Bake McBride and trainer Gene Gieselmann for their roles in his achievement.

Schmidt hit his 35th homer with one on in the first inning and snapped a 2-2 tie with a double in the third. He also doubled in a run during aa three-run fifth-inning outburst.

Pirates 12 Cubs 4

Richie Hebner had four straight hits for the second straight day and drove in three runs to lead a 20-hit Pittsburgh attack which included 18 hits in the first four innings. Ken Brett went the first six innings to win his 13th game for the Pirates. Rick Reuschel was the loser.

Reds 5 Padres 2

Pete Rose's two doubles and a single led a 12-hit Cincinnati attack which enabled Don Gullett to breeze to his 16th win. Gullett struck out 11 and didn't walk a batter. He was tagged for a homer by rookie Randy Elliott in the fifth and surrendered the Padres' other run in the ninth.

Expos 6 Mets 4

Willie Davis' two-run homer and Larry Lintz' three RBIs led the Expos over Tug McGraw and the Mets. Don Carrithers pitched seven innings for the Expos, raising his mark to 4-1 while the loss was McGraw's eighth against six wins.

Giants 6 Astros 5

Tito Fuentes' bases-filled single and Bobby Bonds' sacrifice fly drove in two runs in the top of the 11th and the Giants hung on for the victory despite a run by Houston in the bottom of the inning. Lee May, Cesar Cedeno and Milt May homered for Houston.

Yankees 2, Red Sox 1

Alex Johnson, who was just purchased from the Texas Rangers, already has earned his keep by belting a 400-foot homer in the 12th inning in only his second at bat as a Yankee to put the New Yorkers two games in the lead in the American League East. Sandy Alomar saved the game for the Yanks in the bottom of the 11th inning. With runners on first and second he made a diving stab of Cecil Cooper's sharp grounder, scrambled to his knees and flipped to first for the inning-ending out.

Brewers 6, Orioles 5

Sixto Lezcano, playing in his first major league game, singled home the winning run with one out in the last of the 10th to lift the Brewers over the Orioles. Lezcano, who had three hits, delivered his game-winner off reliever Grant Jackson after John Briggs had walked and moved to second on a sacrifice. Paul Blair homered for Baltimore.

Indians 12, Tigers 6

Oscar Gamble collected a single, double and his 18th homer to spark an 18-hit attack as the Indians hammered the Tigers and handed Mickey Lolich his 18th loss. Fritz Peterson benefitted from the lusty hitting to win his first game since Aug. 22. Marvin Lane and Reggie Sanders homered for Detroit.

Twins 8, White Sox 7

Larry Hisle singled home Rod Carew with one out in the last of the 15th to lead the Twins over the White Sox. Minnesota came from behind three times in extra innings to tie the score. Craig Kusick, Bobby Darwin and Danny Thompson all homered for the Twins while Brian Downing had a three-run homer for Chicago.

Fox, Poly to show title fight

The closed circuit telecast of the George Foreman vs. Muhammad Ali championship fight from Zaire on Tuesday, Sept. 24, will be shown at two valley locations — the Fox Theater in downtown Pomona and at Cal Poly's Kellogg Gym.

Tickets are on sale at the Fox Theater for $20 (preferred) and $15 (general). Information is available at the Theater's box office.

The Cal Poly, Pomona Associates, the university's booster club, announced it will be showing the fight in the university's gymnasium, which will accommodate 4,500 fans.

Tickets at Poly are also scaled at $20, $15 and at a special rate of $12.50 for area college, junior college and high school students.

The sports information director's office located in men's physisical education building has tickets on sale. Additional information of the Poly tickets is available by telephoning 598-4614.

Doors at both sites will open at 5:30 p.m. on the night of the fight.

Lahoud goes wild with bat in Angel rout

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Joe Lahoud wants to be part of the California Angels' rebuilding program next season and he's taking a positive approach to show Dick Williams.

Lahoud drove in five runs and had three hits in four trips Tuesday night in an 8-2 Angels' romp over the Kansas City Royals.

The Angels broke open a 2-2 tie with a five-run sixth inning as Lahoud tripled with the bases loaded.

"I have a lot more confidence in myself and I feel a lot more comfortable at the plate now," the California right fielder said. "Whitey Herzog (an Angel coach) has been a great help to me this year. He's made me a selective hitter."

Rookie southpaw Frank Tanana went seven innings and registered victory No. 11 against 17 defeats but he wasn't happy. Orlando Pena finished up.

"I didn't get ahead of the hitters and that's what you have to do," said Tanana, who gave up seven hits and one earned run. "My arm stiffened up from sitting a long time in the sixth inning, too."

The Angels collected 13 hits against four Kansas City pitchers with Dave Chalk, Orlando Ramirez and John Doherty each getting two of them.

Doherty started the Angel sixth with his second single and was sacrificed to second. After Morris Nettles walked, pinch hitter Winston Llenas was retired.

Rudy Meoli grounded to shortstop but Fred Patek's wild throw enabled the Angels to score and make it 3-2. Frank Robinson followed with a walk and then Lahoud delivered his triple. Ellie Rodriguez doubled to complete the scoring.

In the final game of their next-to-last homestand of their 14th big league season, the Angels send Nolan Ryan, 18-15, against Nelson Briles, 4-5, tonight.

Dodgers accept playoff orders

The Dodgers have announced that mail orders for the National League playoffs will now be accepted. Games one and two will be played at the home stadium of the Eastern Division champion on Oct. 5 and 6 with games three, four and five at Dodger Stadium if the Dodgers win the West on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (Oct. 8, 9 and 10) at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets, sold in three-game strips only, are priced at $21 for box seats and $9 for general admission. There is also an $1 charge for handling costs. Fans may purchase a maximum of four strips. Purchase of the tickets must be made by use of a bank cashier's check, certified check or money order. No personal checks will be accepted. The special mailing address is: L.A. Championship Series, P.O. Box 80199, Los Angeles 90080. Orders must be postmarked by Sept. 18.

MSAC coach isn't buying it

Owls 'plead doom' for grid clash

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

The 16th episode of the Mt. San Antonio College and Citrus College football rivalry goes on display Saturday night at Memorial Stadium in Walnut.

If it's anything like the last 15, MSAC will have plentty to cheer about.

"John Strycula (Citrus head coach) wants to point out that Citrus has only beaten MSAC once in 15 tries," explained the Owls' sports information director Jim Gulli Tuesday at the valley football luncheon in Pomona. That was the only message he had to relay to the other college grid coaches.

But Mountie coach Mal Eaton didn't leave the luncheon without adding a few words to that message.

"John always pleads doom," he stated, "Then he comes out and kicks your butt."

So . . . Citrus will be looking for No. 2 and MSAC for No. 15 when the two clash Saturday in the 1974 junior college grid opener.

The only time Citrus has ever beaten the Mounties in football came in 1971, the year Eaton took over as head coach of the Mountaineers. Since then it's been all MSAC.

So how does it shape up this year?

"Our defense is ahead of our offense right now," Eaton pointed out. "It's usually hard getting the offense started this early in the season. We do have somewhat of a veteran defense, and our offensive line is a little better than last year."

In continuing his analysis of his Mounties, Eaton stated, "Our big question mark is in our offensive backfield. We don't have any returnees there, and we just lost quarterback Steve Taylor for most of the season with a broken collarbone."

Taylor, who was battling with Jim Winklepeck and Kurt Porter for the team's No. 1 signal-calling spot, sustained his injury during a weekend scrimmage with Chaffey and El Camino.

"So the inexperience in the backfield will be out biggest weakness," the MSAC skipper added. "Our offense has got to be more intense, but I think it'll be a very close ball game against Citrus."

As for Citrus' outlook, Gulli (speaking in Strycula's behalf at the get-together) said, "Our offense looks good at this stage of the season. John's concerned about everybody staying healthy this season."

Strycula's son, Bill, will again pilot the Owls from his quarterback position, with Ray Prather and Ed White posted as the probable starters as running backs.

"We have three linebackers injured, so they won't play against MSAC and maybe not even Long Beach next week," Gulli added.

Other valley college games this Saturday has Cal Poly, fresh off a 13-12 victory over Fresno, hosting Southern Utah at 7:30 p.m. and Azusa Pacific entertaining the University of San Diego at 1:30 p.m.

QUOTING THE COACHES:

ANDY VINCI, Cal Poly—"We're in the same boat as we were last year, opening the season with a victory over a strong Fresno team. We're playing Southern Utah for the last time. They're not on our schedule for the next 10 years. They're (So. Utah) big and physical, so we're going to have to play four quarters. We really only played well for one half against Fresno.

They'll be stunting a lot on defense. If we can get (Jim) Zorn (Poly quarterback) to adjust to the multiple set offense, then we'll be in good shape."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific—"Our defense looked strong in our scrimmage against Redlands last weekend. San Diego is not the same team Andy (Vinci) coached last year, but they are quick and physical. They lost to Northridge last weekend, so they are beatable. We should have a very, very good game. We ARE having a problem filling the quarterback vacancy after we lost John Tully to graduation."

WALT AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer—"We're up to 36 players this year as compared to the 20-29 I had last year. I'll have to learn how to coach a team this big, I'm not used to coaching more than 20 players at one time. We have bigger and faster backs this year and our defensive secondary is much improved. The lack of depth in the lines is a hinderance. One thing is for sure, we're not going the Caltech route (de-emphasis of sports). We're fighting the de-emphasis of football, and the administration has been very helpful. Our quarterback Larry Cenotto is one of the best quarterbacks in the country for our division, bar none."

Birmingham's Spencer will seek revenge

By United Press International

Willie "Big Boy" Spencer plans to make his presence felt when the revenge-hungry Memphis Southmen take on the unbeaten Birmingham Americans tonight.

Not only does the Memphis running back want to help his World Football League teammates repay the 58-33 drubbing they got at Birmingham earlier this year, he also wants to show Birmingham Coach Jack Gotta a 20-year-old who didn't go to college can be good.

"I want to get back at him," said the 6-foot-4, 225-pound rookie, who has rushed for 374 yards and seven touchdowns. "I've got something to settle with him."

Spencer was 18 years old and just out of high school in Massillon, Ohio, when he tried out with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League. He was cut—and cut again last year when he tried a second time.

The Ottawa coach was Jack Gotta.

"I've got to show that anybody can play this game if they put their mind to it," Spencer said.

Spencer isn't alone in feeling he has something to prove. The Southmen are 8-2 and their only losses were to Birmingham and Philadelphia. Since they do not meet the Bell again this season, tonight is their only chance for revenge.

Birmingham will be favored but Memphis supporters think their team has three advantages—the home field, added incentive and more rest.

In other games tonight, Southern California is at Chicago, Detroit at Florida, The Hawaiians at Houston, Jacksonville at Philadelphia and New York at Portland.

Southern California is looking to build a solid lead in the Western Division against a Chicago team battling Memphis for second in the Central Division. Chicago is 8-3, a game behind Memphis.

Fog, light winds force Cup face-off to be postponed

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The second race of the America's Cup series was postponed today because of fog and light, almost non-existent winds on the 24.3-mile race course on Long Island Sound.

The fog was so bad that both U.S. defender Courageous, which won the opening contest Tuesday in the best-of-seven series, and Australian challenger Southern Cross were still at their Newport piers when the N.Y. Yacht Club Racing Committee announced the postponement.

There was no immediate indicatiion whether there would be a race tomorrow because each skipper has the right to request—within one hour of the postponement announcemnt —a lay-day to tune up his ship or make any necessary equipment and crew changes. Each boat is entitled to request two lay-days during the series.

The first race Tuesday was run in winds of nine knots and less—the kind of light air that Courageous likes — and she sailed to a 4-minute, 54 second victory over Southern Cross in this 22nd attempt in 123 years by a foreign nation to take the Cup from the United States.

At a news briefing after the finish of the opening race, Alan Bond, 36-year-old Australian business man who is backing Southern Cross to the tune of a reported $9 million, protested mildly against the American's starting tactics.

"We warned the starting skipper, Dennis Conner, that if he continued to yell and scream at the start, calling 'false luffs,' we will have no alternative but to protest and we will do so tomorrow," Bond said.

Ted Hood, skipper of Courageous who took over the Helm after Conner got the yacht away to a two-second advantage over Southern Cross, dismissed Bond's protest with little comment, terming the incident "an overlap" which occurs frequently in yachting contests and is in no way a rules violation.

Hood's sailing tactics Tuesday were superb. After Conner's splended start, Hood pushed Courageous to a 1:22 lead at the second mark and rounded the fifth and final mark with a 4:05 advantage. From there to the finish line, it was a walk for Courageous.

The initial race was run in light winds that ranged up to nine knots, and it was this kind of air in which Courageous excels.

The series start was viewed by thousands of persons assembled in spectator boats that crowded the perimeter of the course.

Simmons voted Player of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Catcher Ted Simmons, who hit .455 last week as the St. Louis Cardinals began making a drive in the National League East, Tuesday was named NL player of the week.

With Simmons leading the way, the Cardinals won five of six games as they continued their pursuit of the division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

During the week, Simmons went 10 for 22 with five runs batted in. Five of his hits were doubles.

Elgin Baylor to join Jazz

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Elgin Baylor, the high-scoring forward of the Los Angeles Lakers who once said he would never coach professional basketball, became an assistant coach of the New Orleans Jazz today.

Baylor told a news conference he had bypassed earlier coaching offers before accepting a position with the National Basketball Association's newest franchise.

"I was offered the Seattle job, a couple of ABA head coaching jobs and a few NBA jobs, but a lot has to do with the people involved," said Baylor.

"I am impressed with this outfit. There is no doubt we'll win more games than any other expansion team.

"I think this is my life—pro basketball. I just want to stay in it."

Denver fans okay bond

DENVER (UPI) — Voters responding to the pleas of the owners of the National Football League Denver Broncos Tuesday approved a $25 million general obligation bond to expand Mile High Stadium, the home of the Broncos, by a 50,972 to 48,448 margin.

The expansion will be completed in three phases over two years and will increase the stadium from its current 50,000 to nearly 75,000 seats. It will be paid for by a "seat tax," under which 40 cents will be added to the price of all tickets for city owned recreational facilities. The tax was to go into effect Jan. 1.

The stadium is also the home of the North American Soccer League Denver Dynamos and minor league Denver Bears.

U.S. cagers whip Soviets

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — David Thompson hit six of 10 second-half shots and finished with 30 points Tuesday night to lead a United States All Star team to an 82-72 victory over the visiting USSR All Stars.

The victory gave the U.S. a final 5-1 edge in the six-game series which began Sept. 3 in Los Angeles.

Thompson, North Carolina State's All-America, brought the crowd to its feet with three leaping dunk shots which helped the U.S. come from a 23-16 deficit to take a 29-23 lead with 6:10 left in the first half.

The U.S. led by eight at the half, 41-33, with Thompson pacing all scorers. Valery Miloserdov, the USSR's 6-1 play-making guard, had eight points in the half and finished with 10.

Former Wolv scratched

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ailing Joe Davis of Claremont High will be replaced by Mike Cordell as University of Southern California's starting strongside guard in its offensive line at Arkansas Saturday night.

Davis, a 6-3, 244-pound junior, has been suffering from a calf cramp this fall and is not in condition, coach John McKay said Tuesday. Davis practiced Tuesday for only the second time in two weeks.

Cordell will be shifted from weakside guard where he was a starter and will be replaced by reserve offensive tackle Bill Bain.

The No. 4-ranked Trojans worked out for one hour and 45 minutes Tuesday. They're two-touchdown favorites in their opener.

About Arkansas, McKay said: "I'm told they're going to run the Wishbone but I really don't know myself. Last year they said they were going to run the Split T and they came out in the Wishbone.

"If I were a betting man, I'd bet the Wishbone. But we're preparing for both.

Axe falls as clubs reduce rosters

By United Press International

The axe came down hard in the National Football League Tuesday and the deepest cuts may have been felt in New York and Chicago.

Tuesday afternoon was the deadline for clubs to reduce their rosters to the 47-player limit and since rosters were still bulging from the Players Association strike, nearly 200 players, many of them veterans, suddenly found themselves out of jobs.

In New York, new Coach Bill Arnsparger, a former assistant at Miami, has the task of rebuilding the Giants from their 2-11-1 disaster of last season. He started cleaning house Tuesday, dropping quarterback Randy Johnson, a sometimes starter last season, starting fullback Charlie Evans, return specialist Rocky Thompson, a No. 1 draft pick three years ago, veteran defensive end Dave Tipton and punter Tom Blanchard along with a group of rookies.

Johnson, probably the most effective quarterback in the Giant camp this summer, is playing out his option and is headed for The Hawaiians of the World Football League. Evans was the player representative during the strike and says that may have played a big part in his deletion.

The Giants also acquired quarterback Jim Del Gaizo from Green Bay for a draft choice.

And in Chicago, where Abe Gibron is faced with recovering from a 3-11 season, the Bears traded veteran offensive guard Glen Holloway to Cleveland for a draft choice and dropped veteran running back Clifford McClain and linebackers Chip Myrtle, Gail Clark and Dave Olerich. The Bears also obtained second-year wide receiver Bo Rather from Miami and dealt defensive tackle Tony McGee to New England for a draft pick.

In other squad cuts, Baltimore dropped reserve quarterback Tom Pierantozzi and Cincinnati sold wide receiver Tim George to Detroit and dropped a group of rookies that included Daryl White, former Nebraska star guard. Denver placed running back Bob Anderson and tackle Marv Montgomery on injured waivers and dropped wide receiver Al Barnes, who is headed for the WFL.

Green Bay acquired quarterback Dean Carlson from Kansas City to replace Del Gaizo and put center Ken Bowman, the player rep, on injured waivers and waived veteran defensive back Hise Austin.

Miami waived Ron Sellers, the injury-prone wide receiver, and traded Rather to Chicago and the New York Jets dropped veteran safety Chris Farasopoulos and punter Julian Fagan and placed wide receiver Margene Adkins on injured waivers.

St. Louis put running back Eddie Moss on injured waivers and dropped veteran safety Chuck Detweiler and San Francisco cut return specialist Cecil Turner, just obtained from Chicago, and traded running back Randy Jackson to Philadelphia for a draft choice.

Atlanta dropped running back Oscar Dragon while Kansas City lopped off quarterback Pete Beathard, who immediately signed with Portland of the WFL, center Mike Oriard, kicker George Jakowenko, veteran defensive linemen Carlton Oats and Pat Holmes and defensive back Larry Marshall.

Pittsburgh dropped quarterback Leo Gasienica and New Orleans cut wide receiver Fair Hooker, a recent acquisition from Cleveland, defensive back Hugo Hollas, wide receiver Doug Winslow and punter Steve O'Neal.

Knox sees rugged test in Denver

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams' coach Chuck Knox looks for a "knock-down, drag-

Cyclists will be going 'wrong way'

When Giacomo Agostini, Kenny Roberts, Gary Nixon and the rest of the world's great motorcycle racers compete in the October 6 Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics they will be facing a fast new truncated version of Ontario Motor Speedway's three-mile, long paved road ciruit.

Three corners have been loped off the old 21-turn track used for the three previous Champion races, shortening the lap distance to 2.9 miles. And, what's more, the Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics will be run in the opposite direction from past years.

The decision by Trippe, Cox Associates to switch the race from a clockwise to a counter-clockwise direction was vindicated during the September 1 California Grand Prix, when big formula cars held a successful race on the redesigned course.

With the change in direction, spectators in the OMS grandstands or the infield section adjacent to the first two corners, will now be provided a matchless view of fifty of the world's best motorcycle racers braking and coming down through the gears to heel their skittish two wheelers from 170 m.p.h. to approximately 30 m.p.h.

According to race promoter Bruce Cox, the track changes have been made to make the Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics even more exciting than past years. Cox also says that spectators are encouraged to spectate in the infield. This is another change. In past years, most spectators at the Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics were seated up in the main grandstands, missing dramatic close-up corner views of the racing. "We feel that the changes we've implemented will make an incredible star-studded race even more exciting," Cox concluded.

Three infield tunnels should make the Classics more visual than ever before, affording spectators excellent opportunities to move about the infield at will, providing inside and outside views of the various corners. To assist fans in getting about the infield, courtesy tram buses will be provided. Overnight camping, not permitted in the past, is another new feature of the weekend. A special infield area has been reserved for Saturday evening camper parking.

SHORT CHAW

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon's 12-year-old son Kelly, a ballboy for the Royals, is a veteran tobacco chewer just like his father.

Diamond Bar duo ready

RIVERSIDE — Whether you roar into the race action at Mickey Thompson's SCORE "AC-Delco World Championship" off-road race as a loner, or tear into it as a team, you'll face high-speed excitement at its best and Diamond Bar can boast a couple of guys ready ot beat the desert course at Riverside Raceway and grab a share of the $50,000 guaranteed purse.

Mechanic Dave Jamieson of Diamond Bar has been interested in dune buggies for the last six years but only got serious enough for competition for this year's Firecracker 250 where he brought in his '68 Ford Bronco to a high-placing third in his class. Twenty-one-year-old Jamieson built and financed his Bronco himself and keeps his machine alive with assistance in the pit from his father William Jamieson, Ford mechanic.

Sharing the challenge in class five will be local mechanic, Walt Messer (Diamond Bar) and co-driver, Barry Inman of Whittier. Walt's Baja Bug, sponsored by Fullerton Tire, has faced the desert terrain four other times. But, unlike his previous races, Walt's best fans, wife, Sue, and children, Donna, Scott, and Gary will be able to witness the near four-mile torturous event.

Thompson's "AC - Delco World Championships" brings all the rough-shod Baja-type racing within sight of Riverside's grandstands. This exciting innovation over gruelling, gullied terrain takes place Sept. 28-29 where spectators can view the largest field of racers in the history of closed course racing.

Entry information is available from SCORE International, Wilmington, California. Tickets are available at Riverside Raceway or through Ticketron outlets, overnight camping is offered free with a two-day ticket.

Top matadors on Tijuana card

TIJUANA — Two giants of bullfighting will vie for the honors next Sunday as the fiesta brava returns to the dowtown arena, El Toreo de Tijuana, for the last scheduled corrida of the season.

Manolo Martinez and Eloy Cavazos will each face three bulls of Jose Julian Llaguno beginning at 4 p.m.

This is the annual benefit to raise money for municipal improvements at Tijuana.

Southland racing

VALENCIA — A starting field of more than 400 riders, including many of the nation's top professionals who have just returned from an event held at Snake River, Idaho, are expected to see action in motocross racing programs for the motorcycles this weekend at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

On Friday night, beginning at 8, riders sanctioned by American Motorcross Enterprises of Hawthorne will slide onto the park's all-new International obstacle track, contesting final outcome of a 36-heat show. While on Sunday, starting at 9:30 a.m., a large turnout of racers is in the offing for a program that will be presented by the National Racing Assn. of Riverside on the complex's tight and twisty Shadow Glen circuit.

VALENCIA — Bob Schwartz of Los Angeles, who fell while holding a lead in the final lap of last week's handicap main event, will return to the firing line Saturday night during a 22-heat racing program for professional speedway riders on the one-sixth mile clay oval at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

GARDENA — The attempt by Rick Mears of Bakersfield to extend a victory streak in super sprint buggies and a torrid point battle in Baja sprint sedans share billing in the races on Ascot's closed off-road course this Saturday night.

The 23-year-old Mears tries for his fourth victory in his last four tries at Ascot after winning the 50-lap Great Western Grand Prix last month.

GARDENA — California Racing Association midget division shifts from the quarter-mile track to the half-mile at Ascot this Thursday night at the most favorable time for Ron Rea of Panorama City.

Known as the "California Cowboy" in CRA sprint-car circles Rea is currently the hottest item in the midget division. With his sprint-car experience in the half-mile, Rea should be formidable against the drivers more accustomed to smaller tracks.

IRWINDALE — Following a three year absence Winston West Grand National racing returns to Speedway 605 in Irwindale with the stars of NASCAR late model stock car racing thundering onto the paved half-mile oval this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

Heading the field of big time racing competitors is current championship point leader, Ray Elder, the Carutherz, California farm boy with his big 1973 "Olly" Dodge.

IRWINDALE — Bill Spencer, in his role of championship points leader of the NASCAR sportsman division, heads the field of entrants in this Friday night's stock car racing competition on the ultra-fast half-mile oval at Speedway 605 in Irwindale.

NASCAR sportsman and modified stock cars will roll into action at 7:30 p.m. with a ten event program topped off by 30 lap main events for both divisions.

IRVINE — A drag racing "doubleheader" features track operator Larry Huff in open Pro Stock competition Saturday evening at Orange County International Raceway. Excluding special match race engagements, the appearance will be Huff's first since acquiring the OCIR lease in June. His 1974 Dodge Dart Sport currently owns the national Pro Stock speed record of 155.79 miles per hour and appears headed for the American Hot Rod Association's $10,000 Grand American Series points title.

SAUGUS — Promoter and General Manager, Marshall Wilkings has scheduled a full 18-event program for Saugus race fans this Saturday night, with all three Divisions going for the last time in the 1974 O.R.A. season.

In the closest finish in the seventeen years at the famed Saugus 1-3 mile oval, three Sportsman drivers are in a neck to neck battle for the Championship. Jim Thirkettle of Panorama City is in front by only five points with Mike Fortier of Van Nuys second and Dan Press of Arleta third in a race that will go down to the last night's program, a 150 lapper on Sept. 28th.

CORONA — One of the largest fields of Street Stock cars will be on hand Saturday night as Corona Raceway once again presents one of the newest ideas in auto racing along with the figure eight and oval stock cars beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Over 40 street stockers are expected Saturday night with three-time main event winner Ken Hayes of Pomona leading the contenders. The street stocks have really blossomed into an exciting racing program with many of the figure eight and oval drivers also competing in the street stockers. Along with Hayes, other top entries include Jim Ray, Willie Borst, Bob Church, Jim Tomlin, Ross Hallock, Bill Keith, and USRC midget driver, Frank Ettinger.

Coming up in the month of September, a Challenge Cup Series between Corona Raceway and South Bay Speedway in San Diego will begin with drivers from San Diego competing at Corona Raceway and the Corona racers moving to South Bay Speedway to compete.

Costello signs multiyear contract with Bucks

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Bucks' Coach Larry Costello has signed a multiyear contract to continue as head coach of the National Basketball Association club, the Bucks announced Tuesday.

Costello, 43, will be in his seventh season of coaching the Bucks when the team opens rookie and free agent camp next week. He has been with the Bucks since the team was formed in the 1968 expansion.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Costello said he was "very happy to remain in Milwaukee and continue coaching."

Last season the Bucks fell one game short of winning the NBA title when they were defeated in the seventh game of the championship series by the Boston Celtics.

The Bucks won the NBA title in 1970-71. Costello's teams have played in the post-season playoffs for the last five years, capturing four consecutive Midwest Division titles and two Western Conference championships in addition to the NBA title.

Costello's six-year regular season mark is 331-161 and his .673 winning percentage is the best in league history.

COED CAPER—Tommy Breslin arrives a little early for a sorority house luncheon in the musical, "Good News," now playing at the Shubert Theater in Los Angeles. The nostalgic comedy of the '30s stars Alice Faye, John Payne and Stubby Kaye. The score includes such oldies but goodies as "The Best Things in Life Are Free," "Button Up Your Overcoat," "You're the Cream in My Coffee" and "Lucky in Love."

Jazz concert

The second annual "A Night in New Orleans" program will be held at the Wilshire Ebell Theater, Los Angeles, at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 21.

Stars of the show will be jazz clarinetist Barney Bigard, who played for many yearswith Duke Ellington and Louis Armstrong, trumpeter Wingy Manone and bass player Edward Garland, billed, at 90, as "the world's oldest jazzman."

Traditional New Orleans music will be performed by the Legends of Jazz, the New Orleans Ragtime Society Orchestra, the Louisiana Shakers Band and the Eagle Brass Band of New Orleans.

Benny to perform on Sinatra concert

Jack Benny will join Frank Sinatra, Cary Grant and Gene Kelly for the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center Building Fund benefit, "Sinatra in Concert with His Friends," Sept. 27 at the Universal Amphitheater.

Besides a comedy monologue, Benny will also perform a violin solo for the Universal Studios concert.

Mrs. Edie Wasserman is chairman of the concert committee for Cedars-Sinai. The event is expected to raise $2.5 million.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By GENE NEIGHBORS

Hi Neighbors,

Congratulations are in order for Joe & Teresa Hurton who celebrated their 23rd anniversary on Monday, Sept. 2nd. Joe is the congenial manager of the Upland Betsy Ross.

Speaking of Upland, that Betsy Ross has really been having the celebrations. On August 27th, Roslynn Tocco celebrated her eleventh birthday with Kay Kline, Jill Scruggs, Debbie Runnells, Tricia Runnells, Laura Van Ornam & Kevin Seay.

Emily Parga was in to announce that she is a new grandmother. Grandson Frank Edward Johnson III, was born Aug. 27th. The proud parents are Frank & Emily Johnson.

Also, Kimberly Henderson was in celebrating her twelfth birthday on Tues. Sept. 3rd. A happy group of 12 helped her fete the occasion.

Been a little warm, huh? Drop by one of our stores and enjoy our Fabulous Ice Cream. Remember it's made fresh daily in our Pomona plant. And DON'T FORGET to take some home with you. By the way, you'll be glad to know that the Pomona & Claremont Schools will be serving Betsy Ross Ice Cream this year.

If you happened by the Betsy Ross in Claremont Sat. A.M. around 7 A.M. and saw that gang on bicycles waiting to get in for breakfast I can tell you they are big eaters. They are members of the DOWNHILLERS BICYCLE GROUP. After the breakfast they toured the Claremont Colleges all morning and then back to Betsy Ross for lunch. Helping Bob Bonar celebrate his birthday on the ride was his wife Jean and members Bob & Sally Nielson, Steve & Joan Vroom, Bob Vroom, Diane Martineau, Sue Campbell & Lavone Robertson.

'Great Spokane Flood'

Greatest deluge on earth documented by evidence

COULEE CITY, Wash. (UPI) — Fragments of geological evidence gathered over a period of more than 50 years today support the concept of a former University of Chicago geologist who in 1923 described the greatest documented deluge on earth.

Known as the "Great Spokane Flood," it took place 18,000 to 20,000 years ago, leaving its marks along a course of more than 550 miles —from western Montana to the Pacific Ocean. Evidence of the magnitude of the deluge is documented in rimrock ridges and scoured coulees of a 15,000-square-mile area encompassed by the Columbia, Snake and Spokane rivers.

Half a century ago, J. Harlen Bretz dubbed this starkly scenic terrain the "channeled scablands" and proposed the idea that erosional features of the land were the result of a gigantic flood. At that time Bretz' theory sparked lively controversy because it conflicted with the general geological opinion that such massive changes could only have occurred by eons of erosion.

Theory Accepted

But Bretz, now in his 90s, has lived to see his theory gain almost universal acceptance among his fellow geologists who agree the scablands were carved by a flood of unprecedented proportions during the Great Ice Age.

The evidence is etched into the black basalt rock that dominates the terrain. This rock, the "floor" of the scablands, is a dense crystalline lava that covers more than 100,000 square miles of parts of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The scablands are confined to a saucer-shaped portion of that territory.

The U.S. Geological Survey sets the scene in a 25-page, handsomely illustrated pamphlet recently published by the Interior Department.

Prior to the ice age, layer after layer of molten rock flowing from wide, long fissures poured over this area. Much of this lava evolved into loess or windblown silt, the soil that today makes the Palouse country the richest wheat-growing region in the world.

"Thus, before the onset of the Great Flood," explains the USGS, "the geologic setting of the scabland region consisted of a thick, tilted saucer of basalt, in places warned into ridges and completely overlain by a frosting of loess."

Setting for catastrophe

The USGS contends the view in any direction was that of "peaceful" rolling grassland specked with roaming herds of antelope, buffalo and camel with the distant mountains of the Cascades and Rockies forming hazy blue backdrops to the west and east. This tranquil scene was the setting for a catastrophe.

As time went by, a great ice sheet crept down from the north. It plugged the Columbia near where Grand Coulee Dam now stands and forced this mighty stream to change its course through what is known now as the "Coulee Monocline." Another finger of ice dammed the Spokane River, creating glacial Lake Spokane, the surface of which reached an elevation of 2,300 feet. Still another icy finger —the Purcell Lobe —plugged the Clark Fork River valley like a giant cork and formed glacial Lake Missoula.

It was Lake Missoula that spawned the deluge. At its highest level, the lake covered an area of about 3,000 square miles and contained an estimated 500 cubic miles of water — half the volume of present day Lake Michigan. Its surface stood 4,150 feet above sea level, giving the lake a depth of 2,000 feet at the ice dam —more than twice the depth of Lake Superior.

Dam collapses

When the water level reached the lip of the ice dam, the overflow knifed rapidly into the plug and before long —whoosh! The dam collapsed and the lake, draining at the rate of 9.5 cubic miles an hour, was emptied in a little more than two days. The velocity of the current through Clark Fork Canyon has been calculated to have reached 45 miles an hour and the rate of flow —386 million cubic feet per second — about 10 times that of all the rivers of the world combined. Compare this with the Amazon's current rate of 6 million cubic feet per second, or the Columbia's 355,000 cubic feet per second.

Through the Spokane Valley the water raced, fanning out into three giant rivers over the lava field. The westernmost of the three carved a 50-mile-long gash 900 feet deep known today as Grand Coulee. The easternmost surge coursed through the Cheney-Palouse tract. The middle river carved Crab Creek Channel and its tributaries.

The swift waters scoured the lava plain, spewing debris along the way and washing the rich topsoil downstream to become 200 centuries later the fabulous larder weknown today as the Columbia Basin irrigation project.

As the waters rushed up against the Horse Heaven Hills along the south rim of the tilted saucer, they found only one outlet: a narrow squeezeway called Wallulu Gap, 25 miles west of Walla Walla.

Even though the water flowed through the gap at the rate of about 40 cubic miles a day, a huge lake filled the Paso Basin behind the pass. In two or three weeks, however, most of the water had drained out the gap and rushed seaward through the Columbia River gorge.

No one knows for sure whether man was around in those days to witness the deluge. The earliest evidence of humans in these parts was unearthed at the Marmes rock shelter, 8 miles northeast of Walla Walla, and it was about 10,13[illegible] years old.

Ironically, the Marmes man site, too, became the victim of a flood, caused when water was impounded recently behind Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River.

Minister's restraint brings back lost bells

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UPI)—When a thief stole a $1,500 set of children's choir handbells from Grace United Methodist Church, the Rev. Ron Ritchie told his congregation there might be a temptation to wish the thief would "drop dead."

"Instead, let's pray for him," the minister said.

Shortly after the services, the pastor received a telephone call. The thief said he was calling to return the bells.

Ricthie said Monday the repentant thief returned the handbells after his wife read about a year-long effort by the Sunday school children to raise the money to buy the 24 English bells for its Christmas program. She talked him into taking them back.

"The fellow said he really felt bad about taking the bells from the children," Ritchie said.

He said the thief, a young father of two children, called him shortly after Sunday services, and the pair met to talk about the bells, stolen Thursday.

Pomona girl married at garden ceremony

MRS. FRANK PASMORE

At a garden ceremony at the First Assembly of God Church in Pomona, Miss Connie Rae Sellers became the bride of Frank Pasmore of San Jose.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. George Crites, minister of the Christian Chapel in Walnut.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sellers, Montclair. Mr. Pasmore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pasmore of Lancaster.

The bride's gown of satin-faced organza was styled with yoke, sleeves and wide, ruffled hemline of Nottingham-type nylon lace accented with lace motifs and simulated pearls. It also had a chapel-length train. A matching lace and pearl headpiece held the elbow-length veil.

Miss Sellers, who was given in marriage by her father, carried a bouquet of white roses, yellow pompon daisies and stephanotis.

Miss Cynthia Dorsch was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Karen Wood of Pomona, Mrs. Peni Norris of Walnut and Miss Paula Pasmore of Lancaster, sister of the groom. Esperanza Banuelos of La Puente was flower girl.

Mr. Pasmore chose as his attendants Timothy Bowman of San Jose, best man, and Randy Baker and Danny Smith of Lancaster and Roger Sellers of Montclair brother of the bride, ushers.

The reception after the ceremony also was held at the church. Rhonda Miller and Tammi McGinnity were in charge of the guest book.

After a trip to the World's Fair in Spokane, Wash., the couple will be at home in San Jose.

Autumn hues

The full complement of autumn hues—golds, reds, purples, copper and burnished greens—are adding a regal touch to florists' shops this month, reports the Society of American Florists. Field-grown flowers in plentiful supply in September include straw flowers, Marguerite daisies, asters, gypsophila, and statice. Potted plants in abundance include mums, gloxinia and African violets.

Couple recites vows in Upland

The Chapel in the Wildwood in Upland was the setting for the double-ring rites which united Miss Terisa Gallup and Ray Giammattei of Montclair in marriage.

The evening ceremony was read by the Rev. William Schellenberger. The bride is the daughter of the Wayne Gallups of Montclair.

For her wedding the bride wore a full-length white lace gown and a headpiece of pink and lavender baby's breath. She carried pink and lavender mums with baby's breath and was given in marriage by her father.

Miss William Shacklett was matron of honor and Mrs. Charles Gessford and Mrs. Wayne Hinson, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Ronny Hinson, newphew of the bride, was ring bearer and best man was Angelo Giammattei.

Ushers for the son of Mrs. Jenny Giammattei of West Haven, Conn., were Richard Jensen and Charles Gessford.

After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left on a trip to Connecticut and will reside later in Montclair.

DENISE LOWREY

Couple's betrothal announced

Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Lowrey of Chino announce the engagement of their daughter, Denise Camille, and Jack H. Devers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Devers of Diamond Bar.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Chino High School and a student at Chaffey College. She is past honored queen of Bethel 191, International Order of Job's Daughters, and past DeMolay Sweetheart of Chino Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

Miss Lowrey is employed by Del Taco in Chino.

Mr. Devers is a graduate of Ganesha High School and a sophomore at La Verne College majoring in business administration. He is past master councilor of Pomona Chapter, Order of DeMolay and is president of Citrus DeMolay League. He is employed by the Monte Vista County Water District.

The couple plan to be wed next summer.

Can't be cut

Tempered glass, used in many household applications such as storm windows and storm doors, cannot be cut.

Lowly lobster

Only 50 years ago, lobster was held in such low esteem gastronomically that Downeast farmers in Maine spread the creatures over their fields as fertilizer.

Miss Kelley will marry Mr. Tilson

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Kelley of Hacienda Heights of the engagement of their daughter, Karen Ann, Pomona, to Thomas E. Tilson of Pomona, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Shulters, Forest Grove, Ore.

Miss Kelley graduated from Cal Poly Pomona where she majored in physical education. This is her second year as a physical education instructor at Rowland High School, Rowland Heights. She is girls' tennis coach and Pep adviser.

Mr. Tilson is majoring in physical education at Cal Poly and coaches soccer at Polytechnic High School, Riverside.

DEBBIE ANDERSON

February nuptials planned

A February wedding is being planned by Miss Debbie Elizabeth Anderson and David Charles de los Cobos.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Anderson of La Verne. She graduated from Bonita High School and is employed by Pomona Medical Group Pharmacy.

The groom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Octavia Jesus de los Cobos of La Verne. Also a Bonita graduate, he is employed by Potlatch Paper Company.

Tau Gamma Kappa Sorority members and guests will attend a cook-out Thursday at Miller Brewing Company.

A social hour at 7 p.m. will precede the 8 p.m. dinner.

JCPenney Passenger Tire Guarantee: Road Hazard and Workmanship Guarantee. Our Passenger Tires are guaranteed against failures caused by road hazard and defects in material or workmanship for the life of the original tread until worn to the wear indicators which appear when 2/32" of tread remain. If a tire fails before 10% of the original tread is used, we will replace the tire at no charge.

How adjustment is Made: In return for the tire, JCPenney will, at our option, repair or replace it charging only for the proportion of the current selling price plus Federal Excise Tax that represents tread used.

Wear-Out guarantee: Our Passenger Tires are guaranteed against wear-out for the number of months specified. If the tires wear down to the wear indicators, which appear when 2/32" of tread remain, we will make an adjustment. Wear-out caused by misalignment is excluded.

How Adjustment For Wear-Out Is Made: In return for the tire, JCPenney will provide a new one charging Federal Excise Tax plus the then current selling price less the following allowance.

MONTHLY GUARANTEE PERIOD	ALLOWANCE
18 months	10%
19 to 26 months	15%
27 to 35 months	20%
36 to 39 months	25%
40 and over	30%

This guarantee applies to tires used on private passenger cars and other non-commercial vehicles only.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge.
